CHINA SEA—NATUNA ISLAND.

Reefs and wrecks near Pulo Laut.

NOTICE to Mariners No. 306 of 1893 issued by the British Admiralty is republished :—

The following information concerning certain reefs and wrecks near Pulo Laut, or North Natuna island, has been received from H.M.S. Archer, dated 3rd May 1893 :—

1. Reefs which usually break at half tide, and which dry in places at low water spring tides, fringe the south-east coast of Pulo Laut for a distance of about 4 miles. The soundings for about one mile south-east of the outer edge of the reefs are 8 to 13 fathoms over uneven ground, thence depths of 18 to 20 fathoms, sand and coral bottom, were obtained till nearing Batu Penuh.

2. The wreck of the Swedish barque Doris lies on the abovementioned reef in about one foot at low water, with the east extreme of Sto Kong islet bearing N. $\frac{1}{8}$ E., and the south-east extreme of Pulo Laut W. by N., distant about $3\frac{1}{4}$ miles. Approximate position, lat. 4° 41′ N., long. 108° 2′ E.

3. Batu Penuh, shown with $5\frac{3}{4}$ fathoms water on it, is an extensive shoal, composed of coral and white sand. A depth of $3\frac{3}{4}$ fathoms (at about low water) were obtained with the south-east extreme of Pulo Laut bearing W.N.W., distant $8\frac{3}{4}$ miles. Approximate position lat. 4° 38½′ N., long. 108° 6½′ E. Belknap rock, on which the American ship, Robert L. Belknap, was wrecked, forms a part of the abovementioned shoal. (See Notice to Mariners, No. 230 of 1893.)

4. The cylinders of a steamer with two piston rods on Gloria shoal uncover at low water, and resemble a rock awash.

Approximate position, lat. 4° 36′ N., long. 107° 59′ E.

CAUTION.—The waters surrounding this group are most imperfectly known.

WORKING OF THE FIRE BRIGADE IN THE TOWN AND SUBURBS OF CALCUTTA AND IN THE MUNICIPALITY OF HOWRAH DURING THE YEAR 1892-93.

THE following report is published for general information.

J. A. BOURDILLON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 5318, dated Calcutta, the 14th July 1893.

From—SIR JOHN LAMBERT, K.C.I.E., Commissioner of Police,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit, for the information of Government, a report on the working of the fire-brigade in the town and suburbs of Calcutta and in the Municipality of Howrah for the year 1892-93.

2. During the year 23 fires occurred. The brigade was in attendance at 20 of these fires. Of the remaining 3, 1 was extinguished by the local police and 2 by the people of the locality.

3. The estimated value of property destroyed was Rs. 1,42,529. At two busti fires in the suburbs three persons lost their lives.

4. No fire was reported to have occured in any building licensed under Act IV of 1883.

5. The following is a brief notice of the three most serious fires :—

I.—On January, the 11th, at 3-45 P.M., a fire broke out on the steamer Mirzapore and flat No. 10 in moorings off Nimtolla Ghât The engines Percy and Bengal assisted the Port Commissioners' floating engine, and the fire was extinguished by 8 P.M. The loss of cargo consisting of jute and betel-nuts was valued at Rs. 9,500. The damage done to the vessels was estimated at Rs. 1,00,000.

II.—On May, the 20th, a large busti fire broke out in Tollygunge and lasted from 2-20 P.M. till midnight. Two hundred and fifty huts, together with household property, valued at Rs. 20,040, were destroyed. There was a strong wind blowing at the time, which caused the fire to spread rapidly. The brigade arrived at the spot with engine Gunga at 3-30 P.M., but could not work, as there were no tanks within reach of the fire. Eventually a road was cut from the foot of Tollygung bridge to Tolly's Nullah, a distance of about 50 yards, and the engine was brought into play at 4 P.M.

III.—On December, 27th, the cargo of the jute-laden ship Dumbarton Rock caught fire in the river while she was putting to sea. The ship was brought back to Matiabrooj, and four men of the brigade were sent on board to render assistance. The fire was caused by the 2nd officer having accidentally dropped a lantern in the hold, and the cargo was partially destroyed. The extent of damage was not ascertained.

6. During the year there were five prosecutions under the Explosives Act IV of 1884—two in the town and three in the suburbs. Convictions were obtained in all five cases.

7. A memorandum of the fires which occurred and a statement showing receipts and expenditure on behalf of the brigade are enclosed.

No. 154, dated Manicktollah, the 1st July 1893.

From—G. C. RAY, Esq., Vice-Chairman, Maniktola Municipality,

To—The Magistrate of the 24-Parganas.

WITH reference to your reminder B, dated the 27th June 1893, I have the honour to submit the following report on the working of the jute warehouses within this municipality and Fire-Brigade Act IV of 1883 for the year 1892-93.

2. There were eight jute warehouses against six of the previous year, and the license fees received from them under the Act amounted to Rs. 644, against Rs. 784-8 of the preceding year. The decrease in the receipt is due partly to the fact that the Soora Jute Mill Company paid their license fees of Rs. 120 for the year under report during the year 1891-92 (i.e.), on the 28th March 1891. Most of the godowns for the storage of jute are pucca, and are situated on the eastern or the left bank of the Circular Canal, and possess the advantage of importing and exporting jute through the canal which communicates with the eastern districts on one side and the Calcutta port on the other. It has been roughly estimated that about 4 lakhs of maunds of jute were stored during the year; the quantity imported was less than in the previous year. There was one jute rope manufactory within the municipality and a jute mill at Soora, the proprietor of which is a Marwaree gentleman.

3. Rupees 682-9-6 were paid to the Commissioner of Police on account of the maintenance of the fire-brigade. There were no fires this year within the limits of this Municipality.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inches of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 8th August 1893.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 5TH OF AUGUST 1893.

THOUGH the principal feature in the weather of the early part of the week was one of the small depressions which form in the north-west angle of the Bay at this season of the year, still the changes in the meteorological elements were unusually small, and the rainfall for the week is below the average in all districts. When the weather of the past week is compared with what obtained in the latter half of June and the early part of July, one important difference appears. The rainfall, though not heavy, has been more uniformly distributed, and the electrical disturbances which caused the unusually heavy local falls of those weeks either no longer occur, or their effect in causing precipitation of rain is to a large extent modified.

On the first day of the week the low pressure area began to form off the south Orissa coast, and north-westerly winds prevailed in Orissa, Chota Nagpur, and part of South-West Bengal. The shallow diffused low pressure which then covered the north of the Bay slowly drifted towards the west without much increase of intensity, causing easterly winds in all districts, except South-West Bengal and Orissa, where directions were more northerly. General light rain occurred in all districts during these days, the falls being somewhat more scattered in part of East Bengal, while in North Bengal they were heavier than at any other time during the week. Temperature was slightly above the normal. While the depression continued its slow westerly or north-westerly motion, these conditions prevailed over the province, but over the Bay owing to the steeper gradients winds became stronger and the sea continued rough till the end of the week. On 2nd August pressure began to recover very slowly and continued briskly on the 3rd, by which time the pressure distribution was practically normal. The wind circulation was then becoming more normal, and rainfall would have continued probably over the whole province but for a brisk fall of pressure occurring in Assam and North Bengal at the same time as a brisk rise in Orissa and the Sircars. These changes leading to a depression along the foot of the hills caused a westerly wind to blow over the whole province, and as this wind was comparatively dry, rainfall almost ceased, especially in the southern and western districts.

Pressure.—During the first-half of the week slow downward changes continued, but defect was never greater than ·1 inch. As the depression moved away the recovery was also slow. The means for the week are below the normal by small amounts at all stations.

Temperature.—At the beginning of the week there was slightly excessive temperature in Lower Bengal, but during the cloudy weather which accompanied the shallow depression, the day temperatures fell and the air remained cooler till the end of the week, when owing to the westerly wind and comparatively clear skies it again began to rise. The difference from the normal was never very large. The means for the week are below the normal by less than half a degree except in Assam where defect is 1°·4.

Rainfall.—Light general rain fell over the greater part of the province except on the last two days in the south-western districts and on the last day in all districts. Though the rainfall was almost continuous from day to day, the total fall has not been large, and the means for the large divisions are all below the normal. Defect in North Bengal is 1·64 inches, in East Bengal 1·43 inches, and in South Bihar 1·35 inches. In Orissa and North Bihar the difference is only a quarter of an inch, and in South-West Bengal and Chota Nagpur between half an inch and an inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 5th of August 1893:—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·6° higher; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 3rd August, 1893:

NO. 10 OF 1893.

A Bill to amend the Indian Ports Act, 1889.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Ports Act, 1889; It is hereby enacted as follows:

Amendment of first schedule to Act X, 1889, as regards Balasore Ports.

1. For the word "Ditto," where it occurs against "Balasore Ports" in the fourth column of Part I (Bengal) of the first schedule to the Act aforesaid, the following shall be substituted, namely—

"Whenever the vessel enters any one of the ports, except in the case of mail-steamers and coasting-vessels, which shall not be chargeable more than once in thirty days."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THIS Bill has been rendered necessary by the recurring deficit in the funds of the Balasore Ports. Even with the increased dues which are proposed, the port-funds will still be in considerable deficit, which will have to be borne by provincial revenues.

The 27th July, 1893.

D. BARBOUR.

S. HARVEY JAMES,
Secretary to the Government of India.

Double flashing light and fog guns on Wag lan islet.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 108, dated 1st May 1893, issued by this office, the British Admiralty has given further notice, that on 9th May 1893, a light was exhibited from the light-house recently erected on Wag lan islet, Putoy group, western side of approach to Hongkong by the Tathong channel:—

Wag lan islet light is a double flashing white light (dioptric of the first order), showing flashes at intervals of half a minute. It is elevated 225 feet above the sea, and should be visible in clear weather, where not obscured by the land, from a distance of about 21 miles.

For the present the light will only show with about one-third of its maximum intensity towards the land, between the bearings of N. by E. through east, and S.E. by S.

The light-house, situated on the summit of the islet is 52 feet high, constructed of iron, and cylindrical in shape. The lower half is painted white, the upper half red, the lantern and keepers' dwellings white.

Approximate position, lat. 22° 11¼′ N., long. 114° 1¼′ E.

Also, that from the establishment of Wag lan islet light, the keepers, on hearing a bell, horn, steam whistle, or other sound indicating the proximity of a vessel, will fire two guns with an interval of fifteen seconds between them, and if the vessel's fog signal—showing that she is under way—continues to be heard, the guns are repeated after an interval of twelve minutes.

SURVEY AND RECORD OF RIGHTS IN BIHAR.

THE following papers relating to the survey and record of rights in Bihar are published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. A. BOURDILLON,

Offg. Secretary.

Dated Calcutta, the 15th August 1893.

From—J. A. BOURDILLON, Esq., Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Revenue Dept.,
To—The Secretary to the Board of Revenue.

I AM directed by the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor to acknowledge the receipt of the Hon'ble Mr. Stevens' letter No. 826A., dated 14th August 1893, with its enclosure. Mr. Stevens' letter and the Minutes of Proceedings give a clear account of the deliberations of the Conference held with the representatives of the zamindars and indigo-planters of Bihar on the subject of the cadastral survey and maintenance of the record of rights in North Bihar, and of the results of that Conference. Briefly stated, the results are that the influential and representative gentlemen who attended the Conference, while reaffirming their opposition to the survey and maintenance of the record altogether, but regarding the contingency that such opposition might prove fruitless, have admitted their preference for a system of maintenance through kanungos; that is, in the lines of the scheme proposed for criticism by His Honour the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor. This preference implies the rejection of the system of maintenance through village patwaris. The expression of this preference has been accepted by His Honour as decisive between the several schemes of maintenance, and orders will be at once issued to suspend the registration of patwaris under Regulation XII, 1817, or their utilization for survey purposes. The Lieutenant-Governor understands that this decision, which has already been communicated to the zamindars and indigo-planters, has afforded them gratification.

The results of the Conference are satisfactory to the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor as clearly defining the situation, enabling Government to act with greater freedom and effect, and leading to the immediate removal of all these difficulties and uncertainties as to the agency by which the survey should be made and the record subsequently maintained, which had been gathering round the operations in North Bihar. These operations will now be prosecuted with vigour to a well-defined end by officers under the complete control of the Government alone, and subject to the checks and guarantees for accuracy of work, which have been sanctioned by the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor at his interviews with the Hon'ble Mr. Stevens and the Settlement Officers, and Messrs. Carey and Craddock of the Central Provinces Commission.

Measures will also be taken now to procure the necessary legal sanction to the creation of a land record agency on the lines indicated in the draft scheme and Bill which were laid before the Conference.

Sir Antony MacDonnell desires me in conclusion to convey his thanks to the Hon'ble Mr. Stevens for the judicious and effective way in which the proceedings were conducted by him. His Honour fully endorses the praise given by Mr. Stevens to the gentlemen, official and non-official, who attended the Conference. In his reply to the Tirhoot Landholders' address on the 7th instant, at Muzaffarpur, Sir Antony MacDonnell acknowledged the practical and helpful manner in which, always on the assumption that the record was to be maintained, the zamindars had co-operated with the officers of Government during the discussions and the assistance they promised the Survey Department in the shape of unskilled labour free of charge.

No. 826A, dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1893.

From—The Hon'ble C. C. Stevens, Senior Member of the Board of Revenue,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

The Hon'ble C. C. Stevens.

I have the honour to make the following report on the Conferences which, under the instructions of the Lieutenant-Governor, I held at Muzaffarpur on the 3rd and 5th instant, with the representatives of the zamindars and indigo-planters of North Bihar, on the subject of the Bihar survey and of the future maintenance of the record of rights.

2. Before these Conferences I informally met the Government officers employed in the tracts immediately concerned. The object of this meeting was merely to obtain such general information relating to the facts and to the wishes of those affected by the survey as the local officers could give and was not already known. No proceedings were recorded.

3. I submit full reports of the Conferences, but it is desirable that I should lay before Government a brief summary of what was said and done, and should state the points which appeared to me to have been made clear.

4. I was assisted by the Hon'ble H. H. Risley, C.I.E., Secretary to Government in the Revenue Department, and by Mr. M. Finucane Officiating Secretary to the Board of Revenue and permanent Director of Land Records and Agriculture, while Mr. Lyon Settlement Officer of Muzaffarpur acted as Secretary. To all these gentlemen I am much indebted for their valuable help. The Commissioner of Patna, the Collectors of Muzaffarpur and Chumparan, the Officiating Director of Land Records and the Director of Survey, and the Settlement Officer of Chumparan, were also present.

5. On the other side, the Maharaja of Darbhanga with his Manager Mr. Bell, the Maharaja's brother Raja Rameshvar Singh, Mr. Gibbon the Manager of the Bettia estate, the Secretaries to the Bihar and Tirhut Landholders' Association, Sir W. B. Hudson, K.C.I.E., President, and Mr. Macnaughton Secretary, of the Bihar Indigo Planters' Association, together with several other influential European and native gentlemen, represented the zamindars and indigo-planters. I endeavoured to find some persons who might represent the raiyats; and it is a significant fact in considering the conditions of North Bihar that no adequate representation of this class could be obtained, and consequently the attempt had to be abandoned. There probably is not a single raiyat in Bihar of intelligence and education sufficient to enable him to take part in such a conference; and the raiyats' feeling on the subject can only be ascertained by personal enquiries in their villages.

6. I opened the proceedings by saying that the intentions of Government must be understood to be unalterable on the following points, which were not therefore open to discussion:—

(1) The survey is to be made and record of survey and rights is to be maintained up to date.

(2) The record is to be a public document, the accuracy of which Government must guarantee, so far as may be practicable.

(3) Since the Government is thus responsible, it must not be fettered in its discretion, as to the period at which corrections of the record should be made.

(4) The work must be done by an agency under the complete control of Government, and independent of any interested party.

It was then explained that in order to attain these objects, the Government was anxious to know the views and to study the interest of those affected.

7. I then proceeded to sketch the two systems which had suggested themselves to Government, viz., (1) the patwari scheme, under which the unit would be the village, and the survey would be made, and the record kept up, by the patwari; (2) what might be termed the kanungo scheme, under which the survey would be made by amins, and the record for a circle of villages be maintained by an officer of higher qualifications and on higher pay. It was made clear that the former of these two plans would require legislation; the patwari would be a Government servant, appointed, controlled and paid by Government, and the cesses now collected from the raiyats for the payment of patwaris, under whatever name, must be taken in a legal and probably altered shape. The kanungo scheme was then sketched in outline following the note which had been under the Lieutenant-Governor's orders previously forwarded to the Indigo Planters and Landholders' Association.

8. A discussion followed, for which reference may be made to the detailed Minutes of the Proceedings appended to this report. It was apparent that the unofficial gentlemen present were hostile to any maintenance of the record at all. They pressed for information on many points of detail involved in either of the schemes laid before them, and to meet their wishes I distributed copies of the first draft of a Bill which had been prepared, embodying the Lieutenant-Governor's scheme of kanungos. This Bill although prepared under the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor had not yet been submitted to His Honour, and consequently he had had no opportunity of expressing his approval or disapproval of the draft. But since it was in general accord with his views, and there was an evident desire on the part of the unofficial gentlemen attending the Conference to be informed of the methods by which practical difficulties might be overcome, it was thought less inconvenient to produce the Bill somewhat prematurely than to reserve it till instructions could be taken.

9. It was not to be expected that any opinion should forthwith be given by the Conference; and it would have been manifestly unfair to press for criticisms without giving time for consideration. The Conference was then adjourned till the 5th, after the difference between the patwari and kanungo schemes had been again explained. No original plan was brought forward by the unofficial gentlemen present, but it was suggested that, instead of attempting to maintain a current revision of records, there should be a decennial revision.

Since this suggestion was inconsistent with the principle that Government, being responsible for the accuracy of the record, cannot be fettered as to the periods of revision, I was unable to permit it to be discussed as a proposal, though I directed that it should be recorded as an opinion.

10. On the 5th instant the Conference reassembled. The explanation given by Mr. Finucane of a remark made by him at the previous sitting led to a short discussion regarding the sanction proposed in the Bill for enforcing the communication of information as to transfers. The general feeling among the unofficial members was that the provision was open to objection, as giving the sub-kanungo a lever which he might use for purposes of oppression. It was obviously impossible to promise that no power of punishment for passive obstruction should be retained in the Bill, but it was explained that the details were open for consideration, and that any reasonable modifications which could be suggested were likely to be adopted.

11. I then read an extract from a letter written by Mr. Gibbon on the 24th October 1878, to the President of the Bihar Rent Committee. The advice given in this letter, as I pointed out, depended on the following principles:—

(1) It is right that Government should have at its disposal a local agency of contemporaneous record.

(2) That agency should have no connection with the collection of rents, but should be entirely at the service of Government, and should be nominated and paid by Government officers.

(3) It is reasonable that the zamindars should pay at least a share of the necessary expenditure direct into the Government Treasury.

(4) It is possible to secure, consistently with due economy, the services of efficient men.

(5) The areas to be dealt with by these record-keepers should be readjusted, and the district divided into convenient and fairly uniform circles considerably larger than those of the existing patwaris usually are.

(6) The present staff of patwaris should be placed at the disposal of the zamindars, to keep or to dispense with at their option.

These considerations, I pointed out, are exactly those on which the Bill under discussion is founded.

12. I regretted that Mr. Gibbon was not present, but I had mentioned to him personally my desire to bring his letter forward, and he was aware that I attached much importance to it. I had abstained from reading it on the first day, partly because I had feared that it might lead to irrelevant discussions, and especially because it seemed undesirable to take Mr. Gibbon at a disadvantage or to forestall and hamper him in anything which he might wish to say. After I had read the letter, Mr. Macnaghten, by Mr. Gibbon's authority, said that circumstances had changed since 1878, and that Mr. Gibbon claimed the right to change his opinions; Sir William Hudson further attributed Mr. Gibbon's change of opinions to the state of the law regarding the transfer of raiyats' holdings.

13. My object in reading the letter and laying stress on it was not to deny Mr. Gibbon the right to change his views, but to show that the scheme now brought forward was in precise accordance with that which had commended itself to one of the most valued unofficial advisers of Government, who even 15 years ago had had large practical experience. To me, I may remark in passing, it does not appear that the reasons given for a change from those views are adequate. The law as to transfers of occupancy rights has not been changed. If such transfers have become more numerous, surely the necessity for recording them has increased. And if the country is being surveyed and rights ascertained and recorded, it should be easier and less expensive to maintain the record. On the other hand, the interference of Government with the zamindars will be less under the Lieutenant-Governor's scheme than under the scheme which Mr. Gibbon proposed, since it is not now intended to register collections of rents.

14. The members of the Conference were next informed that His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor had now seen the Bill which was produced at the former meeting, and had accepted it as a provisional basis of legislation, with certain modifications which were read and explained, and will be found reproduced in the minutes of the Conference. Under the authority which had been given to me, I announced that Sir Antony MacDonnell would, if desired, be happy to come to the meeting and discuss any suggested amendments of the Bill. It was, however, considered unnecessary to trouble His Honour to do this.

15. I then asked whether the gentlemen present could now give me their opinion as to which of the schemes was to be preferred. The reply was given that, though those present could not bind absent interested persons, they were themselves of opinion that the kanungo scheme was the lesser of the two evils which were presented to them. This expression of preference, taken with the absence of any counter-scheme of maintenance from the zamindars was all that the Lieutenant-Governor asked for in his speech at the Bankipur Durbar, and under these circumstances I said that I was prepared under the Lieutenant-Governor's instructions to stop all further action in the direction of the registration and training of patwaris, and pointed out that the entire abolition of the patwari system is involved in the kanungo scheme. This announcement appeared to give satisfaction.

16. The discussion then fell upon the question of the area to be dealt with by the kanungos. It was desired that this should be as large as possible, that a superior class of men should be employed, and that the corrections should not be made annually. The landholders were assured that these expressions of opinion would have full weight given to them, and it was understood that Government would extend the area to the maximum consistent with efficient work. Speaking only for myself, I said that I could not advise that so large an area should be at first adopted as to produce any risk of failure. The work must first be made safe, and the details might afterwards be modified by the light of experience. I declined to promise that the corrections should not be made annually, since it is a fundamental part of the scheme that this must be left to the discretion of Government.

17. The Maharaja of Darbhanga then asked that the Lieutenant-Governor's notes might be regarded as part of the proceedings, and that the zamindars might be favoured with as full an exposition of the views of Government as could conveniently be given. This was assented to.

18. It was once more pointed out that, subject to the four principles stated in paragraph 6 above, which are insisted on by Government as fundamental, all details, however important, are open to discussion, and that His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor is most anxious to receive all the assistance which the practical experience of those interested can afford him, in order to make the working of the proposed arrangements as little inconvenient as possible. In breaking up the meeting, I then, on behalf of Government, thanked the gentlemen present for their attendance, and acknowledged the courtesy which had lightened my own labour.

19. As the Conference was rising, a further conversation took place between some of the members and Mr. Finucane on the subject of the provision by the zamindars of coolies for the survey, the Lieutenant-Governor having, it was understood, expressed the hope to several zamindars, at his interviews with them, that help in this direction might be given so as to lighten the cost of survey. The offers then made were subsequently confirmed by an official letter from the Secretary to the Tirhut Landholders' Association, a copy of which is appended to this letter.

20. The general results of the Conference appear to me to be these:—

(1) It was made perfectly clear that the Government would insist on the maintenance of the record of rights up to date as necessary to secure permanent benefit from the original operations. It was made clear that the record should be maintained by a Government agency independent of all parties, and that a revision at the end of five or ten years was an arrangement which the Government could not accept while remaining responsible for the accuracy of the record as representing existing facts.

(2) It was evident that, though the interests of the zamindars and the indigo-planters are not uniform, and perhaps in some instances conflict, both these classes object to the annual maintenance up to date of the record of rights. They would rather that the records should not be maintained at all. Next to this they would prefer a revision after long periods—say of five or of ten years.

(3) Of the two schemes suggested to them, they prefer that of the kanungo dealing with larger areas to that of patwaris dealing with villages.

(4) The announcement of this preference enabled us to make the immediate concession, that the existing patwaris shall not be made use of for purposes of the survey and shall remain free for the performance of zamindari duties. The concession was received with satisfaction by zamindars and planters alike.

(5) We were able to show that the adoption of the kanungo scheme would involve the repeal of the Patwari Regulation, XII of 1817 (a measure which would probably be satisfactory to zamindar and planter); provided that an efficient mode of maintaining the record of rights can be brought into operation.

(6) I hope that it was made quite clear that the Government, while adhering to the principles laid down, will consider, and adopt if possible, all reasonable proposals intended to meet the wishes, or guard the interests, of those affected.

21. The main objections put forward to the introduction of any scheme were (1) the interference, (2) the cost, and (3) the probable dishonesty and exactions of the establishments. As the kanungo will have nothing to do with the collection of rent, or recording such collection, or with the letting of land; but will only deal with the maintenance of the record as completed by the survey, whereby all parties will have a standard of right to which to appeal, and as besides he will be closely supervised by superior officers, the interference will be reduced to a minimum, and it will be certainly less than that authorized by the existing patwari regulations. The landlord's share of the cost, though to large zamindars it may be considerable simply because they possess large property, will be small to other classes, and every effort will be made to avoid needless expenditure. Among other things it is under consideration whether the fees and fines under the Land Registration Act, VII (B.C.) of 1876, may not be credited to a District Fund for the maintenance of these land records. And after all, though that part of the expense which will not be recovered by registration fees, &c., will have to be met by a cess, the amount so raised will be much less than that now levied with doubtful legality for or by the patwaris. At the present time a zamindar has a patwari in every village, it is understood. When the record of rights has been prepared and is maintained, the duties of the patwaris will be diminished; and it will probably be possible for a zamindar to do with fewer men than he now employs. Sir William Hudson, who has an intimate knowledge of the needs and condition of the raiyats, has publicly stated his opinion that they will gladly pay a rupee an acre for copies of the original record relating to their holdings. If this be so, they are not likely to object to pay their share at the rate of half an anna or so per acre per annum for its maintenance. It is too much to hope that there will be no instances of dishonesty or exactions; but the landholders of North Bihar possess great power and influence, and are in no way deficient in energy and courage, so that we may confidently look to them to report all instances which may come to their knowledge of malpractices directed to the injury of their raiyats and themselves. I cannot but hope that on further examination the force of these objections will prove to be less than it at present appears to them.

Proceedings of a Conference held at Muzaffarpur on August 3rd, 1893.

PRESENT:

The Hon'ble C. C. Stevens, Member of the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces (in the Chair).

MR. STEVENS, in opening the Conference, said:—

I have been directed by the Lieutenant-Governor to meet you for the discussion of the best means of making and maintaining the survey and record of rights in North Bihar.

I may say frankly that it has come to my notice that two nearly opposite doubts have been expressed regarding the objects and procedure of Government in this matter. Some appear to think that the Lieutenant-Governor has come down with his officers, bringing schemes cut and dried, and determined to adopt them, merely asking for the assent of those interested. Others think that there is nothing definite before them, and that they run the risk of being required to commit themselves prematurely to an opinion on propositions of a vague and shadowy nature. Neither of these apprehensions is well founded.

The points which may be taken at the outset as settled finaly and definitely are (1) that the record of survey and of rights is to be maintained; (2) it is to be a public document, the authenticity of which the Government must guarantee, so far as this is practicable; (3) and since the Government is thus responsible, it must not be in any way fettered in its discretion as to the period at which correction of the record should be made; (4) and, lastly, this is to be done by an agency under the complete control of Government and independent of any interested party.

As to the best method of attaining these objects, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor is anxious to know the views and to study the interests of those who will be affected. The key to his position is to be found in the last paragraph of his reply to the landholders' address:—"Gentlemen," (he said) "I do entreat you to regard the question in a considerate and conciliatory spirit. I am here to discuss every point with you in a friendly and amicable way. I will do everything I can do within reason and the law to meet your wishes; and if only you will meet me in a similar spirit, as I feel confident you will, then I do think that between us we shall be able during the next few days to arrive at a reasonable understanding and a workable agreement on the matters that have to be settled between us." These are not the words of a Government which is prepared to neglect or refuse advice.

Two plans have been under consideration, viz., (1) the use of the patwaris registered under Regulation XII of 1817 to make the survey and to maintain the record, and (2) the employment of amins for the survey and of a special agency for maintenance. As to the former, it may serve to clear away some misapprehensions if I say at once that the retention of the present patwari in his existing relations is not proposed. If retained at all he would be made a Government servant, subject only to the orders of the officers of Government, and liable to transfer or removal by them. The extent of the area assigned to him would be reconsidered and readjusted. The cesses levied for the patwaris' remuneration, under whatever name, must be taken for him still, though in a legal and probably altered shape. It is recognized that Regulation XII of 1817 must be revised so as to secure the above objects, though the Government is advised that the Regulation, as it stands, gives it a right to the services of the patwari, for the purposes of ascertaining and of recording facts connected with the villages, such as would be recorded in the record of rights, and that this right (though fallen into practical disuse) still exists legally. The Government is entitled to require the patwaris to give assistance and information in framing the record and in ascertaining the identity, and measuring the area, of the various plots of land in the village, to the extent of their ability. The exercise of these powers under the Regulation as it stands, especially under the unfavourable conditions which have gradually grown up, would however be involved in difficulty; and the dual control which it recognizes would be adverse to efficiency, even were there no other objections. If, therefore, the patwari agency is to be employed, it must be under considerably altered conditions.

The other scheme which has been suggested is that there shall be an unit of area. The unit of area is the circle of villages—the circle will contain perhaps 20 villages—instead of the single village. The circle officer will be, not the patwari, but a more highly qualified and better paid Government official, and the information to be recorded will be reduced to the minimum necessary for supplying adequate information as to the actual occupation of each field, its area and soil quality, the status of the occupier, conditions of occupation, and the rent and rent-rate payable. The scheme leaves the question of rent payment to be settled between the tenant and landlord without any intervention on the part of the executive Government. There will be only one statistical statement maintained, the "jinswar," which is not directly concerned with the relations of landlord and tenant, and which may be said to have more of an administrative than a fiscal aspect. The following is an extract from the Lieutenant-Governor's note on this scheme :—

"The importance of careful supervision in such a scheme as that under notice cannot be over-rated. I would therefore group the sub-kanungos' circles into circuits (of, say, 20 circles), to be placed under a kanungo on Rs. 50 per month, whom I would include in the subordinate Provincial service. The entire land record staff of the district I would place under a Sub-Deputy Collector. The following estimate of total cost for an average Bihar district is therefore tentatively proposed :—

		Rs.
120	Sub-kanungos	3,000
120	Chainmen muharrirs	1,200
6	Kanungos	300
1	Sub-Deputy Collector	175
		4,675
	Pensionary charges at one-fifth	935
	Per mensem	5,610
	Per annum	67,320
	Tour expenses	2,500
	Stationery and survey appliances	1,180
	Total ...	71,000

As establishments have a tendency to grow, and as it might be found desirable to employ senior officers as District Land Records Deputy Collectors, this estimate might in time be exceeded. But it ought, I think, never to go beyond Rs. 75,000 per annum." I may, to prevent all risk of misunderstanding, repeat in other words what I have already said. The discussion must postulate the maintenance of the record. This is not an open question. The record will be a public document, the authenticity of which the Government must guarantee so far as this is practicable. The Government must therefore not be in any way fettered as to its discretion to have annual corrections of the record, if it so decides.

The agency by which the record is to be maintained may be an agency dealing with (a) individual villages, or (b) circles of villages. If the former be decided on, the unit of agency would be the patwari. If the latter be decided on, the unit of agency would be the circle kanungo. In either case, the officer would be a whole-time Government official entirely independent of any other control.

If the patwari is decided on, the control exercised through him by Government will be close and continuous: and he may be required to furnish any information or statistics required by Government in regard to his village for administrative, judicial or other purpose. The patwari will not be at the disposal or control of the zamindar for any purpose whatever. He will have nothing to do with the collection of rent. But all arrangements connected with the land or the tenants must be brought on his records.

His pay will be levied from the zamindar and raiyats. It is believed that no more will be needed than the raiyats now pay for this purpose in the shape of neg where the neg has not been already consolidated with the rent or than what they pay for the purpose though disguised as an addition to the rent, where the neg has been incorporated with the rent.

The landlords must make their own arrangements for rent collection.

If the circle kanungo be decided on, the information to be brought on record, and the enquiries to be made into village economy from time to time, will of course be less. And in this case the pay to be given to the officer will be higher; and generally the status of the officer will be better. The control to be exercised over the circle kanungo will be constant, and such as the Government deems adequate for guaranteeing the accuracy of the records.

When the agency is settled, the character of the maintenance will have to be discussed. The principle to be insisted on here is that we shall make the map the basis, and that we shall work up from the occupancy of every field to the landlord.

In conclusion, Gentlemen, I would note that it is necessary for us to decide first by what agency the record is to be maintained, before we discuss what agency we shall employ to make it.

Mr. Bell said he was not quite sure that he understood the proposal as regards patwaris. If it was intended that they should cease to do any work for the zamindar, how were they to be paid?

Mr. Risley said that the method that would very likely be adopted was the addition of ½ anna to the road cess now levied, calculated on the present road cess returns. Where the patwari neg had not been consolidated with the rent, a share, probably a half, would perhaps be levied from the raiyats.

Mr. Bell said that, as far as he knew, no patwari neg was levied.

Mr. Gibbon said that Government appeared to be under a misapprehension as to the nature of the patwari neg. It seemed to be assumed that the zamindar collected this cess from the raiyats and paid the patwari from the proceeds. This was not the case. The patwari was the person who levied the cess, which was called by different names in different villages, and he collected the cess himself. In some villages he had recently taken to entering the amount of this cess as a footnote to the jamabandi, but the zamindar never fingered it. He believed that whether Government took away collections from the patwari or not, he would continue to collect his cess from the raiyat.

Mr. Finucane said that Mr. Gibbon's account of the cess might be presumed to be correct in reference to Champaran, but that this would make no difference to the scheme.

Mr. Bell, on the other hand, considered that the point was a most important one. Although the zamindars were to get no benefit from the patwari, they were to have to pay for him. He asked why they should have to pay at all when no cess had been consolidated with the rent. They had no concern with mere matters of general administration, which should be paid for by the whole community.

Mr. Gibbon protested that Government was still assuming that the raiyats paid the cess to the zamindar.

Mr. Risley said that the effect of the High Court judgment in the matter of patwari neg had been to give them a tabula rasa, and any scheme now proposed would have to be a wholly new one.

Mr. Bell said that the arrangements for payment would in fact amount to the imposition of a patwari cess.

Mr. Finucane concurred.

Mr. Bell said that the zamindars were not at present in a position to express any opinion on the schemes. His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in writing demi-officially to Sir William Hudson had promised them a scheme combining the minimum of expense and the minimum of interference. At present they had no knowledge of the details of these schemes. How was the sub-kanungo going to perform his duties? What powers were to be given to him? Was he to be authorised to go into the villages, summon all the raiyats, call for papers and books, &c., &c.? It was most important that such points as these should not be reserved for future determination, but should be decided first. Again, what validity was to be given to these men's corrections? They had no information on these points, and would be glad to see the two schemes drawn up in bill form, and to be given time to consider those bills.

Mr. Risley enquired whether they were prepared to consider the schemes at once if they should be put before them in bill form.

Mr. Bell could not promise this, and said that the action to be taken now was too important to be hurriedly decided on, as any scheme now adopted would probably be extended later on to the whole of Bihar and to Bengal as well.

Mr. Risley then explained further the details of the second, or kanungo, scheme. He claimed that it prescribed the minimum of interference. The irreducible minimum of that interference was the year-by-year correction of entries affecting the possession, area, &c, of the fields in each village. The minimum of expense was secured by making the area to be dealt with by each sub-kanungo as large as possible. In the matter of legal validity, it was necessary to go back to section 119 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and to consider what the legal validity was which was attached to the original entries made in the record. This was the starting point. The original entries were of two classes, (1) disputed, and (2) undisputed. The High Court had declared that the decisions arrived at in the matter of disputed entries were res judicata. The undisputed entries were merely presumed to be correct until the contrary was shown. The corrections would similarly be divided into disputed and undisputed entries. The undisputed corrections to which both parties agreed would stand on the same footing as the original undisputed entries, and the burden of proof that they were incorrect would lie on the person contesting them, whereas, in the case of disputed entries, the statements made by each party would be noted by the sub-kanungo, and a contemporaneous record would thus be secured of the allegations made on each side, valeat quantum, admissible in evidence but not creating any legal presumption whatever.

Mr. Bell contended that such entries could not be made evidence, as being res inter alios acta.

Mr. Risley went on to say that, if it was objected that no legal presumption should attach in any case to an unverified entry made by a sub-kanungo, there was the alternative of having every entry made by him attested by an officer exercising the powers of a Revenue Officer under the Tenancy Act, during an annual revision. The officer in this case would be of equal rank with the Settlement or Assistant Settlement Officer who framed the original record, and it would be proposed to attach a legal presumption of correctness only to those entries which had been verified by him, and to attach no importance to unverified entries. But this development of the scheme would of course somewhat enhance the cost.

Mr. Bell said he would be glad to see all these proposals down on paper.

Sir William Hudson enquired whether the officials present were pledged to act on lines already laid down for them, or were free to give their own views on the schemes under discussion. He said that he and others with him required assistance in dealing with such administrative schemes, and that there were many non-officials who would give much weight to the opinion of officials who had had practical experience of the difficulties to be met with in the field.

Mr. Finucane pointed out that the two schemes were very similar, and that the choice lay merely between the employment of small men in small areas, and the employment of more important and better paid men in larger areas. Did the gentlemen present want large or small areas as units?

Sir William Hudson enquired whether Government was prepared to accept and debate any scheme other than those now proposed.

Mr. Risley replied in the affirmative, but added that Government would reserve the right to declare that any scheme that might be proposed did not amount to maintenance of the record at all.

Mr. Stevens repeated the limitations referred to in his opening speech, on which Government had determined, and said that the Lieutenant-Governor was anxious to receive the views of non-officials.

Sir William Hudson said that the non-officials would be glad to have the opinion of officials of practical experience as to whether they believed in the present schemes and anticipated their success.

Mr. Forbes remarked that Government had had the benefit of the opinion of such officials before propounding the present schemes.

Mr. Stevens added that the present meeting had been called in order that Government might ascertain the facts and hear the opinions of non-official gentlemen interested.

Mr. Bell was afraid that time was being wasted, as no real discussion could be entered upon until the details of the scheme had been considered. There being no reporters present, mere verbal statements could not be accepted by the zamindars. Sir Charles Elliott had promised the abolition of the patwari.

Mr. Risley said that any such promise was conditional on the acceptance of the scheme then under discussion, which had been abandoned.

Sir William Hudson concurred.

Copies of a draft Bill, with rules to be made under it, were then distributed to the gentlemen present as being a first sketch of the kanungo scheme.

Mr. Gibbon then enquired whether the sub-kanungo would not form some sort of court, how he was to compel the production of evidence, and what he was to do when evidence was persistently withheld from him. He contended that no case had yet been made out for the maintenance of the record at all, but that if it was to be maintained, they must choose whichever scheme appeared to them to be the lesser evil. How could they do this with no details before them? How was evidence to be taken? Would the sub-kanungo have power to summon him (Mr. Gibbon) and to call upon him to produce papers. If he refused, was he to be fined?

Mr. Risley said that all these points would be provided for in a rule-making section, and that all rules drafted under the section would be published for criticism, and that all criticisms would be considered by the executive authorities.

Mr. Bell intimated that the zamindars would be more strongly opposed to the Bill if power were to be given to the executive to make rules to carry out its provisions.

Mr. Finucane said that all of the points raised by Mr. Gibbon would be found to have been answered in the Bill and the rules drafted under it.

Mr. Gibbon enquired further whether the courts would accept the entries as evidence without the evidence of the man who made them.

Mr. Finucane said that this was provided for, and proceeded to explain that a safeguard had been introduced into the scheme in the provision made for the filing of lists of changes to be made in the record in the sub-kanungo's office. In this way a zamindar would be able to place on record his opinion as to the alterations which the sub-kanungo should make. The Deputy Collector would go into every village and verify every entry in detail.

Mr. Bell asked what would happen if no one appeared before the Deputy Collector or sub-kanungo, or if the raiyats and zamindars all agreed to conceal alterations and to announce that there were none to be made.

Mr. Finucane said that in such cases no changes would be recorded.

Mr. Bell contended that in that case the scheme would not secure the maintenance of the record, and said that in the North-Western Provinces raiyats and zamindars combined to deny the existence of changes in order to get rid of the harassment of the Government agent who was deputed to record them.

Mr. Risley and Mr. Finucane believed that the parties to changes would not adopt this attitude as soon as they appreciated the advantages that they would obtain by having the corrections made.

Mr. Finucane said, in answer to Mr. Gibbon, that all transfers of holdings or portion of holdings that were alleged to exist would be noted, even if they were illegal, but that such entries would in no way operate to legalise them.

Mr. Gibbon further enquired whether the record was to be binding as between zamindar and raiyat only, or as between raiyat and raiyat also. Were all mortgages, zar-peshgis, and the like to be recorded, even though they were illegal without the zamindar's approval.

Mr. Finucane said that all these points were to be found in the Bill and the rules under it. All mortgages involving possession would be noted.

Mr. Bell enquired what difference there was between the two schemes.

Mr. Finucane said that any Bill and rules that might be drafted to give effect to the patwari scheme would be very similar to those in the hands of the gentlemen present. There would be a change in the area of the unit, in the personality of the agent, and in the method of realising the cost of the maintenance of the record. The patwari scheme would be the more expensive. Both schemes were purely tentative, Government would be prepared to accept any better scheme if one can be put forward

Mr. Risley added that the tendency under the patwari scheme would undoubtedly be towards greater interference The area dealt with by each patwari being small, he would be asked for more elaborate information about it, and would probably be called on for local reports in judicial matters, and for census and other statistical information useful for administrative purposes. It would be impossible to ask for all these statistics from men dealing with the larger areas that were to be given to sub-kanungos.

Mr. Bell understood that the zamindars were to have nothing to do with the patwari or his returns or his statistics, or indeed with his work in any way, but were to retain the privilege of paying for him.

Mr. Risley and Mr. Finucane agreed that the zamindars would not be called upon for any returns or statistics of a general character, but added that the zamindars and raiyats alike would be benefitted by the operation of the scheme, and would be asked to pay in equal shares for the benefit derived.

Mr. Gibbon then enquired whether Government would devise some summary procedure for the recovery of rent.

Mr. Risley said that it was impossible to devise any such procedure until the maintenance of the record had been secured.

Mr. Gibbon asked whether Government would promise to devise some such procedure, if the zamindars agreed to the proposals made for the maintenance of the record.

Mr. Risley said that no such promise could be given, and that Government could not go beyond Sir Charles Elliott's statement in Council that "he hoped it might be possible" to devise such a scheme.

Mr. Gibbon wanted to know what security they had that Government would not go beyond their present requirements in the matter of returns and statistics, and that interference would always be at a minimum. He contended that no one could pledge Government to this.

Mr. Finucane referred to the draft Bill, and pointed out that everything done under it must be confined to the record of transfers and to subjects connected with the maintenance of the record of rights. Obviously if any summary procedure could be devised at all it could not be till we got rid of disputes. The first step to shortening procedure is to minimise the possibility of there being matter left to dispute over; the record of rights, and the scheme for its maintenance aim at effecting this object.

Mr. Gibbon feared that interference would certainly increase.

Babu Parmesvar Narain Mahtha cited as an example of increasing interference a recent addition to the road cess return form which required the entry of rates of rent—a completely new departure

Mr. Bell thought that the instance showed the danger of trusting to the generalities that were being freely expressed.

Mr. Risley enquired what Mr. Bell would regard as an ideal method of maintaining the record.

Mr. Bell said that he agreed with Mr. Gibbon and Mr. Macnaghten that a periodical revision should be made at intervals of 10 years, and that no farther attempts should be made to devise a scheme that it was impossible to work.

Mr. Stevens said that this could not be taken as a proposition, but merely as an opinion.

The Maharajah of Darbhanga said he could not express any opinion until the papers had been circulated among the members of the Bihar Landholders' Association and he had received their replies, but he would prefer Mr. Bell's suggestion for the periodical revision of the records if they were to be kept up at all.

Sir William Hudson agreed, but wished to add:—"Unless Government is prepared to give us a summary procedure for the recovery of rent."

Mr. Gibbon agreed, but wished to add:—"If Government insist, against our opinion, on the maintenance of the record by any other means, I would prefer the scheme suggested in the Government letter of June 30th, 1892."

Babu Ram Dhari Sahai agreed with Mr. Bell's suggestion.

Mr. Risley enquired whether, if Mr. Bell's suggestion could not be accepted by Government, the gentlemen present were prepared to offer an opinion on the schemes that had been submitted to them.

Mr. Bell and the Maharaja of Darbhanga expressed their inability to give a personal opinion on the point at present, as time was required to enable them to circulate the scheme among the members of the Bihar Landholders' Association.

Mr. Stevens enquired whether the opinions that had been expressed preferring a decennial revision were also liable to modification after further consideration.

Sir William Hudson said that those opinions were a plain and clear answer to a definite question propounded by Mr. Risley.

The Maharaja of Darbhanga in reference to his opinion on that point cited the case of the records of his own villages which were surveyed in 1878, and had recently been resurveyed, and in which very few alterations were found to be necessary.

Mr. Bell gave some details of those changes.

Mr. Finucane pointed out that a record that had been left uncorrected for five years would be quite useless in the courts, and that legal validity could only be secured for the record by its proper annual maintenance. Unless this were secured it would be impossible to devise any procedure for the summary recovery of rents or for simplifying the evidence under the ordinary procedure.

Mr. Bell disagreed and expressed his opinion that the Government of India should not force the maintenance of the record on the Provincial Government when a gentleman of the vast experience of Mr. Gibbon had declared that it was impossible to secure it.

Mr. Risley enquired, with reference to the registration scheme preferred by Mr. Gibbon, what was to be done with the map. The papers could be kept up under that scheme, but not the map.

Sir William Hudson pointed out that 8 out of 10 per cent. (the figure adopted as representing probable alterations) would be succession transfers involving no alteration of the map.

Mr. Stevens then asked for an answer whether, if it be determined that the record must be maintained annually or concurrently, the patwari would be preferred to the sub-kanungo.

Mr. Finucane again explained the difference between the two schemes.

The Maharaja of Darbhanga said no answer could at present be given.

Mr. Gibbon enquired whether he was to continue to nominate additional patwaris, substitutes for unfit patwaris and the like.

Mr. Stevens said that Mr. Gibbon should formulate his question and send it up through the Collector of Champaran, but that in the meantime no change should be made in his present procedure.

Babu Ram Dhari Sahai enquired whether the registration of patwaris was to continue.

Mr. Stevens said that further orders would be subsequently issued on this point.

Messrs. Gibbon and Bell enquired whether the draft Bill and rules could be regarded as an official document.

Mr. Finucane said it was only a first draft not yet seen by the Lieutenant-Governor, but added that it had been prepared on the lines of His Honour's scheme.

Mr. Bell thought that the details of the scheme were of such importance that he would like to know, before he considered it, whether the Lieutenant-Governor approved of the draft.

As to a further meeting of the Conference, Sir William Hudson thought any such meeting would be unnecessary until at least a definite reply had been given to the suggestion that the records should be revised decennially.

After some discussion the Conference was adjourned to 8 A.M. on Saturday, the 5th August.

The minutes of the proceedings of the meeting held on August 3rd were taken as read and were agreed to, Mr. Bell and Sir William Hudson having previously read and considered them and admitted their accuracy. With reference to the remark made by him (see page 4 of the minutes) that in certain circumstances "no changes would be recorded," Mr. Finucane explained that he meant that no changes would be recorded by the sub-kanungo at that time. But the draft Bill provided for further action to compel information in cases of wilful obstruction or concealment. If it were found that information as to transfers was being kept back, and all other means of obtaining that information failed, the Collector would issue a notice calling for returns, and would insist on their being filed, imposing a fine for their non-production. And should the returns thus obtained prove incorrect, the zamindar would be liable.

Mr. Bell enquired whether the zamindar was to be held responsible for all inaccuracies in his returns discovered or alleged to exist by the sub-kanungo. In many cases he might be unaware of the existence of changes.

Mr. Finucane explained that it was only in cases of direct obstruction that the penal clause would come into play. The stages would be as follows:—

(1) The parties would or would not file returns. This was at their option.
(2) The sub-kanungo would go to the village and make enquiries as to changes after due notice of his intended visit to all parties concerned.
(3) If he could gather no information and there was evidence to show that there had been changes, and that both zamindars and raiyats were combining to conceal them, the sub-kanungo would report accordingly.
(4) The Collector would then consider the report and, if he thought fit, call on both parties to file statements.
(5) Then, if the parties still refused to file statements, or filed false ones the penal clause would come into operation.

Sir William Hudson said that he thought that self-interest would prevent the occurrence of such cases.

Mr. Finucane said that his long practical experience satisfied him that as a matter of fact neither zamindar nor raiyat was ever found to resist contumaciously any reasonable procedure of the Government, and he hoped and believed they would not do so in the matter now under consideraiion.

Mr. Risley said that a draft Bill must be consistent and complete to stand against criticisms in Council, and that even unlikely contingencies had to be provided against.

Sir William Hudson said that he and others objected to the penal clause, on the ground that it gave the sub-kanungo a handle against both zamindar and raiyat, and that it was by using this handle that he would be enabled to extort bribes and reap his harvest.

Mr. Finucane said that the provision was not essential to the Bill, and might perhaps be modified in Select Committee.

Mr. Stevens remarked that at the last meeting they had been asked what sanction had been provided for such a case.

Sir W. Hudson said that the enquiry had only been made to show that the last state of the zamindar would be worse than the first. He contended that the section would give the sub-kanungo power to harass.

Mr. Risley pointed out that he was to be checked by superior officers, among whom was the Collector.

Sir William Hudson said that the Collector must be omitted from consideration, as he could not be expected to exercise effective control.

Mr. Bell said that as a matter of fact the zamindars would never be disabused of their belief in the power of the sub-kanungos. They would be paid for making entries, and then, in order to avoid the payment, both zamindar and raiyat would combine to conceal changes. The sub-kanungo would also think that he could best justify his appointment and show zeal by harassing all parties for information.

Mr. Finucane said he had not wished to raise a discussion about details, but only to point out what procedure would be followed in the case of combination.

Sir William Hudson said that if the zamindar and raiyat combined and were determined to conceal changes, no procedure could be devised to make them disclose them. They wished to have the provision omitted.

Mr. Stevens then said:—At the end of our last meeting it was remarked that perhaps no further meeting was necessary till the definite orders of Government should be given on the suggestion of quinquennial or decennial revisions. I had intended to make it clear that this suggestion could not be adopted. The Lieutenant-Governor is fully persuaded that the discretion of the Government, which will be responsible for the accuracy of the record, should not be fettered by any conditions as to the periods at which corrections should be made, and he cannot accept the proposals to make these periods quinquennial or decennial.

I regret that Mr. Gibbon is not with us to-day, not only because we shall miss the benefit of his present advice and criticisms, but also because I wish to read to you a part of a letter, to which I attach great importance, written by him on the 24th October 1878, to the President of the Bihar Rent Law Committee:—

"The patwari should be nominated by the district officers, be the servant of Government paid by the Government: he should be, as originally intended, 'a record-keeper,' and nothing but a record-keeper, entrusted with no executive powers. He should have nothing to do with the village collections, granting receipts, giving pattas and kabuliyats, &c., &c.; the zamindar should be compelled to do all this through his own servants.

"The patwari being the record-keeper, the zamindar should be compelled to hand him copies in duplicate of the past year's rent-roll (jamabandi) and balance sheet (wasil-baki), the current year's ticca land accounts (arsatta) and instalments paper (behri), quarterly returns of all assessment papers (khasras), and also collections made (sealas), memoranda of lands relinquished by raiyats and new lands bandobasta with raiyats, with a list of pattas given and kabuliyats received.

"One copy should remain with the patwari, the other be signed by the patwari and returned to the landholder. The patwari should be a good accountant and know something of surveying, in case you think it necessary that all measurement of jots should be made by the patwari. The raiyat should at all times have access to the patwari's papers, and the patwari be bound to afford him all information as to the state of his account.

"Instead of each petty village of from one to two hundred rupees rent-roll having a patwari of its own, the district should be divided into circles with rent-rolls of not less than Rs. 5,000, not more than Rs. 10,000. It should be optional with landholders to dispense with the present staff of men. Half the amount of money now expended by zamindars on the present staffs paid into Government treasuries would be sufficient to secure the services of efficient men, and would be a saving to the zamindars, as it would enable them to get rid of the men who cannot afford to be honest on the small salaries they receive.

"All returns called for by district officers should represent the exact terms of the holdings, however ridiculous to them such terms may appear."

After our meeting on Thursday I told Mr. Gibbon that I had thought of reading this letter to the Conference that day, but that I deemed it better not to do so, since I was afraid that the effect might be to lead to irrelevant discussion, and I might have added that I was unwilling to forestall him in anything he might wish to say. He replied that I might have read it, and that there was nothing in it regarding which he had changed his views as to the conditions which then existed, but that circumstances have since become altered: when the letter was written, there was no survey or immediate prospect of one. But the difference which this change has made seems to me to be at the most one of convenience rather than of principle. In other words, the suggestions then made were proper in themselves, though the survey now, in Mr. Gibbon's opinion, makes it unnecessary that they should be carried out. You will notice that the following considerations underlie those suggestions:—

(1) It is right that Government should have at its disposal a local agency of contemporaneous record.

(2) That agency should have no connection with the collection of rents, but should be entirely at the service of Government, and should be nominated and paid by Government officers.

(3) It is reasonable that the zamindars should pay at least a share of the necessary expenditure direct into the Government treasury.

(4) It is possible to secure, consistently with due economy, the services of efficient men.

(5) The areas to be dealt with by these record-keepers should be re-adjusted, and the district divided into convenient and fairly uniform circles considerably larger than those of the existing patwaris usually are.

(6) The present staff of patwaris should be placed at the disposal of the zamindars, to keep or to dispense with at their option.

These considerations, Gentlemen, are, you will perceive, exactly those on which the scheme now before you is based, and the only question is whether the survey has superseded them. In the opinion of Government it has not done so.

Just before we separated on Thursday, the very natural question was asked, whether the Bill then in your hands was to be taken as official, and as representing the views of the Lieutenant-Governor. You were told in reply that it was based on the Lieutenant-Governor's suggestions, but had not in its present form been considered by him. He has since seen the Bill, and I am authorised to tell you that he has accepted it as a provisional basis of legislation subject to the following modifications on which he would like to be favoured with your opinion:—

(1) A section should be introduced (after section 12?) imposing on the transferee (or successor) of a tenure, rent-free holding, or occupancy right, the obligation (subject to penalty of fine?) to report the circumstance of transfer to the kanungo. A fee should be levied on each transfer, &c.

(2) The Collector and Registrar of Assurances should be bound to report to the kanungo all mutations, transfers, &c., under Acts VII (B.C.) of 1876 and III of 1877.

(3) The fees to be levied under clause (1) above to be credited to a Land Record Fund for the district. All copying fees and fines, &c., to be credited to the same Fund. [It is for consideration whether fees under the Land Registration Act VII (B.C.) of 1876 should not be credited to the same Fund.]

(4) The 'Land Record Cess' to be subject to a statutory maximum of ¼ anna per rupee of rent, but the rate at which it is to be levied to be fixed annually, with reference to the estimated income from "Fees" and "Fines." The accounts of the Fund to be published annually.

(5) Omit the proviso to section 4 of the draft Bill.

(6) Consider whether the officer should not be called kanungo instead of sub-kanungo. The higher officers to have higher titles.

(7) The question of amending the Land Registration Act of 1876 and the Transfer of Property Act, with the view of relieving landholders from the obligation of effecting double registrations (i.e., in the Land Record and the Land Registration Offices), and of giving them the option of registering in the Land Registration Office alone, to be considered when the Bill is being prepared for submission to the Government of India, previous to introduction into Council."

I will say in conclusion that the strength of the supervising staff and the area of the sub-kanungo's jurisdiction are matters still open to consideration. If it be found possible for a better paid and higher class of official to cover a larger area, this may be subsequently arranged.

Mr. Macnaghten said that Mr. Gibbon had authorised him to say, with reference to the letter that had been quoted, that he claimed his right to change his opinions, that circumstances had altered since 1878, and that he did not adhere to the opinions expressed in the letter.

Sir William Hudson said that the principal reason that had induced Mr. Gibbon's change of opinion was the state of the law as regards the transfer of raiyats' holdings. As long as that was in a fluid state he could not hold by that former opinion. He (Sir William Hudson) was personally of the opinion that in the raiyats' interest the right of transfer should be abolished.

Mr. Bell said that they preferred Mr. Gibbon's present opinions to those expressed 15 years ago.

Mr. Stevens said that he had not understood Mr. Gibbon to say that he had changed his opinions, but that the conditions on which those opinions had been based had been changed. The letter had been read from no desire to convict Mr. Gibbon of inconsistency, or to deny him the right to change his views; the object was to show that the Lieutenant-Governor's scheme was not a mere official invention, but was exactly consistent with the opinion once held by an esteemed unofficial adviser of Government of great experience.

Sir William Hudson said that he understood that the Lieutenant-Governor's remarks on the Bill were all dependent on the choice that might be made by them.

Mr. Stevens agreed and said that he was authorised to say that the Lieutenant-Governor would be quite prepared to come down to the meeting and discuss any particular points or amendments to the Bill.

Mr. Bell thought it was not necessary to trouble the Lieutenant-Governor to come.

Mr. Finucane said that the Lieutenant-Governor's note consisted of a series of concessions that he believed would be acceptable to the zamindars.

Mr. Stevens then asked whether the gentlemen present could now give him an opinion as to which of the schemes was to be preferred.

The Maharaja of Darbhanga said that he could not give an authoritative reply, as he had not had time to consult the members of the Bihar Landholders' Association, but that personally, as a choice of evils, he preferred the scheme in which the agent was to have a larger area and be better paid.

Sir William Hudson concurred and asked that the complete scheme for the employment of sub-kanungos might be circulated for criticism. He then asked what executive orders were now to be issued respecting the registration and training of patwaris.

Mr. Stevens said that if the sub-kanungo scheme was the one preferred by them, he was prepared, under the Lieutenant-Governor's instructions, to stop all further action in the direction of the registration and training of patwaris. The entire abolition of the patwari system formed part of the kanungo scheme.

Mr. Finucane said that the Lieutenant-Governor was prepared to consider any reasonable modifications of the provisions of section 17 of the draft Bill when it went into Select Committee. It would not be put forward as a Government proposal to be necessarily passed in its present form.

Mr. Stevens added that in all matters of detail His Honour would be prepared to consider any reasonable proposals.

Sir William Hudson said that the question of the amount of interference was of great importance to them. Many of them thought that an extension of the area of the circles, and of the period of each revision, would diminish the amount of interference. He believed that three-quarters of the transfers would be succession transfers, involving little alteration of the records, and that the work in an area of 25 square miles would be light, especially if it should not be deemed necessary to recognise as transfers petty family arrangements, by which members of the same family privately divided up their lands amongst themselves. He was of opinion that the area might be extended, and that, if the period were also extended, a sub-kanungo might do the work of 100 square miles.

Mr. Finucane understood that the principle that Government would follow would be to extend the area to the maximum consistent with efficient work. Experience would show what that maximum was.

Sir William Hudson asked if Government would say definitely that no extension of time could be granted.

Mr. Stevens replied that this could not be said. Government could not bind itself as to the period of revision. In the matter of area, his personal opinion was that it would be dangerous to start by giving the sub-kanungo too large a charge, as this would involve risk of failure, but the general wish to have larger areas and fewer men, and those of a higher class. would be borne in mind; and if experience should show that larger areas could be adopted, it would be easy to make a change.

Sir William Hudson remarked that if we began with small areas, it was improbable that those areas would afterwards be enlarged.

Mr. Risley asked whether biennial corrections would not be of less value from a landlord's point of view in Civil Court suit than annual corrections.

Mr. Stevens thought it was unnecessary to discuss these details at the present time.

The Maharaja of Darbhanga asked that the Lieutenant-Governor's remarks might be put on the minutes of the proceedings, and that the zamindars might be favoured with as full an exposition of the views of Government as could conveniently be given.

Mr. Risley said that the Bill and rules would be circulated for criticism and would doubtless form the nucleus of a vast amount of literature and discussion.

Mr. Stevens said that on Thursday he had laid before them, on behalf of Government, the four principles which the Government insisted on as fundamental. The details to be found in the draft Bill and rules and in the Lieutenant-Governor's remarks were on a different footing altogether. In reference to these the Government was not only willing but anxious to obtain advice and help. It was completely recognised that the gentlemen present were in possession of a practical knowledge of facts which few officers of Government could acquire, and it was highly probable that even those gentlemen themselves could not fully appreciate the interests of other classes not represented at the meeting. He thanked the gentlemen present for their attendance; and on his own behalf he thanked them for making his labours easy by the friendly and courteous manner in which their discussions had been conducted.

The meeting then adjourned.

P. C. LYON,

Secretary.

Dated Muzaffarpur, the 7th August 1893.

From—Babu Ram Dhary Sahoy, Hony. Secy., Tirhut Landholders' Association,
To—The Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L.P.

With reference to the supply of coolies by zamindars, I am directed to state as follows:—

2. The zamindars are willing to give the services of three coolies at their own cost to accompany each amin that will be deputed to survey their entire and partitioned villages, it, of course, being understood that they will be employed by the amins solely on survey work and for such length of time only as the survey will continue; their employment will be contemporaneous with the continuance of the survey, and it will cease on the evening of the day it is completed. The amins should be directed to give a receipt to each zamindar specifying the date, time and the number of coolies that have been placed by him at their disposal. The zamindars should have the option, on receipt of the notice proposed to be given to them by the Survey Office, as to the probable date of the commencement of the work, and the estimated number of days for which the coolies would be required either to supply coolies on pay in a lump sum of money to the Survey Office sufficient to cover their wages We consider that Rs. 1-13 per 100 bighas would sufficiently cover them, calculating their wages at Rs 3 a month. On payment of such sum of money, all responsibilities of the zamindar to provide for coolies shall cease.

3. As regards coparcenary villages, any zamindar giving coolies shall be entitled to recover the amount jointly and severally from the pottidars. I am aware that there is no legal provision to that effect, but consideration might be made for it in the apportionment of costs, and on this subject I shall address you later on.

4. I may add that the advantages of the present offer would only be complete with the co-operation of the amins. As we have every desire to reduce the cost of the survey and meet the wishes of Government, we have made the offer; but as it will go to reduce a considerable amount of the profit which is now being made in the supply of coolies, you must be prepared to face considerable obstacles and opposition from the interested quarter.

5. I am directed to say that His Highness the Maharajah Bahadur of Darbhanga, Raja Rameshwar Singh Bahadur, and Mr. Rott, Manager, Nurhan estate, fully agree with the above.

6. I may add that a large number of zamindars have signed a declaration form undertaking to supply coolies for each amin while the survey is going on or to pay in their wages to the Survey Office in a lump sum at Rs. 3 a month.

Scheme for maintaining a record of rights in Bihar, circulated to the Indigo-planters and Bihar Landholders' Association, and referred to in the Minutes of the Muzaffarpur Conference.

THE following draft scheme for maintaining a record of rights is submitted for criticism. Two points are reserved for further discussion, namely—

(a) The legislation necessary and practicable to give a sanction to the scheme and provide the funds:
(b) The validity or effect to be attached to the corrections effected in the record from time to time.

The scheme differs in no fundamental particular from the Patwari Bill of 1885, except in regard to—

(a) the unit of area;
(b) the rank and qualifications of the officers who are to deal with that unit;
(c) the information to be recorded.

2. In the scheme which follows, the unit of area is the circle of villages—the circle will contain perhaps 20 villages—instead of the single village. The circle officers will be, not the patwari, but a more highly qualified and better paid Government official, and the information to be recorded will be reduced to the minimum necessary for supplying adequate information as to actual occupation of each field, its area and soil quality, the status of the occupier, conditions of occupation, and the rent and rent-rate payable. The scheme leaves the question of rent-payment to be settled between the tenant and his landlord without any intervention on the part of the executive Government. There will be only one statistical statement maintained, the "jinswar," which is not directly concerned with the relations of landlord and tenant, and which may be said to have more of an administrative than a fiscal aspect.

This plan will not yield that wealth of statistical, fiscal, and general information which a patwari system furnishes in other provinces; but it will be an enormous improvement on the present state of things, and it will effectively safeguard the interests of the cultivator of the soil; it will facilitate the realization of the landlord's rent, and it possesses advantages of its own in the direction of (a) economy, (b) application to areas, such as Orissa or Chittagong, in which no patwari system exists, and (c) susceptibility of effective control by a smaller supervising staff.

3. An effective system of land records involves—

(a) field duties;

The field duties reduced to their simplest expression consist of (a) field inspection, (b) map amendment, (c) khasra correction.

The office duties reduced to their simplest expression, or at all events the simplest expression consistent with our objects, consist of—

Perhaps, also, as I have said, No. (4) is not absolutely essential; but it is very desirable and should be included. I append drafts of the statistical forms with explanations on the reverse, when necessary, which, in the system I am developing, would be maintained by the registering officer, or, as I shall call him, the sub- (or circle) kanungo. The forms were prepared under my orders by a Committee of Settlement Officers in the Central Provinces, and the references are to the Central Provinces' Patwari Rules. But alterations may be necessary to suit the circumstances of Bengal.

3. I proceed to consider what is the smallest staff by which the duties enumerated above can be efficiently discharged.

I am informed by the Director of Land Records, who has on this point consulted Colonel Sandeman, that in Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, and Saran there are 3 plots to an acre, while in Champaran and Gaya there are 2½ plots. I shall subsequently indicate a means whereby the number of khasra entries may possibly be reduced: but here I assume that we have to deal with a three-field-to-the-acre country.

4. The work of maintaining the record varies with—

(a) the total area of the circle;
(b) the cultivated area;
(c) the number of khasra entries;
(d) the local condition of the tract, i.e., whether changes in fields, boundaries, possession, &c., are numerous or otherwise, and whether assistance is readily given by the proprietors, raiyats, and so forth.

From my own experience of North Bihar, not very recent it must be said, and from my recent experience of this sort of work on a grand scale in the Central Provinces, I should say that mutations will occur annually in (say) not less than 5 per cent., nor more than 10 per cent., of the khasra numbers; and that an expert man of the Central Provinces' Revenue Inspector class (pay Rs. 25 per mensem) can verify 250 khasra numbers a day, or 6,250 numbers in a working month of 25 days. That means 37,500 numbers during the open season of six months, or, with 3 khasra numbers to the acre, say 20 square miles.

5. I have stated above that possibly the number of khasra numbers might be reduced. The smallness of the average field indicates an intention to give to each individual rice or bhadoi plot a separate khasra number. In Raipur, which is largely a rice country, the rule was that each individual rice plot should be surveyed, but that in khasra writing they might be clubbed together into one khasra number—provided that (a) the plots are held by the same tenant in the same right; (b) that the fields were alike in soil and position; and (c) that the class of soil was not one on which double cropping was habitually practised. Although the holdings in Raipur consist of isolated plots much scattered, this method of clubbing led to a reduction of about 15 per cent. in the khasra entries. In Bihar it will probably not be necessary to take the soil class and position class into account, while fields making up the holdings are perhaps not so scattered. If this be so, a still larger reduction in khasra numbers may be effected. Say that the number is reduced, then the area with which an expert officer of the stamp I have mentioned can deal during the open season will be somewhat increased, though probably not to the extent, or in so large a porportion, as the khasra numbers are reduced by the plan of clubbing plots.

	Sq. miles.
Muzaffarpur	3,008
Darbhanga	3,665
Saran	2,622
Champaran	3,531
Total ...	12,821

6. The areas of the four North Bihar districts are shown in the margin, but there are, so far as I know, no authentic statistics showing the cultivated area of any Bihar district. In these circumstances, perhaps, I may take the estimates of cultivated areas offered in my Report on the Food-supply of Bihar (1876) as reasonable approximations. They were in round numbers for—

District.	Cultivated area. Sq. miles.
Muzaffarpur	2,240
Darbhanga	2,600
Saran	2,360
Champaran	2,250

or say 9,450 square miles of cultivation altogether. This shows three-fourths of the area to be on the average under cultivation and one-fourth waste, which is probably not far from the truth. The average North Bihar district has therefore in round numbers, on these calculations, 2,360 square miles of cultivated and 840 square miles of uncultivated area.

7. The maximum number of officers necessary to maintain the record of rights in the cultivated area of such an average district would be 118. The maintenance of the record of the uncultivated land would not be onerous unless much reclamation were going on. Having regard to the possibility of clubbing plots and so reducing the khasra entries, I should say that, for the average Bihar district, 120 such officers—I will call them sub-kanungos—ought to suffice. Each sub-kanungo will want a chainman in the open season.

8. Experience in the Central Provinces has shown that it takes about twice as much time to compile the statistical information as it does to complete the field-to-field inspection. No doubt on the system now being explained the statistical information will not be so elaborate as it is in the Central Provinces, still the sub-kanungos will want some clerical help during the recess months. This I propose to give them by employing literate chainmen each on Rs. 10 per mensem.

We have thus worked out a staff for each district of—

	Rs.
120 Sub-kanungos at Rs. 25	3,000 per mensem.
120 Chainmen-muharrirs at Rs. 10	1,200 „

9. The importance of careful supervision in such a scheme as that under notice cannot be overrated. I would therefore group the sub-kanungos' circles into circuits (of, say, 20 circles), to be placed under a kanungo on Rs. 50 per month, whom I would include in the Subordinate Provincial Service. The entire Land Record Staff of the district I would place under a Sub-Deputy Collector. The following estimate of total cost for an average Bihar district is therefore tentatively proposed :—

		Rs.
120	Sub-kanungos	3,000
120	Chainmen-muharrirs	1,200
6	Kanungos	300
1	Sub-Deputy Collector	175
		4,675
	Pensionary charges at one-fifth	935
	Per mensem	5,610
	Per annum	67,320
	Tour expenses	2,500
	Stationery and survey appliances	1,180
	Total ...	71,000

As establishments have a tendency to grow, and as it might be found desirable to employ senior officers as District Land Records Deputy Collectors, this estimate might in time be exceeded. But it ought not, I think, to go beyond Rs. 75,000 per annum or thereabouts.

In this first draft I do not enter into the manner on which the sub-kanungos should perform their duties: that will fall for later consideration.

DARJEELING,
The 24th June 1893.

A. P. MACDONNELL,
Offg. Lieutenant-Governor.

No. 748T.—R., dated Darjeeling, the 6th July 1893.

From—H. H. RISLEY, Esq., C.I.E., Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Revenue Dept.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Dept.

SINCE taking over charge of this province from Sir Charles Elliott,. the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor has paid much attention to the question of the Survey and Settlement of Bihar, and I am now to submit, for the consideration and orders of the Government of India, a copy of a Minute which His Honour has recorded on those important subjects.

2. It will be perceived that the chief matter upon which the orders of His Excellency in Council are required is concerned with the maintenance of the record of rights when once it has been correctly prepared. This question is touched upon in your letter No. $\frac{1628}{43}$ of the 1st August 1892, which Sir Charles Elliott did not dicuss with Sir Antony MacDonnell. So far as the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor understood, Sir Charles Elliott was tending, just before he left India, to adopt the conclusion that the task of maintaining the record was one of very formidable magnitude and difficulty, and that, in view of the inadequacy of the executive establishments available for administration and supervision, and of the opposition of the zamindars to the exercise of any control by Government over the patwari under the existing law (Regulation XII of 1817 and Regulation I of 1819), it was hopeless to attempt anything of the kind; but it was evident that the Lieutenant-Governor's mind was unsettled on the point. He was, however, entirely opposed to legislation having for its object the reform of the patwari system on the lines of the Bill of 1885, for these reasons—

(a) that such legislation had been negatived by the Secretary of State;
(b) that a patwari scheme would impose too great a strain on the administration;
(c) that it would be unpopular with the zamindars.

There was a fourth reason in certain hopes which Sir Charles Elliott seems to have unofficially held out to the zamindars and planters, that Regulation XII of 1817 might be entirely repealed, presumably after a sufficient scheme had been made out for maintaining the record by some agency other than that of the patwari.

3. In the enclosed Minute, Sir Antony MacDonnell has endeavoured to place the case in its historical and practical aspects fully before the Government of India, and has stated with, it is hoped, adequate clearness what his own views and recommendations are. He is very strongly of the opinion that the record, when once it has been correctly prepared, should be maintained up to date. By the survey and record the landlords will gain substantially not only in that the recovery of existing rents will be materially facilitated and its cost reduced, but by the increase of rents in cases where the survey enables the landlord to prove that the tenant is holding land in excess of the area for which he is paying rent. In a very large proportion of the holdings in the Bettiah Raj it is believed that such enhancement will be feasible; and although it is hoped that the Manager will not take advantage of the survey to attempt a general raising of rents on this ground, it can hardly be doubted that the fact that he holds this power in reserve will tell in favour of the Raj in any question that may arise between it and its tenants. The presumption in favour of existing rents created by section 104(3) carries with it the consequence that if there be a variation of the rent, it must be in the direction of an enhancement, unless power is given under section 112 of the Act to reduce rent (a power which it is invidious to exercise if it can be avoided, and for which the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor does not now ask). The experience already acquired in the settlement of wards' and private estates under the Act shows that on an average the zamindars may count upon realising a return of from 12 to 15 per cent. on the expenditure incurred. Regarded, therefore, as a mere investment, the making of a survey and record of rights is a source of substantial profit to the landlords. In Bihar they will further gain by the stereotyping of sir or demesne lands, which play so important a part in the agricultural system of that province, and over which raiyats henceforward will be debarred from acquiring occupancy rights. The planters, who are not solely landlords, and who regard the acquisition of rights in land as merely subsidiary to the cultivation and manufacture of indigo, will find their position enormously strengthened and their initial expenditure reduced by the survey placing on record the exact nature and extent of all proprietary rights; so that in future the planter will know exactly with whom to deal when taking a lease of a village. He will also be enabled, on occasions, to ignore the zamindars and to acquire effective rights for the purpose of cultivating indigo by entering into agreements with the raiyats direct.

4. So far, then, looking at the matter from the raiyat's point of view, it will be seen that for a survey and record which will lead probably to an enhancement of their rents, and certainly to a curtailment of the area within which the rights conferred on them by the Tenancy Act can take effect, the raiyats will have to pay a sum amounting in the aggregate to one-half of the charges imposed upon the land. Clearly they have the strongest equitable claim to some substantial counterbalancing equivalent for proceedings which are likely, or which have a tendency, to produce such results. This equivalent is chiefly to be found in the maintenance of the record of rights, which, if it mulcts the raiyats now, will, it must be hoped, give them freedom from illegal demands and adequate protection in the future. Sir Antony MacDonnell does not deny that the survey and record of rights, especially if conducted in the way indicated in paragraph 34 of the Minute, will do some immediate good to the raiyats; and though he regrets that the operations were begun without previous provision being made for maintenance, he thinks they must be prosecuted now. But he does very earnestly urge on His Excellency in Council that application should be made to the Secretary of State for permission to legislate for a cess of such amount as will enable this Government to create an efficient record establishment such as is detailed in the scheme marked B attached to the Minute. If the Secretary of State declines to accord this permission, then, if the record is to be maintained at all, no means is left except to organise and administer a patwari system in Bihar under the old Regulations XII of 1817 and I of 1819, either as they stand or with the minimum of amendment that may be found necessary in order to make them workable enactments.

5. The Officiating Lieutenant-Governor is by no means sanguine that a Land Record establishment can be satisfactorily worked under these Regulations, the terms of which are in many respects obscure and indefinite, while the procedure laid down is cumbrous and antiquated. His fear is that it cannot, and that the strong and continuous opposition with which the effort to work it will certainly be met, will add enormously to the difficulties which must attach to any scheme based on the Regulation. No record scheme can be satisfactory when the Revenue authorities and the Executive Government have not exclusive and complete control over the appointment and remuneration of the agency by which the scheme has to be carried out. Although the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor thinks that, if no other resource is left, an effort should be made to maintain the record under Regulation XII of 1817, he trusts that this Government may not be placed in what he cannot but regard as a position of very exceptional difficulty and embarrassment, but that power may be conferred upon it to organise by legislation upon modern lines such a local Land Record establishment as may be sufficient for the end in view.

6. If the Government of India can see its way to expressing general approval of the views stated in the Minute, the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor will be in a position, when he visits Bihar at the end of the current month, to act in pursuance of that approval, and he is not without hope that he may be able to induce the zamindars to accept a compromise and to intimate their readiness to accept scheme B as set forth in the appendix to the Minute. For his own part, the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor considers that in the present circumstances of Bihar a land record scheme which concerns itself merely with the permanent facts and conditions of tenancy, leaving the registering of payments of rent to the parties concerned, is all that need be insisted on.

MINUTE ON THE SURVEY AND RECORD OF RIGHTS IN BIHAR AND ON THE SUBSEQUENT MAINTENANCE OF THE RECORD.

THE subjects of this paper are perhaps the most difficult and important of any now pending before the Bengal Government. I had the advantage of discussing them with Sir Charles Elliott before he went on leave, and of being placed to some extent in possession of his views on points which are still unsettled. On other points Sir Charles Elliott's opinions are to be readily ascertained from the correspondence. Since taking over charge of the Province, I have given my anxious attention to the question, and have consulted the responsible officials and several unofficial gentlemen on, I think, every phase which it presents. It is now necessary for me to state my provisional opinions on unsettled points, and to indicate the action which should be taken on them, though I retain full liberty to modify my views should I see reason to do so after consultation with the zamindars of Bihar on my approaching visit to that Province. But before stating my present opinions, it will be useful to trace as briefly as may be the origin and the successive stages of the development of this question of a survey and record of rights in Bihar. This retrospect will throw some light on the measures we should adopt in the future.

2. It is unnecessary for my present purpose to go further back than Lord Ripon's administration, when the Government of India addressed to the Secretary of State the important Despatch No. 6 of 21st March 1882, in which the whole agrarian question in Bengal was summed up, and the outcome of the various enquiries and Commissions that had been appointed to enquire into it set forth and formulated. One of the proposals (head XIII, paragraph 108 of the Despatch) therein made was "to take up the question of introducing throughout Bengal the system of village records and field surveys, commencing with the Patna Division." The Survey and Record of Rights now in progress in Bihar are therefore immediately due to the initiative of the Marquess of Ripon's administration. But before that time they were among the most urgent recommendations of the Famine Commission, and had been in principle recognized in the time-expired Agrarian Disputes Act VI (B.C.) of 1876: since then they have been supported by all the most competent officers, who have had to deal with the subject, as the only effective means of improving the condition of the Bihar raiyats, whose condition appears to be more depressed than that of any cultivators in the whole of India. I may add that in the area within which the survey and record have been already completed, the peace and security which they have produced are, I understand, very highly appreciated by zamindars and raiyats alike, though as time advances and the record becomes obsolete, it may be doubted whether this gratifying state of things will be adequately maintained.

3. To the Despatch of the 21st March 1882, Lord Hartington, then Secretary of State, replied in his letter No. 54 (Rev.) of 17th August 1882, paragraph 19 of which runs thus—

> "As regards head XIII, while fully admitting the advantages which would attend the establishment of village records and accounts, the formation of a record of rights and the introduction of a field survey, I cannot avoid the apprehension that the difficulties of carrying out these measures in those parts of Bengal in which village accounts and accountants, if they ever existed, have long ago entirely disappeared, even from tradition and remembrance, may prove greater than you anticipate. Your present proposal, however, merely contemplates an experimental commencement of the work in the Patna Division of the Province of Bihar, where the need for it is, you think, most pressing and the conditions least unfavourable, and to this I will make no objection. I shall be glad, however, to receive full reports of the progress of the work, of the expenditure likely to be incurred, of the difficulties which may be encountered, and of the expedients by which they may, in your opinion, be overcome."

4. The Government of Bengal (then administered by Sir Rivers Thompson), whose Revenue Secretary I was at the time and for four years afterwards, was thus confronted with the most important administrative undertaking of a fiscal character since the Permanent Settlement, and it began work by considering, first, what agency, and secondly, what legislation, was necessary to give effect to the policy enjoined on it. Its consideration of the question of agency led to the proposal made in the Bengal letter to the Government of India, No. 309T.—R., dated 1st June 1883, to create a Department of Land Records in Bengal. The Government of India, in forwarding* that proposal to the Secretary of State, made the following remarks, which I quote as being the earliest opinion to which I wish to refer on the subject of the maintenance of the record of rights when once it had been correctly prepared :—

* See despatch No. 13 of 25th September 1883.

"All attempts to obtain trustworthy agricultural statistics or to maintain correct village records of rents and tenures such as are found in other parts of India have failed in Bengal owing to the decline of the patwari and kanungo system. This defect is prominently noticed in the Report of the Famine Commission, and its evil consequences have been brought clearly before us in dealing with the rent question in Bengal. We agree with the Lieutenant-Governor that legislation (on the rent question) itself will not solve the difficulties which have grown up in many parts of the province, and we think that in Bihar at least a survey and reorganization of the patwaris will be necessary when the Rent Bill passes into law. This great undertaking cannot in our opinion be satisfactorily completed without the continuous supervision of a special department; and to avoid unnecessary delay in entering on important measures, we think that steps should be immediately taken to constitute the Department of Land Records. We have ascertained from the Bengal Government that though the measures in contemplation for the above purpose cannot be exactly formulated while the provisions of the Rent Bill are still in some respects unsettled, it hopes to be in a position to legislate on the subject (of patwaris) early next year."

5. The Secretary of State in his letter No. 24, dated 10th April 1884, sanctioned the creation of a Department of Land Records as a provisional arrangement which has since become permanent, and then proceeded to make the following remarks with special reference to the second subject, namely, legislation, to which, as stated in paragraph 4 above, the Government of Bengal had to address itself in order to give effect to Lord Hartington's orders of August 1892:—

"It is impossible to doubt that the results of a general field survey of Bengal and the establishment of detailed village records, if they be found practicable, will be most beneficial. But the task must be acknowledged to be a gigantic one, whether its difficulty, its cost, and the time it must take be considered, and the opposition which may probably have to be encountered on the part of both landlords and tenants, and I am unable to sanction any step with a view to so great an undertaking until I am furnished with fuller information than that which I at present possess with respect to the methods to be adopted, the expenditure likely to be incurred, and the difficulties which may have to be met. These points should not be reported on without the opinion of the Board of Revenue and of the chief administrative officers having been obtained."

6. The question of legislation in amendment of the Patwari Regulation was therefore postponed pending the submission of further information to the Secretary of State, and with a view to procuring such information the Board of Revenue (and administrative officers through the Board) was consulted. I make the following extract from the Board's reply (letter No. 841A, dated 23rd September 1884, to the Government of Bengal):—

"The importance of this question (maintenance of the record of rights) is only equalled by the difficulty of dealing with it—a difficulty so great that some officers (notably Mr. Wilson of Midnapore) look upon it as fatal to a proposal of attempting a survey at all. It must be conceded that there is no agency in Bihar (Bengal?) to which the duty of maintaining the village records and maps could be committed, and that it will be necessary to create an organization for the purpose. Throughout the greater part of Bihar there are village servants known by the name of patwaris, but they would not, and indeed could not, discharge the duties performed by patwaris in the North-Western Provinces, and the supervising staff, on which the efficiency of the patwaris depends, does not exist all. The difficulty, however serious it may be, must be faced and surmounted. The rent bill would lose half its usefulness if it were not supplemented by a survey and record of rights, and the survey would be of no value unless measures were taken to maintain its accuracy from year to year."

7. The Hon'ble Mr. Reynolds, who was then in charge of the Land Revenue Department of the Board of Revenue, concluded his Minute by expressing concurrence in the views† of Sir Charles Bernard that though there might be opposition and difficulty in the way of the proposed survey and record operations, neither would be insurmountable. Fearing, however, that a general settlement of rents might, on a rigid interpretation of the law untempered by equitable considerations, lead to universal enhancements of rent in Bihar (where reports went to show that rents were already very high); Mr. Reynolds advised the limitation of the operations to a survey and record of existing rights and rents alone.

8. The Government of Bengal, in forwarding the Board's report to the Government of India (Bengal letter No. 2426T.R., dated 25th October 1884), expressed the following opinion:—

"While thinking that in 'exceptional circumstances and special areas,' as stated by the Hon'ble Mr. Ilbert* in introducing the Tenancy Bill, we may have to settle rents, the Lieutenant-Governor is quite of the opinion that anything like a general settlement of rents in any district is to be deprecated. He accepts the view that on a survey introduced under the orders of Government, if the record of rights shows the existence of exorbitant rents and the raiyats put forward claims for reductions, then only should such claims to have fair rents fixed be entertained."

* Gazette of India (Supplement) of March 3rd, 1883, page 295.

9. The Government of India (letter No. 996A. of 20th November 1884), in acknowledging the receipt of the Bengal letter and calling for further information, observed—

"It is hardly necessary to remark that the value of the survey and the record of rights will be incommensurate with the cost unless an efficient staff of patwaris and supervisors is organized on the lines suggested in Mr. Reynolds' Minute. * * * If it be decided to commence operations in 1885 or 1886—and on this point the Government of India will expect to be advised hereafter by the Government of Bengal—His Excellency the Governor-General in Council trusts that no effort will be spared to obtain at an early date the requisite legal powers to organize the patwari staff, and that the work of organization will be vigorously prosecuted."

10. In accordance with these instructions, and in fulfilment of the original intention of legislating mentioned in paragraph 4 above, I introduced a Bill into the Bengal Legislative Council to amend the Patwari Regulation XII of 1817, and I attach to this Minute a copy of my speech on that occasion, as it sets forth in sufficient detail the history and existing condition of the patwari system and the reasons for its proposed reorganization.

11. One object of this Bill was to levy the cost of a reformed patwari establishment by a cess on the land which, it was contended, would not amount to more than the people already paid for patwaris under the designation of "neg" or customary fees. The intention was to fund these payments, and from the amount so funded, which would be under official control, to pay the patwari and supervising kanungos. The Secretary of State was not disposed to sanction the imposition of a cess for an object the success of which he regarded as doubtful: and it was with a view to solve his doubts that it was determined to make an experimental survey and record of rights in a selected area. Accordingly, the Patwari Bill was suspended, pending the result of this experimental survey and record of rights, which was begun under the direction of Mr. E. W. Collin in about 500 square miles of the Muzaffarpur district.

12. While this experimental survey was in progress, further correspondence passed between the Government of Bengal, the Government of India, and the Secretary of State, in regard to the latter's instructions to charge the cost of the experimental operations to Provincial Revenues, and generally in regard to the Patwari Bill, the object of the correspondence on the latter subject being to remove His Lordship's objections to this proposed measure. In this correspondence the Government of India, supporting the Government of Bengal, said:—

"We need not again point out what has been already admitted by all parties in the correspondence, that an elaborate survey and record of rights are a pure waste of money, unless due provision is made for keeping the information they furnish up to date. * * * * Unless Your Lordship should be of opinion that the explanations now given are sufficient to remove the objection entertained by your predecessor to the inclusion in the Patwari Bill of authority to levy a cess for the payment of village accountants, we concur with the Bengal Government that the only course to pursue is to close the cadastral survey at the end of the present season, and to abandon altogether for the present the attempt to obtain an accurate record of the land and of the incidents of its tenure."

13. The efforts of the Government of India were, however, fruitless; the Secretary of State in his letter No. 21, dated 15th July 1886, stated that his objections to the cess were not removed, and he considered that, under the circumstances, "the only course to pursue was to abandon the proposed measure for the present." This decision involved the abandonment of the experimental survey and record, which was accordingly brought to an end after a large area had been cadastrally surveyed and a record of rights completed in about 80 square miles of that area. No provision was made to maintain this record up to date, and it must now have become somewhat obsolete; but, as observed in paragraph 2 above, it has given much satisfaction to those interested in it.

14. This order of the Secretary of State's closes what may for my present purpose be regarded as the first stage in these proceedings. During this stage it was, to use the words of the Government of India just quoted, admitted by all parties, firstly, "that an elaborate survey and record of rights are a pure waste of money unless due provision is made to keep the information they furnish up to date;" secondly, that the agency necessary to maintain the record should be provided before the survey and record were begun.

15. The second stage of these proceedings is practically an endeavour to carry out, without legislation, the accepted policy in regard to the record of rights in Bihar. Legislation on the patwari question having been denied, a change of opinion in regard to its necessity gradually supervened; it being, as the Board observed, a comforting doctrine that what is unattainable is also undesirable. But apart from this natural disposition of practical administrators to adjust measures to circumstances, the change of opinion can, I think, be traced to two distinct sources, one dating from Sir Rivers Thompson's administration, the other from that of his successor, Sir Steuart Bayley. While the experimental survey and record was going on in Bihar, the Bengal Government was also considering the desirability of introducing surveys and record of rights into certain estates managed by the Court of Wards; and in these estates, being limited areas (in some of which, moreover, acute disputes regarding rent actually existed), the Bengal Government did not attach the same importance to the maintenance of the record as it did in the case of a whole district and much more a whole province, when the object was not only to allay existing acute disputes, but also to make lasting provision for the prevention of disputes in the future and for the settlement of a basis of agrarian prosperity. This policy and view of the application of section 101 of the Tenancy Act in regard to Wards' estates was set forth in the Bengal letter No. 2419—913L.R., of 1st December 1886, and there is no doubt that once started it obtained a hold over the spirit of the administration, and an extension which was not at first intended.

16. This result was helped by the report which Mr. Collin in 1887 submitted on his experimental survey operations, and this report is the second source to which I trace the change of opinion referred to in the preceding paragraph. Mr. Collin, who is an officer of ability and judgment, there said—and his words, which are the outcome of practical experience, afford a striking confirmation of the wisdom of the policy of survey and record of rights embodied in Chapter X of the Tenancy Act:—

> "Some such measure as survey and record of rights is absolutely necessary if the rights of the raiyats are not to be entirely confiscated, and if a system by which they have been hitherto deprived of more than half of their legitimate share of the profits of their land is not to be perpetuated."

And again—

> "The main point is to ascertain the existing rent and certify it to the raiyat. . . I believe it is a sufficient protection to the raiyat to ascertain and certify his rent to him. The danger lies in his ignorance of his rental."

Mr. Collin, it will be seen, supports the view urged by Mr. Reynolds and Sir Charles Bernard, as stated in paragraph 7 of this Minute—a view in which I entirely concur—as to the desirability of not interfering with rents whenever interference can be avoided.

17. Mr. Collin advocated a survey and record of existing rights as good and necessary in itself and worth the cost, even if not afterwards maintained. He did not, indeed, undervalue the great advantage of maintaining the record; but he had no faith in any system of maintenance by unreformed patwaris, and he thought with Mr. Finucane (see paragraph 26 below) that something might be done by making zamindars file returns and checking these by Government agency. Even this way of looking at the matter was not followed by Mr. Norman, then Collector of Muzaffarpur, who, in forwarding Mr. Collin's report, not only denied the possibility of maintaining the record by means of patwaris or zamindars, but went the length of affirming that its maintenance would be of no use or advantage.

18. On this report and these recommendations the Board, having been consulted, replied* as follows:—

* Letter No. 608A., of 15th June 1888.

"The Board cannot console themselves with the acceptance of Mr. Norman's opinion that it matters very little whether the record is maintained or not. On the contrary, they are firmly persuaded that the record will year by year become of less and less value unless adequate measures be taken to ensure its periodical examination and correction, so as to bring it into accordance with the state of things actually existing at the time. The Board would greatly regret to see these registers,† on which a large sum of public money has been spent, and which are described by the Commissioners as excellent and well-arranged, gradually becoming 'waste paper' for want of supervision and correction. * * But in a permanently-settled area, such as is now under consideration, the Board are reluctantly compelled to say that the existing law leaves the Government practically without any resource. It is hopeless to expect that the record can be maintained by the agency either of patwaris (unreformed) or zamindars. The feeling which has prompted Messrs. Finucane and Collin to urge the adoption of some measures which will give a permanent value to the work in which they have taken so much interest, and which they have accomplished so well, has the entire sympathy of the Board. But the Board would be wanting in their duty if they failed to represent that Government has practically before it only the alternatives of abandoning all measures for the proper maintenance of the records of the Muzaffarpur survey, or of invoking the aid of the Legislature for the establishment of an efficient system of patwaris and kanungos."

Thus it will be seen that the Board of Revenue adhered to the principles of what I have called the first stage of the proceedings, while the Government had begun to vacillate.

19. The Board's views did not commend themselves to His Honour Sir Steuart Bayley, who, in submitting Mr. Collin's report on the experimental survey to the Government of India, had supported the proposal to extend to the rest of Bihar a survey and record, even if it were not afterwards to be maintained. And the Government of India, in its letter No. $\frac{433R}{39-2}$ of 16th June 1888, agreeing with the Bengal Government, said—

"In view of the facts brought out, the arguments urged against a survey and record until an agency was made to maintain it lose some of their force. That the full benefits of a record of rights cannot be secured unless it is continuously maintained is obvious; and the Government of India is not without hope that a solution of the difficulty will be found in the enquiries in progress. But even were it otherwise, His Excellency in Council is forced by the recent experiment to the conviction that a survey would be justified by the unquestionable advantages it would confer in determining existing tenures and rents in a manner which could be asserted and maintained under the Tenancy Act.

"Holding these views, and apart from the financial cost of the operations, His Excellency the Governor-General in Council entirely concurs in the opinion of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor that the experimental survey has been a success, and that it is desirable to extend the measure to other tracts where uncertainty as to existing rents prevails."

20. The correspondence was submitted to the Secretary of State, who, in his letter No. 66 of 16th August 1888, said—

"I observe you incline to the opinion that even if the continuous maintenance of the village record cannot be fully secured, still an accurate record of existing facts would be of great advantage as affording a basis on which a better state of things might grow up under the Tenancy Act. * * * If the work is to be undertaken in other localities, the cost of and subsequent maintenance of the village record must be kept within the narrowest possible limits of cost, as the expenses will have to be defrayed by the classes and localities concerned."

I invite particular attention to the words I have italicized, as they seem to indicate the possibility that the prohibition against legislation on the patwari question may be reconsidered by the Secretary of State. For the rest His Lordship adopted an attitude of benevolent neutrality and watchfulness, as regards the new departure, rather than of active approval; but he gave the Government of India a free hand.

21. Thus the Governments of Bengal and India, gradually abandoning the doctrine that a survey without subsequent maintenance of the record was a waste of money and useless, came to think that a survey and record without subsequent maintenance is useful, and worth the cost. The reasons for this change were—

(a) the strong necessity that existed, and still exists, for supplementing, in the interests of the depressed tenantry of Bihar, the operation of the Tenancy Act by a record of tenants' rights and status;

(b) the Secretary of State's opposition to legislation on the patwari question.

22. But while deciding on a survey and record even without provision for subsequent maintenance, the Governments of Bengal and India and the Secretary of State have not ceased to insist on the desirability and importance of maintaining the record up to date, and the later communications from the Government of India, especially the letter No. $\frac{1828}{43}$ of 1st August 1892 (which I had no opportunity of discussing with Sir Charles Elliott), indicate a marked urgency of desire that provision should be made for maintaining the record when once it has been correctly prepared.

23. In all this I entirely agree. It is true that my position in regard to this question, before I left the Bengal Government in 1886, had been not only that the record should be maintained when framed for a large tract of country, but that it should not be begun till provision for its maintenance had been made. On these points my opinion has undergone no change; and undoubtedly I should be glad if the Secretary of State were again approached with a view to our taking power by legislation to raise as much money as will enable us to maintain the record, if not by patwaris then in the way I shall presently indicate, which involves the minimum of interference between landlord and tenant. In this way I clearly see my road to the effective maintenance of the record without any trouble, and at a cost to the zamindars and raiyats which would be trifling compared to the immense benefits which both would reap from such a measure. I have suggested in paragraph 20 above that His Lordship might possibly be now willing to consider the fresh representations in regard to legislation, which I trust the Governor-General in Council will permit us to make. But in any case His Excellency in Council may rely on me to give effect to the policy he has been pleased to sanction.

24. In a subsequent portion of this Minute I shall consider the procedure for making the record, the agency for making it, and the cost. Here I wish to dispose, so far as possible, of the question of maintenance, and to state the measures I propose to take to that end. In June 1892 Sir Charles Elliott, addressing the Board of Revenue, proposed a scheme for maintaining the record, which depended for its efficacy on the raiyats and others reporting to a registering officer all changes in their holdings which might occur from time to time. I have carefully examined that scheme in the light of my own knowledge of Bihar and of recent experience acquired in the Central Provinces, where survey and record operations are now in progress on a larger scale than elsewhere in India. My conclusions were that the scheme would not give the information which the Lieutenant-Governor wanted, and that even if it did, the information would be inadequate for the purposes of an effective record. The local criticisms on the scheme were of a similarly unfavourable character, and Sir Charles Elliott himself being now satisfied that the scheme would not work, has agreed to abandon it.

25. Sir Charles Elliott's idea was to have a self-acting or automatic and self-supporting scheme not resting on local enquiries or on the maintenance of the village map. He hoped that the people, rent-payers and rent-receivers, would by the operation of certain sanctions explained in the letter be induced to report mutations, and would, by various fees, pay for the recording establishments. But it may be taken as an axiom that no system of maintenance is of use which does not rest on the bases of village inspection, map amendment, and khasra corrections on the spot. It is also doubtful whether, as khasra corrections will probably not annually be more than about 5 per cent. of the entries, the fees levied from the persons served, i.e., whose record is corrected, would pay for the correcting establishment, unless they were pitched high. To levy much fees would be contrary to practice in other provinces, and no doubt unpopular. It follows, with certainty, that no self-acting agency would be effective, and with probability, that an effective record agency must be paid for from some other source than fees charged for the special services rendered.

26. In 1885, the Director of Land Records in Bengal prepared a scheme which I understand the Bihar zamindars, believing legislation to be imminent, accepted* subject to certain conditions. This scheme is given in Appendix A, and has some points in common with the proposals made by Sir Charles Elliott while it differs from these (inter alia) in requiring new legislation for the imposition of a special cess. It was, however, disapproved by the Board and by the Government of Bengal for the reasons expressed in the following extract from the Bengal letter to the Board of Revenue of the 9th January 1886:—

* See enclosure to the Director of Land Records' letter to the Board, No .767, dated 19th November 1885.

"In reply, I am to say that the Lieutenant-Governor having perused your letter and the careful report prepared by Mr. Finucane, comes to the same conclusion upon the question as that at which the Board have arrived.

"Sir Rivers Thompson is unable to accept the proposals which have been made, and to which Mr. Finucane has given his support that the present staff of patwaris are to be henceforth regarded as zamindari servants paid from the cesses now levied on their account, nor that in his record of rights and of payments the patwari shall depend for his information upon returns and accounts furnished to him by the zamindar, and that he should confine himself to ascertaining how far these accounts agree with what the raiyats admit to be correct. To define the duties of a patwari in such terms would, the Lieutenant-Governor considers, be fatal to the maintenance in the villages of an accurate and effective record of rights. Furthermore, it must be made clear that no cess whatever shall be levied from the raiyats for payment of patwaris except that which is realizable under the Bill.

"The patwari's work should, in Sir Rivers Thompson's opinion, represent the results of his own personal observation and inspection, and should not entirely depend on its operation upon the information which the zamindar supplies to him. A system under which the patwari makes his original record entirely depend upon returns and accounts periodically given to him by the zamindar must lead to conflict and controversy.

"It is not necessary that any rule should be made that all payments of rent must be made in the presence of the patwari; but in the work connected with the maintenance of the record of rights, measures should be adopted to make the patwari's action, as far as possible, independent."

These objections appear to me now, as they did in 1885, to be fatal to such a scheme; but I understand that Mr. Finucane has since represented that his proposals were not fully understood at the time, and that they are not really open to the objections stated. This may be a matter for subsequent consideration; but in any case if as a last resource we are compelled to look to the patwari of Regulation XII of 1817 for the maintenance of the record, then we must deal direct with the patwari himself, and control him in the actual preparation of the village papers.

27. I am well aware that the great zamindars and landlords of Bihar are opposed to an enforcement of Government control over the patwaris under Regulation XII of 1817. Herein I confess to having some sympathy with them, and I do not propose to employ the patwari of Regulation XII of 1817 for the purpose of maintaining the record, except as a last resource. But I attach such extreme importance to the maintenance of the record, that failing other means I should endeavour to work through that Regulation. I am, however, anxious to meet the wishes of the Bihar landlords, many of whom are my personal friends, and for all of whom I entertain a strong liking; and I have therefore framed a scheme which is marked B in the enclosures to this Minute. That scheme dispenses with the patwari altogether, or rather substitutes for him an officer on higher pay and of superior status, whose functions would correspond more closely to those of the kanungo under the Emperor Akbar's land system, as I explained in introducing the Bill of 1885 into the Bengal Legislative Council. The sub-kanungo of scheme B would, like the original kanungo established or recognised by Raja Todar Mal, be the servant of Government alone, and would be in no way subordinate to the zamindar. This follows from the fact that the scheme, broadly speaking, limits the maintenance of the record to the facts of occupation, status, and rent payable; leaving the question whether in any case the rent has or has not been actually paid to be settled between the raiyat and his landlord, without any interference on the part of the Executive Government. This is the minimum of maintenance on which Government must insist in the interests of the raiyats; and I am, subject to the orders of the Governor-General in Council, willing to abide by it for the sake of concord, and compromise with my Bihar friends. This scheme will cost about Rs. 70,000 per district anually, but where is that sum to come from if we do not legislate? Only a very small portion could be supplied by copying fees and such like miscellaneous income, and it would not be fair to the general public to pay the entire sum from Provincial Revenues even if these revenues were able to afford it, which they are not. The bulk of the money must come, if it is to be raised at all, from the people interested, "from the classes and localities concerned," as the Secretary of State said in his letter No. 66 of 16th August 1888, already referred to in paragraph 20 above. That the money would be cheaply and well spent, I have no doubt at all; for with such a record as I contemplate, we should attain what we have been striving for since the Permanent Settlement—a sufficient knowledge of the facts of each holding and estate, whereby agrarian disputes would be reduced to a minimum, such disputes as occurred would be susceptible of easy and speedy decision, and, for the first time within a century, a real and lasting foundation would be laid for the agricultural prosperity of Bihar.

28. If the Bihar zamindars reject the scheme which, in my anxiety to meet their objections, I propose, and if, moreover, the Secretary of State maintains his veto on the imposition of a cess for maintaining the record, then, undoubtedly, there are only two courses before us: to abandon all attempts to maintain the record, and prepare for ourselves, 10 or 15 years hence, the same chaotic state of things as we now find in existence; or to see what can be done under Regulation XII of 1817. Having already stated that I regard the maintenance of the record as of extreme importance, it will be understood why I shrink from the former alternative. I am well aware of the difficulties in the way of working the patwari of Regulation XII of 1817, difficulties which I myself and abler Revenue officers have thought insurmountable. But an actual experiment has never yet been made in such circumstances as we are by our survey and record calling into existence. And it may possibly be that practice may falsify our theory, and show us how, by some slight alterations in the Regulation, consistent with its principles, means may be found to make it a more effective instrument in our hands. At all events I cannot entertain any proposals—some have, I understand, been made—to repeal Regulation XII of 1817, and so abolish the slight control Government now has over the registered patwari—except on the condition of the provision of an efficient substitute, such a substitute, for instance, as would enable us to work scheme B in the Appendix.

29. And this, I understand, was the attitude adopted by my predecessor up to the eve of his departure. It is true, I believe, that Sir Charles Elliott contemplated the abolition of the Patwari Regulation (XII of 1817) when an effective scheme for maintaining the record had been provided. But the hopelessness of devising a scheme which should not involve the imposition of a cess, and yet be independent of Regulation XII of 1817, had apparently come home to him, for in the seventh paragraph of the Resolution on the Survey and Settlement Reports for 1891-92, which was recorded by him on the day before he made over charge of these Provinces to me, I find the following expression of his views on the subject of the training of local agency for the purpose of executing and maintaining surveys and records of rights:—

"Another satisfactory feature of the year's work is the progress made in training local men in survey work. The employment of local agency on survey and settlements not only materially reduces the cost, but provides an efficient means of maintaining the maps and records when the work is complete. During the season under notice the following local establishments were put through a course of instruction and will be utilised as far as possible:—

"In the Champaran district, 181 patwaris and their relatives.

"In the Muzaffarpur district, 270 patwaris and their relatives and other local men (80 more were under training).

"In Tippera, 300 local men (Bengalis).

"In the coparcenary villages in Bihar, it is possible that some difficulty may be experienced in arranging for a patwari or other resident of the village to do the survey and record writing, but it is hoped that this difficulty may not be insurmountable. Section 5 of Regulation I of 1819 empowers the Collector, with the approval of the Board of Revenue, to appoint patwaris in such villages with or without reference to the proprietors, and if it is found that the latter cannot agree among themselves to nominate a joint patwari, it may be necessary to take action under this section."

This paragraph, it will be observed, refers to the questions of reducing the cost of the Bihar survey and maintaining the record hereafter, and it distinctly contemplates the employment of the patwari not merely to make the survey in the first instance, but also to maintain it when made. The injunction to have recourse to section 5 of Regulation I of 1819 in order to provide patwaris in those villages where, owing to the number of joint proprietors, no registered patwari has at present been appointed, leaves no doubt on the point that the patwari to be so employed is the statutory patwari, i.e., the patwari appointed by the Collector under the Regulations.

I am aware from my conversations with Sir Charles Elliott that he did not wish to force the inclinations of Bihar landlords in connexion with the employment of the Regulation Patwari to maintain the record. Neither do I. But if I am driven to it, if I have to choose between abandoning the attempt to maintain the record, and endeavouring to maintain it through Regulation XII of 1817, then I shall decide on the latter course, though I shall do this with reluctance.

30. This conclusion to which I have come, to work under the Regulation XII of 1817, if I am precluded from working outside it, confirms a decision which, on the independent ground of economy in survey expenditure, I have already taken, while it links up and harmonizes, so far as may be, our present policy and practice with the policy which, as stated in paragraph 14 above, was approved in the earlier stage of these proceedings. The decision is to take up in earnest the registration of patwaris under the Regulation (this was begun in 1876 and carried some length in Bihar), and to employ none but registered patwaris (or, failing them, amins) on the survey and record operations now in progress. I do not conceal from myself the probability that this endeavour to procure registered patwaris even for survey work will be met with opposition by Bihar zamindars. They will probably think it is the thin edge of the wedge, and that having got patwaris registered for survey work, I shall retain them for the maintenance of the record. Undoubtedly I shall retain them if I am driven to maintain the record under Regulation XII of 1817; but that is not my primary object in getting them registered. My direct and primary object is to reduce the expenditure on the survey, which is now very considerable, and admits of great reduction by the employment of the registered patwari in his customary and statutory duty of surveying his village.* It the zamindars agree to a scheme of maintenance outside Regulation XII, I shall, after the survey is over, see what I can do to assist them in procuring the repeal of Regulation XII of 1817, and thus cut the patwari loose from all official control and supervision. If then I had a free hand in this matter, and time were no object, I should, in the interests of economy (and of the future maintenance of the record if we must act under Regulation XII, 1817), be disposed to suspend the survey and record operations until the patwaris had all been registered and trained to survey. But I apprehend that the obligation to carry on the work from the point at which I find it leaves me no choice but to work through amins, when registered and trained patwaris are not forthcoming.

* I may add (to meet the Board of Revenue's reasonable wishes) that, although the registered patwari is bound to survey his village as part of his statutory duties and without further payment, it may be well, as he is not always well paid, to give him a special allowance as a reward for good work.

31. And this brings me to a very important matter indeed. I find that in some places Colonel Sandeman has been making the survey and record through so-called patwaris who are not registered, and are in point of fact zamindari servants pure and simple, paid by the zamindar, and merely temporarily lent by them to the survey authorities. Over these men no effective control can be exercised. They work or leave off working just as they please, and if detected in making false measurements or false entries, there is no means of adequately punishing them. The Board of Revenue and the Director of Land Records are strongly opposed to this system; the Settlement Officer has objected to it; and the Superintendent of Surveys, Colonel Sandeman, is himself dissatisfied with it. Certainly I consider it open to the very gravest objections. As the Board of Revenue observe, "it cannot be forgotten that one of the main objects of the Bihar Survey and Settlement was the protection of the raiyats, and the Board consider that the experiment of having a large part of the work done by the servants of the very party against whom, if any one, the raiyats require protection, must be attended with some hazard." Manifestly no real trustworthiness can attach to records prepared by the servants of one of the parties concerned. To obviate this formidable objection, Colonel Sandeman has been employing muharrirs to check the entries made by the zamindari patwaris. But this double agency adds largely to the cost of the record, and who that knows Bihar can think that after all this is a real check? The record must be prepared under conditions which shall relieve it, so far as we can guarantee, from any suspicion of onesidedness; and to this end I have decided that mere zamindari servants shall, on no account, be employed in surveying and preparing the record of the raiyats' holdings. It will no doubt be urged that as the patwari registered under the Regulation is also under the zamindar's control to some extent, the objections to the employment of unregistered patwaris apply also to him. But it cannot be contended that the position of the Government is the same in regard to the registered as to the unregistered man. We hold a strong position in regard to the registered patwari; he is a Government servant; we can dismiss him and we can criminally prosecute him for making a false entry. We have no such hold as this over a private patwari, who is merely lent to us, and whom we do not pay. The position is explained in the following extract from a letter which I have caused to be addressed to an influential gentleman in Bihar, who has taken exception to my orders, directing the employment of registered patwaris alone, and, failing them, professional amins. The letter refers to an important opinion given by the Advocate-General as to the obligation the registered patwari is under, to survey his village by order of the Collector:—

"The Officiating Lieutenant-Governor has received your letter of the 9th instant, referring to the employment of patwaris on the Bihar Survey, and is glad that you have written to him on the subject.

"The matter stands thus. On going through the papers connected with the Bihar Settlement, and on hearing what influential gentlemen in Calcutta had to say regarding it, it appeared to Sir Antony MacDonnell that there were two aspects of the proceedings which needed special attention—(a) the expense, (b) the absence of an effective plan for maintaining the record when completed.

"The latter aspect of the question is now engaging His Honour's attention, and he trusts to have an opportunity of consulting you and Bihar zamindars generally on it when he visits Muzaffarpur next month. On the former aspect of the case, it seemed to His Honour eminently desirable that something should be done to reduce the cost of the survey. The cost of survey and 'khanapuri' is now very considerable, and the tendency is to further increase. On enquiry Sir Antony MacDonnell found that the survey was being chiefly carried on by amins (to whose employment objections have been raised apart from the matter of cost). The belief was entertained that the Collector could not legally require patwaris to measure their villages. To test the accuracy of that belief, which the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor personally doubted, the question was referred to the Law Officers of the Crown. The Advocate-General has now advised Government (and the Board of Revenue accepts the opinion) that patwaris can be required under the usual sanction to survey their villages as part of their statutory duties.

"But the patwaris over whom the Government can exercise this measure of legal control are the registered patwaris alone, that is to say, the patwaris whom the Collector, usually on the zamindar's nomination, recognises for each mahal or village. Over the unregistered patwaris, who are merely the private servants of the landlords, the Collector can exercise no control.

"You will, His Honour is sure, recognise that it is most undesirable that the survey should be made and the record prepared by a private servant of one party concerned, or by any one over whom the Settlement Officers have no adequate control.

"If Bihar zamindars and planters assist the Government in this matter, by registering their patwaris where none have yet been nominated and registered, and thus gratuitously procuring for them the requisite status, then the Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that the cost of the survey and initial record operations will be very greatly reduced, while the efficiency of the patwari as a village servant will be immensely increased by the experience and training in survey he will gratuitously receive. By this means it is not impossible that the cost may be reduced under one-half the present figure. This would be an enormous gain to landlords, tenants and all concerned. But if landlords and others do not help in this matter by coming forward and nominating their patwaris, so as to enable the survey authorities to work through registered patwaris, then, if the operations are to be successfully prosecuted, the Government has no resource left but to work through amins. (Of course the survey authorities will continue to work through amins until the registered patwaris are ready to take the amins' place.) In this alternative the objection based on the expensiveness of the survey, &c., will not lie at the door of the Government, but at the doors of those who, being under a legal obligation to nominate parwaris, abstain from doing this, and thereby impede the adoption of a procedure whereby the cost can be substantially reduced."

On this part of the subject, then, what we have to do is—

For purposes of survey—

(a) To make out a list of the villages in which survey operations have begun or are contemplated.

(b) To forward that list to the Collectors of the districts concerned, and ask them to take immediate steps under the Patwari Regulation to have patwaris registered for these villages. In the case of coparcenary villages, to which class most villages in Muzaffarpur are understood to belong, it may be necessary, as was observed by Sir Charles Elliott in the Resolution quoted above, to take action under section 5 of Regulation I of 1819.

(c) To train the patwaris so registered, if they need training, to survey.

(d) To employ the registered and trained patwaris in the survey and record operations instead of amins. Until the patwari is ready to take the professional amin's place, the latter must be kept on.

For purposes of subsequent maintainance of the Record, if we must act under Regulation XII, 1817—

(e) To request the Board to direct that the recording establishments shall for each village carefully enter the nature and amount of all and every payment customarily made by (a) rent-payers, (b) rent-receivers to, or for the services of, patwaris.

(f) To request the Board to prepare and submit a scheme for maintaining the record through the agency (i) of the registered patwari, and (ii) of such supervising staff of kanungos and Revenue officers as may be necessary. An estimate of the cost of this supervising establishment must be submitted at the same time. How it is to be provided will be a matter for subsequent consideration.

(g) To request the Board to consider, in communication with the Law officers, whether, having regard to the terms of sections XVIII and XX of Regulation XII of 1817, the Government has the power (a) of determining what the patwaris' salary shall be; (b) of laying down by whom and in what proportions it shall be paid, and (c) of requiring the parties, who are directed to pay such salary, to deposit it in a Government treasury in the manner contemplated in Rule XXI of the Board's Rules regarding patwaris in Bihar (section XIV, Revenue Officers' Manual, 1888).

(h) To request the Board generally to consider whether Regulation XII of 1817 is susceptible of any modifications (and if so what modifications) not inconsistent with its principles, whereby it may be made a more efficient instrument for maintaining the record of rights.

33. I now pass on to the consideration of the actual procedure of recording rights, and the cost of survey which is being incurred. With the method of survey I need not concern myself, though I shall later on make a few remarks regarding the subordinate agency and the establishment of permanent survey marks. The notifications that have hitherto been issued run as follows:—

"Under the powers conferred on him by section 101(1) of the Bengal Tenancy Act VIII of 1885, and with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to order that a survey shall be made and a record of rights prepared in respect to all lands included within the external boundaries of pargana in the district of

The particulars to be recorded in the survey and record of rights shall be the following:—

The name of each proprietor, with the character and extent of his interests.

The situation, quantity, and boundaries of proprietors' private lands, as defined in Chapter XI of the Act.

The name of each tenant.

The class to which he belongs, that is to say, whether he is a tenure-holder, raiyat holding at fixed rates, occupancy raiyat, non-occupancy raiyat or under-raiyat, and if he is a tenure-holder, whether he is a permanant tenure-holder or not, and whether his rent is liable to enhencement during the continuance of his tenure.

The situation, quantity, and boundaries of the land held by him.

The name of his landlord.

The rent payable.

The mode in which that rent has been fixed, whether by contract, by order of a court, or otherwise.

If the rent is a gradually increasing rent, the time at which, and the steps by which, it increases.

The special conditions and incidents, if any, of the tenancy."

34. This form of notification seems to me to be appropriate, and it should be continued. It will be noticed that it requires merely a record of existing facts, not a settlement of rents; and herein it agrees with the views held by the Board of Revenue in 1884 and by Mr. Collin in 1887, as stated in paragraphs 7 and 16 above. If either landlord or tenant applies for a settlement of rent, then under section 104(2) of the Tenancy Act the Revenue Officer is bound to settle the rent, but he should not attempt to settle rents in any other case. It has been, I understand, contended by a gentleman in Bihar, whose opinion must always carry weight with me, that the initial words of section 104(2) impose on the Revenue officer the duty of settling rent of his own motion "when it appears that a tenant is holding land in excess of or less than that for which he is paying rent." But in the first place the Act does not afford any rule or criterion by which the Revenue officer is to be guided in determining the area for which rent has been previously paid, unless it can be said that section 52(2) of the Act affords such a rule. And secondly, the contention here referred to amounts to saying that the Revenue officer is bound to take judicial notice of the landlord's measurement papers, a proposition which is on the face of it inadmissible.* It is clear, moreover, that this section deals with matters essentially for judicial decision, and I think therefore it will be prudent for Revenue officers not to attempt to settle rents, except on the application of either the landlord or the tenant. I am very indisposed to adopt any course which may have the effect of enhancing, through Revenue officers rents in Bihar, where, if the fullest enquiries are to be trusted, rents are often too high. I am anxious to leave this question of fixing fair rents to the civil courts, in which, carefully controlled as they are by the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court, I have confidence; but if the Settlement Officers are compelled by a judicial interpretation of section 104(2) of the Tenancy Act to consider suo motu the question of rent enhancement on the ground of excess area, then I shall probably apply to the Governor-General in Council for the general power under section 112 of the Act to reduce rents which are unfair and inequitable (a power not conferrable on the Civil Courts). Thus a settlement which shall not be one-sided, but fair to all parties concerned, may be made.

* On this point see the very important decision of the High Court, dated 30th May 1892. Gouree Patro versus Manager, Burdwan Raj Estate.

35. When the facts of the holdings, &c., have been recorded, an extract of the record (parcha) should invariably be furnished to each tenant. I attach the highest importance to this. It is essential that the tenant should be in a position to know, before attestation, what has been entered regarding his holding, in order that at attestation he may, if necessary, object to any wrong entry. It is essential that people should not be taken by surprise, but that they should have ample time to consider the proposed entries affecting them before they became final.

36. Attestation is, so far as the raiyat is concerned, the most important link in the chain, and I must insist on the entries of area, rental and status made in the record of rights being attested with special care by a Revenue officer of gazetted rank. I must absolutely prohibit attestation of such entries by muharrirs or any subordinate officers whatever. A Sub-Deputy Collector is the lowest grade officer whom I would entrust with the duty, and the Sub-Deputies so entrusted should be picked men. If we are to make a record, no pains should be spared to make it an authentic statement of the facts. I should say that in an area where the disputes about existing rents and status are few, a competent officer should be able to attest the khatians for from 250 to 300 tenants in a working day.

37. The cost of the operations is at present high, and if we are not able to use registered patwaris for survey and khasra writing, I fear it will tend to increase. So far as I can gather at present, the—

		Rs.
Traverse survey costs		40 per sq. mile.
Cadastral survey and "khanapuri" (estimated)	...	170 „
Attestation, publication and settlement (estimated)	...	160 „
Total	...	370

The ways in which this cost can be reduced are (a) employment of patwaris instead of amins, on their customary and statutory duty of surveying, (b) invoking the voluntary assistance of the raiyats and others interested in the measurement of their own fields, (c) making no settlements of rents unless required to do so by landlord or tenant, (d) employing as few muharrirs as possible to write parchas and help in making the "khanpuri." The reduction of expenditure depends so much on attention to details that I can give no more precise indications as to sources of possible economies; but the expenditure is so much higher than I was accustomed to in the Central Provinces, that I have, with the premission of the Government of India and the consent of the Chief Commissioner of Central Provinces, decided to arrange for the deputation of the Officiating Commissioner of Settlements, Mr. Carey, and a selected Settlement Officer, to consult with Colonel Sandeman and Mr. Macpherson on the whole question of expenditure, which depends to a very great extent on a careful consideration of a multitude of details and their relative adjustments.

38. In the matter of survey marks, I would say that the fewer permanent marks we have the better. They are a great trouble and expense to examine and maintain. I would have no marks except on triple junction points, unless a flag raised at one such point cannot be seen from the next adjacent point. In that case, an intermediate mark is necessary. I understand Colonel Sandeman agrees to this.

39. In addition to prosecuting operations in the parganas in the Hajipur sub-division of Muzaffarpur and in the tappas of the Bettiah sub-division of Champaran already under survey, it is proposed next season to begin work in two areas of 500 square miles each in Muzaffarpur, in one area of similar extent in Saran, in one area of similar extent in Champaran, and in 500 square miles of the Tikari Ward's Estate in Gaya. The Saran area belongs to the Maharaja of Hutwa, and the Champaran area belongs in great part to the Bettiah Estate, managed by Mr. Gibbon. If the Maharaja of Hutwa and Mr. Gibbon give assistance, there ought to be no difficulty at all in registering patwaris in these areas and subsequently training them. The amins would then be got rid of and the expenses of survey probably reduced by one-half. In the Tikari Estate in Gaya, which is under the Court of Wards, there will be no difficulty. In other estates the rapid and smooth progress of operations cannot be so certainly counted on, the Bihar zamindars being, as I have said, jealous of the exercise by the Government of control over patwaris, and anxious that the latter should become zamindari servants absolutely. It is said that the Bihar patwari is wholly untrustworthy, and I myself have not painted him in very flattering colours. But the patwaris in other provinces were probably as bad before they were taken well in hand, and there have been cases in which the denunciations of even the Bihar patwari were due to his not being as pliant an instrument as the denouncer wished. At all events the patwari, be his character what it may, is at the present moment a power in Bihar: and if the zamindars refuse to meet us in some such way as that indicated in paragraph 27, it will be for us to see, before throwing up the sponge, whether we cannot make him a power for good instead of for evil.

40. I have forwarded this Minute to the Board of Revenue for any remarks they might wish to offer: and I annex their observations on it. I am gratified to find that both Members are in complete accord with the opinions I have expressed.

A. P. MACDONNELL,

Officiating Lieutenant-Governor.

DARJEELING,
The 24th June 1893.

APPENDIX A.

Outlines of Mr. Finucane's scheme referred to in paragraph 26 of the Minute for provision of establishment for maintenance of records of survey and record of rights and of village accounts.

1. A Government servant to be appointed for each circle or number of villages containing an area with about sixteen thousand rupees rental, which in Bihar would cover about ten square miles.

2. This officer to be called munserim patwari, to receive a salary of from Rs. 15 to Rs. 20 a month, to possess the attainments of an amin or the like qualifications.

3. The duties of the munserim Government patwari would be—

(a) to receive from the zamindars at stated times a statement showing the changes to be made year by year in the survey records. This would practically be the khasra rewritten for plots in which any change in occupancy occurred;

(b) to receive from the zamindar a jama-wasil-baki or other account showing the realization from each raiyat year by year.

4. The zamindar would make his own arrangement for keeping his own and his raiyats' accounts, and would simply make over to the Government patwari copies of such accounts as may be prescribed for record and attestation.

5. The Government patwari on receipt of the zamindar's jama-wasil-baki would visit the villages of his circles, explain to the raiyats the amounts shown by the zamindar as realized, ask them if the amounts thus shown are correct. If the raiyat admits their correctness, the fact would be noted; if he denies their correctness, the Government patwari would make a note of the raiyat's allegation on the jama-wasil-baki, but would not attempt to decide which allegation, whether the raiyat's or zamindar's, is correct. The jama-wasil-baki would thus be a record of the contemporaneous allegations of both parties, and might be made admissible in evidence in suits between landlord and tenant as such and nothing more. Further, the munserim patwari would compare the amounts entered in the receipts held by the raiyats with the amounts shown by the zamindars as realized from them. If he found a discrepancy, he would content himself with explaining to the raiyat that he ought not to pay rent without obtaining a receipt, and with warning him that if he persists in being foolish enough to do so, he must put with the consequences.

6. As regards agricultural statistics, the Government patwaris need not trouble the zamindars at all They would simply go on the land with the maps in their hands and make out for themselves any statistics of cultivated area or the like which may be required.

7. Over every ten of these munserim patwaris a kanungo at Rs. 50 to be appointed.

8. Over five kanungos, that is to say, over an area of about 500 square miles a Deputy Collector.

9. After these officers had been at work for a short time in this way, supervised and controlled as they would be by the kanungo and the Deputy Collector, it is to be reasonably supposed that raiyats would take care to obtain receipts for all payments made by them, and that after a short time they would not make any payment without first obtaining a receipt.

There would then be no reason why the peripatetic Deputy Collector should not be vested with powers of a civil court, or even with summary powers for disposal of rent-suits.

In this way a rent-suit would resolve itself into this: the rent payable by the raiyat is known from the settlement records. If a zamindar alleges an arrear to be due from a raiyat, the raiyat may be asked to produce his receipts to show he has paid the amount due of him: should he fail to do so, the Deputy Collector would give a decree.

10. The present staff of patwaris (or such of them as are not required for Government service) to be made zamindars' servants to be retained or dismissed at the pleasure of the zamindar.

11 A cess of half an anna in the rupee would meet the expenses of the requisite establishment; of this one-half should be paid by the zamindars, the other half by the raiyats, as the former would derive quite as much benefit from the successful working of the scheme as the latter.

12. The cess would only be realized and the Bill would only apply where a survey and record of rights has been made.

13. For other parts of the country, the zamindars may be made responsible for the supply of such information or agricultural statistics as Government may reasonably require and prescribe, but they could make their own arrangements for obtaining such informations.

No. $\frac{1704}{174}$, dated Simla, the 24th July 1893.

From—Sir E. C. Buck, Kt., c.s.i., Secretary to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

In reply to your letter No. 748T.R., dated 6th July 1893, on the subject of providing for the maintenance of the land-record in Bihar by a cess, I am desired to communicate the following remarks and instructions.

2. The minute recorded by His Honour the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor contains a clear history of the correspondence which has taken place in respect to the maintenance of the record. As indicated by Sir A. MacDonnell, the Government of India have persistently urged that arrangements must sooner or later be made for maintaining it, and the survey was only sanctioned on the understanding that action would be taken in this respect as soon as the scheme sketched in the final paragraph of Sir Charles Elliott's letter No. 883L.R. of 9th July 1891 had received detailed consideration.

3. Like Sir A. MacDonnell, the Government of India would have preferred that the method and means for maintaining the record should have been decided before the survey commenced; but in view of the consideration urged in their letter No. 2135 of the 18th September 1891, that the survey itself was a task which from its magnitude and importance was not likely to be successfully undertaken by a Lieutenant-Governor whose term of office was drawing to a close, they apprehended that if operations were deferred until a complete scheme for the maintenance of the record had been prepared and sanctioned, the entire project might be indefinitely postponed. It seemed possible, indeed, that if a beginning were not made in 1892, a further period of inaction would set in, ending perhaps in the abandonment of the whole undertaking.

4. As matters now stand, the Governor-General in Council is fully alive to the necessity of urgent action, and desires that his thanks may be conveyed to Sir A. MacDonnell for the energetic manner in which he has taken up the subject. I am to convey the assurances of the Government of India that they will give every support in their power to His Honour in any measures which may be shown to be really necessary for the accomplishment of an object which they have always urged to be an inevitable adjunct to the survey, and will, if funds can be provided in no other way, be prepared to recommend to Her Majesty's Secretary of State the imposition on the landholders of a cess within the limits indicated in Sir A. MacDonnell's minute.

5. His Excellency in Council is glad to observe that in some of its leading features Sir A. MacDonnell's scheme is in accordance with that sketched in Sir Charles Elliott's letter of 1891. In both schemes the inspection and correction of the record is to be effected by a special staff of kanungos or land inspectors; in both the circle of each inspector, or in other words, the unit of area, is to be 20 square miles; and in both the correction of the record is to be confined to the entry of facts and is in no way to deal with the collection or settlement of rents. The important point of difference is that in the scheme of 1891 the funds were to be raised by mutation fees, while it is now proposed that they be provided by a cess.

6. It seems probable that, as elsewhere in India, the amount which can be raised by fees for mutations will not, in any case, provide a sufficient amount to meet the cost of all establishments. But it would seem desirable that before finally determining the amount required to be raised by cess, steps should be taken to ascertain what funds can be realised by the system of compulsory mutation adopted in the revenue codes of other provinces, and whether any economies can be effected by the utilisation of the special staff for registering assurances. On these questions the Government of India will await your opinion.

The Conservator of Forests, School Circle, North-Western Provinces, will ordinarily be Director of the School. The Deputy Director and two Instructors are officers of the Indian Forest Service on the Imperial List. The Vernacular Instructor is an officer of the Provincial Forest Service, also on the Imperial List.

3. The Director of the School is charged with (1) the general administration of the institution, including the regulation of the course of study under the arrangements prescribed by the Board of Control, subject to the sanction of the Government of India; (2) the supervision of the School buildings, quarters and gardens; (3) the control of the accounts, and the conduct of correspondence.

4. Courses.—There are two courses—one in English, the other in the Hindustani language. Each course lasts 21 months. The English course is that followed by the "Upper Class;" the Hindustani course that followed by the "Lower Class." The first year's students are called "Juniors," the second year's students "Seniors." In the English course students are prepared for the certificate in Forestry by the "Higher Standard;" in the Hindustani course for that by the "Lower Standard."

The subjects taught in these courses are the following, described in the School syllabuses:—

6. Examinations.—The School examinations are—

1. Monthly, to test progress and application.
2. Final.

The Monthly Examinations are usually held on the last two working days of each month as the Director may order. The marks obtained at these examinations are counted for one-fourth of the aggregate at the Final.

The Final Examinations are held in March of the second year, and the marks then obtained count for three-fourths of the aggregate.

7. Certificates.—There are two certificates obtainable in each class after the final examinations: a "pass" certificate and a "honours" certificate. The former is granted to students who obtain over 50 per cent. of the aggregate marks allotted to all subjects, provided this includes 50 per cent. of the marks allowed for each of the subjects of Forestry, Botany, Surveying, and Engineering. The latter is granted to students who obtain over 75 per cent. of the aggregate marks allotted to all subjects, including over 50 per cent. in each individual subject. These certificates are only granted on the orders of the Board of Control, who have authority to exercise their discretion in doubtful cases.

8. Prizes.—The School medals are awarded by order of the Board of Control, but only if "honour" marks (75 per cent.) have been obtained. Other prizes, whether given by Government or other donors, are also awarded by the Board of Control.

9. Should any student of the three categories enumerated in Rule 11 be unable (a) to appear at the final examinations, or, having appeared, (b) fail to pass those examinations, he will not be permitted to appear at any subsequent final examination, unless he follows a second time the whole course of instruction at the School, or, at the discretion of the Director, the second year's course.

Section II.—Admission Rules.

10. The total number of students of each class who can be admitted into the School each year will be limited to such number as the Board of Control may decide, from time to time, can be accommodated in the School. The number of studentships to be allotted each year to the respective Provinces, as well as the number of nominations to be made by the Director, will, with due regard to the total prescribed by the Board of Control, be decided by the Director of the School before the 1st of January, after consultation with the Provincial authorities as to their requirements, and communicated to the Local Governments concerned.

A.—Upper Class.

11. There are three categories of students in the Upper Class—
(1) Private Students.
(2) Students already in the Government service.
(3) Students deputed by Native States.

12. Private Students comprise all those students who are at present without appointments in any Forest Service, and whose object it is, by becoming possessors of Forest School certificates, to obtain employment, either in the Forest Service of the Government of India, or in that of a Native State or some other owner of forest property.

(i) Candidates for admission to the Forest School as private students must not be less than 18 or more than 25 years of age, and their applications must be sent to a Conservator of Forests* through a Divisional Forest Officer of rank not below that of an Assistant Conservator of the 1st grade, or through a Collector or other district officer. Neither the Conservator, the Divisional Forest Officer, nor the Collector need belong to the forest circle or province in which the candidate seeks employment; but Divisional Forest Officers and Collectors may not forward to Conservators applications unsupported by the five certificates enumerated below, namely—

* Conservator of Forests, Bengal Circle, at Darjeeling.

(c) A health certificate in the form prescribed by article 61 of the Civil Service Regulations, signed by the Civil Surgeon of the district in which the said Divisional Forest Officer's or Collector's duties lie, and testifying to the candidate's sound constitution, good vision and hearing, and general physical fitness for a rough out-door life in the Forest Department.

(d) A certificate of respectability and good moral character from two or more persons, whose social or official position can be accepted as a guarantee of reliableness.

(e) A certificate from an officer of the Educational Department, of a rank not less than that of a Deputy-Inspector of Schools or the Head-master of a High School under public management, to the effect that the candidate's education appears sufficiently good to give hopes of his being able to pass the entrance examination.

The last three certificates must bear date not further back than the 1st October of the year preceding that in which the candidate proposes to present himself at the entrance examination.

If any person giving certificates as above under (c), (d) and (e) is in a position to mention anything more to the credit of the candidate than the certificates actually call for, he may do so.

(ii) Upon the receipt by the Conservator of any application in respect to which the preceding conditions shall have been observed, that officer may either accept or reject the application, without assigning any reason for so doing; or he may require the candidate to produce other or better certificates in person before him.

† 'Native of India' means any person born and domiciled within the dominions of Her Majesty in India, or within the territories of Indian Princes tributary to or in alliance with Her Majesty, of parents habitually resident in India, and not established there for temporary purposes only. (Article 45, Civil Service Regulations.)

(iii) Conservators may, at their option, test the fitness of a candidate who desires to enter the service of Government by practical work in the forests.

(iv) Those candidates who have been approved by the Conservator will be permitted, under his recommendation, to appear at the next entrance examination for the Forest School held in his circle.

(v) The Entrance Examination is held early in March each year, on such date as may be fixed by the Director, both at the Imperial Forest School and at such centres as may be fixed from time to time by Local Governments, and under such officers—Educational, Revenue, Forest or other—as may be appointed: provided that the date shall be communicated by the Director to Local Governments and Conservators on or before 1st January. The subjects of examination are—

		Minima pass marks.
1.	English { Conversation	50 per cent.
	{ Composition	33 „
2.	Arithmetic	40 „
3.	Algebra, up to and including quadratic equations ...	40 „
4.	Elements of Euclid, Books I to IV and Book VI ...	25 „
5.	Mensuration—lengths, areas and volumes, with examples	25 „

The examination papers on the above subjects will be forwarded by the Director, in sealed covers, to such officials as the Local Governments may direct, in the month preceding the examination.

(vi) A local Government may lay down rules under which the number of candidates allotted under Rule 10 to the Province for admission into the school shall be selected from the number of passed candidates. In such rules due regard must be had to the place taken in the examination, but the Local Government shall not be debarred from preferring, for good and sufficient reasons, a passed candidate who may have taken a lower place in the list to one higher on the list; provided that the Director may, after inspection of the papers of the selected candidates, place before the Local Government an objection to the admission of any of such candidates on the ground that he is below the required standard.

(vii) The Local Government may, if it thinks fit, exempt from the entrance examination any candidate who is a Bachelor of Arts, or who has obtained a degree or diploma of about the same standard, at any University in India or in the United Kingdom or in a British Colony, or at any educational institution to which the Government of India may extend the privilege: provided that such degree or diploma shall not give such candidate a preferential claim over any candidates who have passed the entrance examination, and who may appear more eligible for the Forest Service.

(viii) Prior to the admission of a student, his parents or guardians must satisfy the Director that they are willing and able to defray the expenses of the student at the School. These expenses are estimated to be not less than Rs. 735 for each student living in native fashion, and Rs. 945 in the case of those living in European fashion (vide Rule 21). Of these sums, parents or guardians must deposit with the Director, before the course commences, a sum of Rs. 126 in the case of native students, and Rs. 168 in the case of European students, to meet the initial cost of uniform, books, instruments, stationery and camp-equipage (vide Rule 18), and in addition Rs. 50 as caution-money.

(ix) Local Governments may, on the recommendation of a Conservator or of the Director, and in exceptional cases, allow selected private students who have passed the entrance examination a monthly stipend not exceeding Rs. 50, to assist them through the School course; provided that such selected private students previously execute an agreement binding themselves to serve the Local Government concerned (in the event of their obtaining the school certificate) for a period of not less than five years (vide Rule 17). Such monthly stipend may, in case of misconduct or unsatisfactory progress at the School, be reduced or altogether withdrawn at the discretion of the Director.

(x) The names of those private students who succeed in obtaining the School certificate will be entered by the Director in a register to be kept for that purpose, and the Conservators of those circles, in which the non-stipendiary private students may severally desire or be willing to serve, will be addressed by him with the view of obtaining appointments for such students. The Conservators concerned will for this purpose be furnished with the original certificates already referred to in clause (i) of this rule, the School certificates and such other useful information, more especially regarding the physical qualifications of the students, as the Director may be in a position to furnish.

(xi) A list of private students, who may not succeed in obtaining appointments, will be forwarded by the Director to the Inspector-General of Forests, who will circulate the list amongst Durbars, Conservators, and other persons likely to be in need of the services of trained forest officials.

(xii) The appointment to the service of Government of passed private students depends on the existence of vacancies in the various circles, and even a stipendiary student has no claim to such appointment.

13. Candidates in the Government Service, who may be deputed to the School, will ordinarily be either—

(a) members of the Provincial Service (Forest Rangers) who desire to qualify themselves for further promotion in their own or to a higher class; or

(b) members of the Subordinate Service (Foresters and other subordinate officials) similarly desirous of qualifying for promotion.

(i) Forest Rangers may be deputed by Local Governments, provided the candidates are certified by the Conservator under whom they are serving to possess sufficient knowledge of English and general education and ability to enable them to profit by the course. Such officers may be above 25 years of age, and need not pass the entrance examination. While at the School they will draw the pay of their grade, and the travelling allowances to which they may be entitled under the Civil Service Regulations.

(ii) Officers of the Subordinate Service may be deputed by Local Governments, provided that—

(a) they have been in that service for not less than three years;
(b) they have passed the School entrance examination;
(c) they are under 25 years of age;
(d) they have executed the formal agreement referred to in Rule 17.

Such officers will, while at the School, draw the pay and travelling allowances of their grade in the service; provided that the total amount sanctioned to meet the cost of their training, inclusive of travelling expenses, shall not be less than Rs. 735 in the case of students living in the native style, and Rs. 945 in the case of students living in European fashion (vide Rule 21).

14. Students deputed by Native States may be admitted on the request of the State concerned; provided that—

(a) they have passed the entrance examination of the School;
(b) they have produced the certificates required for admission, specified in Rule 12 (i).

The Durbars of Native States sending students to the School shall, before the beginning of each term, or of each year if preferred, deposit with the Director a sum sufficient to meet the expenses of the students. This sum, for the whole course, must not be less than Rs. 735 for students living in native fashion, and Rs. 945 for those living in European fashion (vide Rule 21).

B.—Lower Class.

15. There are also three categories of students in the Lower Class—

(c) Students deputed by Native States.

The rules for admission to the Lower Class are the same as those detailed in Rules 12, 13, and 14 for admission to the Upper Class, with the following exceptions:—

(i) Instead of the Entrance Examination, the candidate must furnish a certificate of having passed the Middle Class Examination in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, or an equivalent standard in another province, as well as a certificate that he possesses a competent knowledge of Hindustani.

(ii) The cost of training will not be less than Rs. 588 (vide Rule 21) for the whole course of 21 months.

(iii) The required deposit will be Rs. 84, and the caution-money Rs. 25.

C.—General.

16. No student of European or Eurasian extraction, not already in the permanent employment of Government or of a Native State, shall be admitted into the Forest School if he is married; nor shall any such student, whether in the permanent employment of Government or of a Native State or not, marry whilst at the School or until he has joined a permanent appointment. A breach of this rule will render the student liable to dismissal from the School, or to forfeiture of any appointment in the Forest Service which may have been promised to him, or to which he may otherwise have a claim.

17. Agreement and Security Bond.—Officers of the Subordinate Service, deputed to the School by Local Governments under Rules 13 (ii) and 15, shall execute a formal agreement—the sureties for the fulfilment of which should be men of position and means—to continue in the Forest Service of the Local Government concerned for a period of not less than five years after passing out of the Forest School, and on such rates of pay as may be in accordance with the existing organisation of the Department. A breach of this condition will render the defaulter and his sureties liable for the refund of the entire cost of the student's education at the School. The agreement and security bond shall be in the appended forms, and must be executed before the student is admitted to the School. The agreement will be signed by the student and, if he is a minor, by his father or guardian also; the bond by the student and two sureties. The amount of security to be taken will be—

		Rs.
For a Lower Class student	... ...	600
„ an Upper Class student	Native	750
	European	1,000

The agreement and security bond need not be stamped.

The same rule shall apply to private students who may be granted stipends under Rule 12 (ix), subject, however, to the proviso of Rule 12 (xii). Should any such student not be appointed to the Forest Service of Government at the end of his School course, his agreement and security bond will be returned to him.

18. Uniform, book, and camp allowances.—The Director is authorised to make deductions from the pay of Forest Ranger students under Rule 13 (i), or of students of the Subordinate Service under Rules 13 (ii) and 15, or from the stipends of private students under Rules 12 (ix) and 15, to the following amounts :—

			Rs.		Rs.
Lower Class students		...	4	monthly, or	84	in all
Upper Class students	Native	...	6	„ „	126	„
	European	...	8	„ „	168	„

in order to meet the following items of initial expenditure, viz.:—

	Upper Class.		Lower Class.
	Native.	European.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Uniform and equipment	20	50	20
Books and instruments	60	60	24
Camp outfit	46	58	40
Total ...	126	168	84

The Director will charge off in his accounts such portions of the above as may be necessary from time to time to meet expenditure on the items mentioned, until the whole of the amounts are exhausted, after which the student will be required to pay in cash for articles supplied.

19. Travelling allowances of private students in receipt of stipends.—Students holding stipends from Local Governments under Rule 12 (ix) are not entitled to travelling allowance; but as the tours entail greater expenditure in some months than in others, the Director is authorised to make a further monthly deduction from their stipends of Rs. 5 from Upper Class Native students and Rs. 7 from Upper Class Europeans students, and to disburse the amounts in the following manner :—

	Native students.	European students.
	Rs.	Rs.
Monthly travelling allowances { November-May, 1st year. / November-March, 2nd year. }	4	8
Or for 12 months ...	48	96
Special additional allowance for Hill tour ...	22	16
„ „ for Punjab tour ...	35	35
Total ...	105	147

20. Should the Conservator of a Circle from which any Government student of the Subordinate Service is deputed to the School, under Rule 13 (ii), prefer it, he can, subject to the orders of his Government, authorise the Director to pay travelling allowance to such student at the rates given in Rule 19, instead of at the rates allowed by the Civil Service Regulations. And in the case of Lower Class Government students, deputed to the School under Rule 15, he may similarly authorise the payment of travelling allowance at the following rates, instead of the rates permissible under the Civil Service Regulations :—

	Rs.
Monthly travelling allowance at Rs. 4	48
Special hill tour allowance	16
„ Punjab tour allowance	20

which rates are equivalent to a permanent travelling allowance of Rs. 4 per month for the whole course.

21. Estimated expense of training.—It has been calculated that, in addition to the amounts specified in Rule 18 for cost of uniform, books, &c., and camp equipment, and in Rules 19 and 20 for travelling, the minimum monthly subsistence money for students comes to Rs. 20, 24, and 30, respectively; so that the minimum pay and travelling allowances of Government students under Rule 13 (ii), and the minimum stipends for stipendiary students under Rule 12 (ix), should not be less than Rs. 35 and Rs. 45, respectively, nor should the minimum pay and travelling allowances of Lower Class students (Rule 15) be less than Rs. 28. Thus, the minimum cost of training will be as follows:—

	Lower Class.	Upper Class.
		Native.	European.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Subsistence money	20	24	30
Uniform, books, and camp outfit	4	6	8
Travelling allowance	4	5	7
Total per mensem ...	28	35	45
Or for the 21 months of the course ...	588	735	945

The same amounts should be taken as minima in calculating the allowances to be deposited on account of students from Native States under Rules 14 and 15, or provided by parents and guardians for the cost of training of private students.

Section III.—Disciplinary Rules.

22. Quarters.—The Director will allot to students, on their arrival in Dehra, such quarters as may be available in the School buildings or in the houses rented by him for students' accommodation. The School quarters are tenable during the whole period of the students' course, and the rent is Rs. 2 monthly for each student, or Rs. 4 for each room. Students for whom there is no accommodation in quarters or in houses rented by the Director, or who may prefer it, can, with the permission of the Director, reside in the town in lodgings selected by themselves; but in that case the Director will accept no responsibility for the rent.

All students, living in quarters or in the rented houses, are expected to abide by such orders as the Director may issue from time to time for the purpose of ensuring cleanliness and sanitation.

No dogs are allowed in quarters, nor may dogs or horses be brought inside the School grounds.

Breakages of furniture, etc., in the quarters or School buildings must be paid for by the students. Students are responsible for the acts of their servants.

23. Uniform.—All students must wear the School uniform, which consists of a suit of khaki drill with white-metal buttons, and a grey turban of prescribed pattern, for the hot weather, and of khaki serge with similar buttons for the cold weather and camp. Those students who become members of the Dehra Dun Mounted Rifles are, however, permitted to wear the undress uniform of the corps, which also consists of a suit of khaki drill, of pattern similar to that of the School. Students who are Volunteers will wear, as head-dress, a brown shikar hat while at the School, and the regular corps helmet when on parade. Native students may dispense with turbans, or wear other head-dress, only with the Director's special permission. Uniform must always be worn inside the School building. It must also be worn in the School grounds up to 5 P.M.

24. Uniform and Camp Equipment.—The uniform of members of the Dehar Dun Mounted Rifles may be obtained through the corps staff; that of other students through the Storekeeper of the School, on the Director's order. As camp equipment each student requires—

(1) A small tent, not larger than 10 feet × 8 feet.
(2) A camp bed.
(3) A small camp table.
(4) A camp chair or "morah."

These articles are made at the School and issued at cost price to students.

25. Books and Instruments.—The list of books and instruments required by each student will be published by the Director from time to time. The articles must be purchased from the Director, who endeavours to obtain them of the best quality procurable, consistent with cheapness. No article will, however, be issued by the Storekeeper, except (a) on order of the Director, or (b) on cash payment.

Copies of the Forest Acts and Forest Code, as also surveying instruments and herbarium presses, are issued on loan, and students using them will be responsible for their safe custody and return.

26. Leave.—During the course of instruction, no student may leave Dehra without the written order of the Director. Nor may students, while in camp, leave the camp headquarters without the written order of the Deputy Director or the Instructor in charge. Subsidiary rules regarding leave will be made by the Director from time to time.

27. Holidays.—During the rains term, Saturday will usually be observed as a holiday or devoted to excursions. In camp, it will ordinarily be a half-holiday. Such of the usual gazetted holidays as are allowed will be notified as such from time to time.

28. Punishments.—Students are liable to the following punishments :—

(1) Reprimand by the teacher in class.

(2) Reprimand by the Director or the Deputy Director at any time.

(3) Reprimand before a meeting, convened by the Director, of not less than three School officers, one of whom must be either the Director or the Deputy Director. The proceedings of the meeting will be reported to the Conservator or the Native State deputing the student, or to his parents or guardians if he is a private student; and, if the meeting so decides, a note of them will be made on his final certificate.

(4) The Director, acting with the consensus of the meeting referred to under (3), has power to inflict, in addition, a fine to the extent of one-third of the salary or allowances of the student for a period not exceeding three months.

(5) The Director, acting with the consensus of a full meeting of the School officers presided over by himself, has power to dismiss any student for misconduct; and a student thus dismissed cannot be re-admitted to the School. The Director may remand any student who, in his opinion, is not sufficiently promising.

29. Monthly Reports.—A progress report on the work of each student will be issued monthly by the Director. It will record the number of marks obtained by the student at the last monthly examination, his application to his studies, and his conduct generally. It will be sent, for Government students or private students in receipt of stipends, to the Conservator of the Circle from which the student is deputed; for Native State students, to such person as the Durbar may direct; and for ordinary private students, to the parent or guardian concerned.

30. Library.—The books in the School Library are available for the use of students under such rules as the Director may make from time to time. Books of reference must be consulted in the library itself, and no books may be taken away except after application to the librarian and entry in a register.

31. Museum.—The Museum and Herbarium are also available for the use of students; but the objects in the museum may not be handled or removed without the express permission of the Director or the Deputy Director. Permission to consult the herbarium may be obtained from the Director or the Deputy Director, but the plants must be kept in their order as arranged, and no sheets removed or altered without permission.

32. Athletic Sports.—The gymnasium and the tennis-courts will be available for the use of students during all recreation hours on week-days. Cricket and football may be played on the old parade ground. Students are recommended to join the School Athletic Club, the subscription to which is Rs. 4 yearly, and half-rates for those who do not play all the games.

Forms of Agreement and Bond to be executed by students already in the service of, or in receipt of stipends from, Government, previous to entry into the Forest School, Dehra Dun.

No. $\frac{2634}{51}$.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department (Museums and Exhibitions),—dated Simla, the 4th August 1893.

READ—

Letter dated 21st June 1893 from the Consul-General for Belgium, Bombay, intimating that an International Exhibition will be held at Antwerp between the months of May and November 1894, and inviting the co-operation of the Government of India.

RESOLUTION.

THE Consul-General has been informed that the Governor-General in Council regrets that financial considerations prevent any extensive contributions being furnished by the Government of India itself. Arrangements will, however, be made by the Reporter on Economic Products to contribute a collection of products either likely to be useful to Indo-Belgian trade or calculated to attract Belgian capital to India. A small grant of money will be allowed for the freight of this collection and of such articles as may be provided by private exhibitors and approved by the Reporter on Economic Products. The Inspector-General of Forests has also been instructed to arrange for a collection of forest products and timbers which are likely to find a demand on the Continent. As regards the representation of artware, one of the leading dealers in Indian art manufactures has been informed that if he is prepared to exhibit a collection of such manufactures the space required at the Exhibition will be provided at the cost of Government.

Mr. E. Thurston, Officiating Reporter on Economic Products, has been placed in charge of arrangements so far as the participation by the Government of India in the Exhibition is concerned. But the general conduct of arrangements for representation of Indian exhibitors will be undertaken by the Consul-General, Bombay, and by the Indian Consular Agents for Belgium at Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, Karachi and Rangoon, and intending exhibitors should apply to them for any information which they may require.

ORDER.—Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India for general information, and that copies be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations with a request that the above information regarding the Exhibition may be notified in the local Gazettes.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF JULY 1893.

A VERY noticeable feature of the pressure arrangement during July has been the displacement of the trough of low pressure towards the north. This trough usually extends from the head of the Bay in a north-westerly direction, and when it occupies its normal position there is a free easterly air current up the plane of the Ganges. During the past month it has very frequently been close to the foot of the hills, and then, instead of the easterly winds in North Bengal and Bihar, directions have been westerly. As in that case the wind blows from the Central Provinces, the air is not so highly saturated with moisture, and under ordinary circumstances gives very little rain to the districts where westerly winds prevail.

In the light of these remarks it appears easy to account for the great variation of rainfall during July in the various districts, with the exception of North Bihar, where the very heavy falls are not so easily dealt with. The strength of the monsoon current crossing the Burma and Bengal coasts is very little affected by the position of the trough of low pressure till the current is well inland. Instead of moving westward across North Bengal when the trough is near the hills, the pressure distribution bars its progress, and whether because of interference of two different air currents, or because the moist current from the Bay is forced upward, there is under these circumstances much more precipitation of moisture in North Bengal and the adjoining districts of East Bengal and Assam.

During the past month these conditions have obtained very frequently. Rainfall has been scanty in Orissa and South-West Bengal, normal in East Bengal, and much above the normal in North Bengal and North Bihar. The large average excess in North Bengal is, as stated above, due to the monsoon current undergoing the check to its westward progress over that part of the province. The almost as large excess of 6¼ inches in North Bihar is probably due to the monsoon current moving westwards at a higher level, gradually descending as it gets further west. That this is possible is shown by the excess rainfall in the various districts of North Bihar with the exception of Champaran. Excess gradually diminishes from 77 per cent. of the normal fall in Purneah to 51 in Bhagalpur, 40 in Darbhanga and Muzaffarpur and only 4 in Saran. The large excess of 113 per cent. in Champaran is probably due to local conditions. The rainfall in Chota Nagpur and South Bihar is about 2 inches above the normal, a small excess, which is probably due to these districts being partly affected by the conditions which determined the defect in Orissa and the larger excess in North Bihar.

Another noteworthy circumstance in connection with the general weather conditions is the almost entire absence of depressions in the north of the Bay. An important disturbance developed over Lower Bengal at the end of June, but by the beginning of July the normal distribution of pressure prevailed. There was little change up till the 15th, when a shallow depression again formed over Lower Bengal and practically disappeared on the following day. Another and somewhat deeper depression formed on the 29th in the north-west angle of the Bay, where it remained till the end of the month, developing slowly and causing much steeper gradients towards the south, a cyclonic circulation over the Bay and the province, and stronger winds.

At the beginning of the month pressure was in excess by more than a tenth of an inch in Lower Bengal and the west of Bihar, while readings were practically normal in North Bengal and Assam. A low pressure area lay along the foot of the Himalayas, and winds were westerly in all districts. From the 2nd to the 4th heavy rain fell in Bihar, North Bengal and East Bengal. Owing to a steady fall of pressure which then commenced, the distribution of pressure became normal by the 5th, and the usual south-easterly winds prevailed except in Orissa and South-West Bengal. Pressure fell briskly in the northern districts on the 10th, the trough of low pressure moved close to the hills and westerly winds again prevailed. As before, heavy rain was reported from North Bengal, but especially Rangpur, Jalpaiguri and Kuch Bihar. At the same time there was a high pressure area over the north-west of the Bay and the adjacent country, which was attended in these parts by fine and almost rainless weather. Up till the 13th there was little change, but then pressure began to fall in Lower Bengal, and the shallow depression mentioned above began to form. Local storms occurred in the south of the province, and rainfall became lighter in the northern districts. The cyclonic circulation continued for two or three days, but by the 16th normal pressure and wind circulation were established. General rain fell for some days with the heaviest falls in the western districts. Up till the 21st no change of importance took place, and almost general rain was falling. On the 22nd, however, a further extension of the westerly winds took place over the province, accompanied by a distinct area of relatively high pressure in the south-western districts. With this change the area of heavy rainfall was shifted towards the east and north, and conditions became unfavourable for rain in Orissa and South-West Bengal. "On the 24th there was a general fall of pressure over the province, and the distribution became rather more normal than it had been, but south-westerly winds still prevailed in most districts. On the 25th pressure again fell in Orissa, and partly in the southern districts, while it was rising elsewhere, particularly in Bihar, so that the area of high pressure in the extreme west of the province tended to re-establish itself. This was succeeded on the 26th by a further rather rapid and general increase of pressure, and a decided area of comparatively high pressure again covered the western half of the province, and this area gradually extended on the 27th and 28th until it reached South-East Bengal; but on the 29th a moderate fall of pressure commenced, tending to partially efface this abnormal distribution of pressure." On the 30th a shallow low pressure area formed over the north of the Bay, where it remained till the 31st, with only a slight increase of intensity. General light rain fell in all districts during these days, and a light cyclonic circulation prevailed.

Pressure.—Mean pressure for the month has been above the normal in all districts by about ·04 inch in Lower Bengal, Orissa and the west of Bihar, and by rather more than ·02 inch in North Bengal and Assam. The changes from day to day have never been of much importance because of the occurrence of only two depressions which remained very shallow during the short time of their existence. At the beginning of the month there was excess of between ·1 inch and ·15 inch in the north-west of the Bay, Orissa and South-West Bengal, but a steady fall resulted in a general small defect on the 5th. On the 6th a wave of rising pressure was moving across the province from the east, and readings on the 7th were again considerably above the normal, continuing high till the 12th, when the distribution was very nearly normal. From the 13th to the 17th there was either a small defect or a very slight difference from the normal, and till the 24th a small excess. From the 24th to the 30th there was moderate excess, but during the last two days the depression was forming over the north of the Bay and defect prevailed.

Temperature.—Except in Orissa, where temperature has been practically normal, means for the month are below the normal for all districts. In Assam defect is 2·1°, North Bengal 1·6°, North Bihar 1·2°, South Bihar 0·9°, East Bengal 0·7°, South-West Bengal 0·5°, and Chota Nagpur 0·4°. Owing to the cloudy weather which has been more prevalent than usual in East and North Bengal, Assam, and Bihar, the difference is greater in day than in night temperatures. The difference of mean maximum temperature from the normal varies from excess of about half a degree in Orissa to defect of nearly 4° at Rangpur, Mymensingh and Silchar. Night temperatures on an average are almost normal except at a few scattered places, defect being generally less than half a degree. During the previous month lowest temperatures were in the western districts and especially Chota Nagpur, but during July the heavy rainfall has caused cooler weather in the northern and eastern districts.

Rainfall.—The most noticeable circumstance in connection with the rainfall has been the very heavy falls in North Bengal and North Bihar, while in Orissa there is a deficiency of nearly a third of the normal. This has been accounted for above by the pressure arrangement which was very persistent throughout the month. The total average fall in North Bengal is 23·39 inches, giving excess of 9·31 inches, and in North Bihar it is 18·41, with excess of 6·23 inches. In South Bihar and Chota Nagpur excess is between 2·5 and 3 inches, and in South-West and East Bengal the average falls are very nearly normal. In Orissa the fall is 8·41 inches as compared with a normal fall of 12·5 inches. Though not so irregular as during the month of June, there is still greater irregularity shown than is usual during July.

Except in the extreme east, the total falls for the month are below the normal in Lower Bengal, the coast districts of Orissa, and the southern districts of Chota Nagpur including Lohardaga and Singhbhum. Along the coast of Orissa little more and in many cases less than 5 inches have been received. In the other parts of Orissa and the adjacent districts of Chota Nagpur and South-West Bengal, also in part of East Bengal, including the greater part of Jessore and Faridpur, falls are generally between 8 and 10 inches. Over the rest of the southern part of the province falls vary somewhat irregular, from 10 to 15 inches except in the Sunderbuns, Noakhali and Chittagong, where amounts range up to 30 inches. In the north of East Bengal, North Bengal, and North Bihar the normal is almost everywhere exceeded, but by very irregular amounts. In Mymensingh excess varies from 4 to 18 inches, in Kuch Bihar from 18 to 34 inches, and in Jalpaiguri from 12 to 20 inches. In North Bihar excess is nearly 10 inches in Purneah, but diminishes steadily towards the west, where it is small except in the districts near the foot of the hills. In Champaran there is excess of 21, in Sitarampur of 11, and in Bettiah of 8 inches. Along the boundary of North Bengal and Assam falls increase with great rapidity towards the north. Ulipur received 17·36, Sundergunj 22·2, Kurigaon 35·9, Dinhatta 39·65, and Matabhanga 56·68 inches. The heaviest fall reported is 67·27 inches at Buxa, an amount about 20 inches in excess of the normal. In these northern districts falls are almost all from 30 inches upwards except in the Darjeeling Hills, where they are between 20 and 25 inches. Except at the most northern stations in North Bihar falls are generally between 15 and 20 inches. Sitamarhi received 21·66, Motihari 31·92, Bettiah 21·22, and Bagaha 25·53 inches.

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of July in all districts of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-recording stations in each district, due allowance being made for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the weekly and monthly meteorological tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past fifteeen years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfalls of the month at the reporting stations in each district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage, and the fourth column gives the same information in a slightly different form, expressing as a percentage how much the district rainfall varied in excess or in defect from the normal rainfall:—

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inches of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 15th August 1893.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 12TH OF AUGUST 1893.

AT the beginning of the week rainfall was very partial, except in South Bihar, Chota Nagpur and part of East Bengal. Though rain was general in these districts, only a few stations, chiefly in the west of the province, reported falls of any importance. A low pressure area was beginning to develop, and pressure changes were relatively large, as there was a brisk rise in Bihar, North Bengal and Assam, and a fall generally slow over the Bay. The fall continued with greater rapidity in the north-west angle on Monday, the 7th, and the depression became better defined with its centre between False Point and Saugor Island. The cyclonic circulation was almost complete, and gradients were steep over the Bay. The depression moving to the north-west was over Chota Nagpur on Tuesday, and as on that day a brisk rise of pressure had commenced in Burmah and the south-east of the Bay, while there was a brisk fall in Chota Nagpur, gradients were much steeper both over the Bay and over Bengal. This distribution of pressure led to strong winds, especially near the head of the Bay, and to general rainfall, which was not heavy in Lower Bengal, but became very heavy in the northern districts. The wave of rising pressure, which was advancing from the south-east, caused very large changes in the north of the Bay and Lower Bengal on Wednesday, the 9th; and as there were only very small changes in North Bengal and North Bihar, this had the effect of forcing the steep gradients northwards over Bengal, while in the south-east of the Bay the distribution became very uniform. Velocity in the north-west angle of the Bay was then about 40 miles an hour; and as the rising pressure was in some way checked, the gradients remained steeper than usual for several days, and the high winds moderated very gradually.

The full effect of the strong monsoon which had developed in the Bay then became felt in Bengal. The trough of low pressure had been forced close up to the hills by the rapid rise on the 9th, and westerly winds began in all districts. This arrangement has been very frequent during the past few weeks, and as on previous occasions it led to very heavy rain first in East Bengal, but chiefly in North Bengal and North Bihar. A slow to brisk fall of pressure that followed the above-mentioned rapid rise kept readings low in the northern districts, and though there was a tendency to recover at the end of the week, gradients were still much steeper over Bengal than usual. During the last three days of the week there was little change in the south of the Bay, light to moderate westerly winds prevailed with very little rain, and in the north-west angle the wind was gradually moderating, while rainfall had almost entirely ceased in the adjacent districts.

Pressure.—As stated above pressure changes have been comparatively large, leading at first to the formation of the shallow depression in the north-west of the Bay, and then to the very steep gradients over the Bay in the early part of the week and over Bengal during the latter half. Mean pressure for the week differs very little from the normal.

Temperature.—While the depression was forming and the sky was moderately clear, temperature was above the normal in all districts, but after it moved to the north-west, and strong moisture laden winds became general over the province, there was a rapid fall which led to a uniform defect of about 3°, on Wednesday, the 9th. Cool weather then continued till the end of the week. Temperature, however, was beginning to rise in Lower Bengal, and as heavy rain fell daily in the northern districts, defect increased, in some places to 5° or more. Mean defect for the larger divisions varies from 0·°8 in South-West Bengal to 2·°2 in Assam.

Rainfall.—As stated above general rain has fallen except during the first two days in nearly all districts, and again towards the end of the week in Orissa, Chota Nagpur and part of South-West Bengal. The falls during the last three days were unusually heavy in East and North Bengal and North Bihar. This is shown by the average fall in these districts being double the normal. In North Bengal the fall is 6·9 inches as compared with a normal fall of 3·45, in East Bengal 7·81 as compared with 4·09, and in North Bihar 6·42 as compared with 3·13. In South Bihar there is a smaller excess of 1·53 inches, but in the other districts there is a deficiency, very slight in South-West Bengal and only a third of an inch in Orissa and Chota Nagpur.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 12th of August 1893:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

RATES OF EXCHANGE.

No. 3624-A.

Simla, the 18th August 1893.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department.

During the past year and-a-half numerous representations have reached the Government of India from European officers in Government service, bringing to notice the hardship which they have undergone in consequence of the fall in the rate of exchange, and praying for the adoption of measures of relief. The facts which came to the knowledge of the Government of India left no doubt that the distress from which their servants were suffering was widespread and severe; and His Excellency the Governor-General in Council has lost no opportunity of expressing his sympathy with those who have been affected, and of urging upon the Secretary of State the necessity of applying an early and adequate remedy. It was not, however, found possible to deal with the matter while measures regarding the reform of the currency were still under consideration. His Excellency the Governor-General in Council is now able to announce that the Secretary of State has been pleased to accord his sanction to the following scheme:—

To every European and Eurasian Officer of Government, Civil or Military, not domiciled in India (except those whose pay is fixed in sterling and converted into rupees annually at the official adjusting rate) will be granted an allowance, to be designated Exchange Compensation Allowance, sufficient to enable each officer to remit to Europe one-half his salary, subject to a maximum limit of £1,000 a year at a privileged rate. The privileged rate has been fixed until further orders at 1*s.* 6*d.* the rupee. The allowance, which will be admissible whether any remittance is actually made to Europe or not, will be given in the form of a percentage on the officer's salary, varying with the rate of exchange assumed as the market rate for the quarter, and calculated to yield an amount equal to the difference between one-half salary converted at 1*s.* 6*d.* and one-half salary converted at the average market rate. The allowance will be payable month by month along with pay, and under the rules under which pay is drawn; and will be subject in every case to an annual maximum equal to the difference between £1,000 converted at 1*s.* 6*d.*, and the same sum converted at the average market rate.

2. Rules have been framed prescribing the manner in which the percentage for each quarter shall be calculated, and defining the conditions under which the allowance may be drawn, and these are published herewith for general information. The Secretary of State has been pleased to authorize effect being given to the rules from the beginning of the current official year 1893-94, and the allowance will accordingly be granted in respect of all payments of salary which became payable on or after the 1st April 1893. For the first quarter of the present official year, April to June, the percentage has been fixed at 10·81, corresponding to an exchange of 1*s.* 2⅛*d.* to the rupee, this being the actual average rate during that quarter. For the second quarter, July to September 1893, the percentage has been fixed at 7·6, corresponding to an exchange of 1*s.* 3⅜*d.*, that being the actual average market rate from 1st July to the date of the Secretary of State's sanction to the scheme now announced. For future quarters the percentage will be fixed in the manner prescribed in the rules.

3. From the date when these rules come into force, the present system under which family remittances are made through the Government account by military officers and some others will cease, except in cases where this course is inconsistent with the terms of any contract of service. In the case of officers who have made family remittances since the 1st April last, an adjustment will be made when paying them their arrears of Exchange Compensation Allowance. Officers who have made family remittances since 1st April last should refer to their Account Officer before presenting for payment their bills for the arrears from 1st April of the Exchange Compensation Allowances now sanctioned.

4. The Secretary of State has further been pleased to sanction the payment of furlough allowances from the Home Treasury at the same privileged rate of 1*s.* 6*d.* to the rupee. This concession also will take effect from the 1st April last in lieu of the special rate of 1*s.* 4⅛*d.* provisionally sanctioned in the Notification in this Department, No. 823-A., dated the 27th February 1893, published in the Gazette of India of the 4th March 1893.

ORDER.—Ordered that the Resolution be communicated to the several Departments of the Government of India; to all Local Governments and Administrations; to all Heads of Departments subordinate to the Finance Department; to the Comptroller and Auditor-General; and to all Accountants-General and Comptrollers.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

Rules referred to in paragraph 2 of Finance Department Resolution No. 3624-A., of 18*th August* 1893.

EXCHANGE COMPENSATION ALLOWANCE.

1. The allowance admissible under these rules is called Exchange Compensation Allowance. It is granted to European and Eurasian officers of Government not domiciled in India to compensate them for the extra cost of remittance to Europe occasioned by the fall of the value of the rupee below 1*s.* 6*d.*, which is herein called the "privileged rate."

2. The allowance is granted with the view of enabling every European or Eurasian officer of Government not domiciled in India to remit to Europe half his salary at the privileged rate, subject to a maximum limit of £ 1,000 a year.

3. In case of doubt, the Local Government will decide whether any officer is domiciled in India or not so domiciled for the purposes of these rules. But any European or Eurasian officer to whom the rules in Chapter XIII of the Civil Service Regulations apply may be assumed without further proof to be entitled to the allowance admissible under these rules.

4. The allowance is not admissible to any officer whose pay is fixed in sterling and is converted into rupees at the rate of exchange fixed annually for the adjustment of transactions between England and India.

5. The allowance is granted irrespective of whether any remittance is actually made or not.

6. Officers will be enabled to remit half salary at the privileged rate if they receive a percentage on half salary equal to the proportion by which the privileged rate exceeds the market rate of remittance, or half that percentage on the full salary. The allowance is accordingly given in the form of a percentage on the full salary drawn, limited to the amount which would be admissible on a remittance of £ 1,000.

7. The percentage will be calculated for each quarter with reference to the difference between the privileged rate and the rate fixed as the approximate market rate applicable to the quarter—see rule 8. Thus, if the market rate of exchange applicable to any quarter is 1*s.* 4*d.*, the difference between this and the privileged rate is equivalent to a percentage of 12½ on that market rate, and the difference between the cost of remitting £ 1,000 @ 1*s.* 6*d.* (Rs. 13,333⅓) and at 1*s.* 4*d.* (Rs. 15,000) is Rs. 1,666⅔. The allowance payble during the quarter would therefore be granted at 6¼ per cent. on the full salary limited to the maximum of Rs. 1,666-10-8.

8. The market rate applicable to any quarter will be approximately the average of the Calcutta demand rate during the preceding quarter, and will be calculated and notified by the Comptroller-General before the beginning of the quarter.

9. The market rate fixed for any quarter will be applicable to all payments of salary falling due during that quarter. Thus the rate fixed for the quarter, July to September, will apply to salary payable between the 1st July and 30th September,—i.e., ordinarily to the salary for the months of June, July, and August.

10. For the purpose of illustration, a table is appended showing the percentage admissible on full salary and the maximum allowance admissible at the rates which have been fixed as the market rates for the quarters April to June 1893 and July to September 1893, and at some other rates above and below 1*s.* 4*d.*

11. In the case of officers whose emoluments are regulated by the Civil Service Regulations, the allowance is admissible only on "Salary" as defined in Article 47, Civil Service Regulations. In the case of officers whose emoluments are regulated by the Army Regulations, India, it is admissible only on Pay, Indian Allowances, and Staff Pay.

12. The allowance may be drawn regularly with pay in the manner and under the rules under which pay is drawn; and will be charged to the same head as pay, but under a separate detailed head.

The corresponding report for the year 1891-92.

Unlike the two previous years, there was nothing abnormal in the climatic conditions of the year under review, and though the rainfall was slightly above the average, it was well distributed throughout the rainy season.

2. The policy of replacing the red bark trees which yield the cinchona febrifuge, by the ledgeriana and hybrid varieties, which yield quinine, was steadily adhered to. Two hundred thousand trees of the former kind were uprooted and not renewed, and 184,110 seedlings of the latter were put out in the plantation. The number of cinchona plants, including the nursery stock, at the Government plantations on the 1st April 1893 was 4,331,651. The crop of the year amounted to 304,390 lbs. of dry bark, of which 90,170 lbs. were of the kind known as succirubra, or red bark, 118,210 lbs. of the ledgeriana, 78,310 lbs. of hybrid, 15,900 lbs. of verde and morada, and 1,800 lbs. of officinalis. With the exception of 1,280½ lbs. of bark supplied on indent or sold to the public, the whole of this crop was as usual made over to the factory.

3. The outturn of the factory was 5,242 lbs. of sulphate of quinine and 3,481 lbs. of cinchona febrifuge, against 4,586 lbs. and 4,190 lbs. respectively in 1891-92. The proportion of the outturn of quinine to cinchona febrifuge is steadily on the increase every year, and there seems to be little doubt that in course of time the factory will be called upon to produce the former drug exclusively. The following statement compares the issues of the year with those of the preceding year:—

Dr. King explains that the quantity shown in the above statement as issued to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal, during 1892-93 does not take into account 137 lbs. of quinine and 97 lbs. of cinchona febrifuge issued to dispensaries under District and Local Boards. These issues, which are paid for in cash, are, it is stated, included in the gross sales to public officers. Dr. King further explains, with reference to the enquiry made in last year's Resolution, that the medical depôt at Bombay now takes its supply of the drugs from the Nilgiri Factory under the Government of Madras.

4. The revenue derived from the sale of sulphate of quinine, cinchona febrifuge, cinchona bark, and other products of the plantations, reached the sum of Rs. 1,17,767-15-6 against Rs. 1,09,321-12-9 in the previous year :—

The net profit on the working of the estates amounts to Rs. 3,170-14-3, against Rs. 7,962-12-8 in 1891-92. This result may be considered quite sufficient, when it is remembered that in starting the cinchona plantations in this country, the Government, so far from aiming at a profit, desired only to secure for the people without loss to itself a cheap remedy for fever.

5. The scheme for the sale of pice-packets of quinine to the public, chiefly through the medium of the Postal Department, to which reference was made in last year's Resolution, was brought into operation during the year under review, and 475 lbs. were issued, to the Inspector-General of Jails, Bengal, to be made up into packets by convict labour. Dr. King remarks with justifiable satisfaction that "after thirty years of effort the end has now been attained which the Government set before itself when the growth of the medical cinchonas was begun in British India."

5. The thanks of Government are again due to Dr. King and Mr. Gammie for their efficient management of the Department during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. A. BOURDILLON,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATION AND FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1892-93.

No. 27C, dated Royal Botanic Garden, Sibpur, the 14th July 1893.

From—Brigade-Surgeon Lieutenant-Colonel George King, M.B., LL.D., C.I.E., F.R.S., Superintendent, Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta, and of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I have the honour to forward herewith the annual report of the Cinchona Plantations and Factory for the year 1892-93.

Thirty-first Annual Report of the Government Cinchona Plantation and Factory in British Sikkim, being that for the year 1892-93, by Brigade-Surgeon Lieutenant-Colonel G. King, M.B., LL.D., C.I.E., F.R.S., Superintendent of the Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta, and of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal.

1. Weather and general.—The weather for the year under review presented no feature very worthy of remark. The rainfall on the plantation was 131·5 inches, being about 5 inches above the average. The fall was well distributed over the rainy season, and it was on no occasion so excessive within the limits of the cinchona reserve as to cause any landslips. But at the head of the valley, beyond the boundary of the plantation, there was a very heavy downpour on one morning in June, which caused numerous landslips; and the fallen trees brought down by these into the Rungjo stream swept away two of the largest bridges. The health of the population of the cinchona valley was fairly good, and no epidemic disease prevailed during the year.

2. Changes in the Plantation.—During the year, 466,430 cinchona trees of various sorts were uprooted. This is an unusually large number for a single year. Many of them were, however, small and feeble plants which had been spared during the clearings of previous years with the view of giving them a chance of improving a little prior to up-rootal. The resulting bark crop therefore was small compared to the number of trees removed. The uprooted trees consisted of 200,000 red (or febrifuge-producing) barks, and of 266,430 of yellow (or quinine-producing) barks of various sorts. To compensate for these removals, there were planted out, during the year, 180,710 seedlings of yellow barks (C. Ledgeriana) and 3,400 of the sort known as Hybrid. The result of those changes is that, on the 1st April, the plantation contained a grand total of all sorts (including nursery stock) of 4,331,651 plants. No red barks whatever were propagated during the year, and the entire number of this sort now left on the plantation is reduced to a little over a million. This steady diminution of the red barks is in accordance with the policy of increasing only the kinds of trees from which quinine, unmixed with the inferior alkaloids, can be most easily extracted.

3. The year's crop.—This consisted of 304,390 pounds, of which about 90,000 pounds were red bark, collected almost in equal proportions from the Mungpoo and Sittong divisions. The remainder consisted of yellow bark, of which about 67,000 pounds were taken from the new plantation of Rungjung in Bhotan, and the rest from the plantations of Mungpoo and Sittong. The entire crop was, as usual, made over to the factory, with the exception of 1,280½ pounds supplied to the medical depôts and sold to the public.

4. Plantation expenditure.—The total budget allotment for the year was Rs. 67,888. As a matter of convenience the whole of the cost of the European establishment is debited by the Accountant-General to the plantation budget. The result of this is that the cost of production of the bark is unduly increased. As a matter of fact, the time of Messrs. Gammie, senior and junior, is spent as much in the factory as in the plantation, and it would be a fairer distribution

if the expenditure on their salaries were half charged to the plantation and half to the factory. The expenditure debited by the Accountant-General to the plantation (including the Messrs. Gammie's salaries) is as follows:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Salaries of European establishment (including all salaries except that of Dr. King, Superintendent, Botanic Gardens, Calcutta), coolie labour, and office establishment	60,681	0	8
Keep of animals for plantations	900	0	0
Contingencies, including service postage stamps, &c. ...	5,925	2	11
Travelling allowance	298	12	0
Stores from England	845	3	9
Total ...	68,650	3	4

In return for this expenditure, 304,390 pounds of dry bark were taken as a crop for the year.

5. Factory.—The expenditure debited to the factory during the year was Rs. 36,696-12-5. This includes a considerable expenditure on alterations to the factory plant which were undertaken to secure economy of working in future. These are charges which would really be debitable to capital, were there a capital account. But there never has been a capital account for the factory, every charge for machinery and buildings having been hitherto treated as working expenditure and set against the outturn of the factory for the year. There was also an unusually large amount spent on the purchase of a stock of oil which it was necessary to buy in just as the financial year was ending. The bark actually worked up in the factory during the year was 85,580 pounds of red bark, from which 3,481½ pounds of cinchona febrifuge were produced; and 240,666 pounds of yellow bark, from which 5,242¼ pounds of quinine were obtained. A large proportion of the bark thus used was the production of previous years, which was borne on the stock at an average value of annas 3 per pound. The total factory outturn of 8,723 pounds shows a decrease on that of 1891-92 of 53 pounds, and an increase of that of 1890-91 of 682 pounds.

6. Sales of manufactured product.—During the year quinine took the lead, no less than 5,518 pounds 3½ ounces having been disposed of; while of cinchona febrifuge, only 3,647 pounds were issued. The total quantity disposed of, viz., 9,165 pounds 3½ ounces, is the highest of any year since 1882-83; and the notable feature is the increase in the proportion of quinine to cinchona febrifuge. This is of course owing to the recent great diminution in price of quinine. And there appears to be little doubt that the proportion of quinine issued will go on increasing, and that, in a very few years hence, the plantation will be called on to produce that drug exclusively, and in much larger quantity than at present. The quantity issued to the Medical depôt at Calcutta was 1,150 pounds, as against 1,022 pounds supplied during the previous year. The indent for the Meean Meer Depôt was for 1,270 pounds, while during the previous year only 712 pounds were taken. Each of these depôts took 500 pounds of cinchona febrifuge, which, as against the supplies for 1891-92, shows a falling off of no less than 513 pounds for Calcutta and 342 pounds for Meean Meer. The Bombay Depôt indented for no supplies either of quinine or febrifuge. It is understood that Bombay now supplies itself from the cinchona factory of the Madras Government on the Nilgiri Hills. The total issues for the year under review and of those for 1891-92 are as follows:—

In the above statement the total amount shown as issued to dispensaries and Government institutions, on indents signed by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals for Bengal, is 200½ lbs. of cinchona febrifuge. This, however, does not represent the total issues in the Province of Bengal during the year; for besides these issues on indent, 137⅝ lbs. of quinine and 96¾ lbs. of cinchona febrifuge were also issued to dispensaries under local Boards, and were paid for in cash. These latter issues are included in the gross sales to public officers, which are shown in the above table. As it may be of interest to trace the quantities issued to the various dispensaries throughout India during the year, I have thrown the information into a return which forms Appendix I of this report.

7. Stock account.—The amount of dry bark in stock in the factory godowns on the 31st March 1893 was 428,080½ lbs. of all sorts, the bulk of which is quinine-yielding bark, rather less than 40,000 lbs., being red or febrifuge-yielding bark. In addition to these there is a quantity of manufactured product and a supply of chemicals. The stocks at the end of the last year and at the end of 1891-92 are shown in the following table :—

9. The result of the year's working is therefore a surplus of Rs. 3,170-14-3, which, as making money is not the object for which the plantation is maintained, may, I trust, be considered sufficient. As I have explained in previous annual reports, the entire total capital expenditure on the plantation from its beginning has been covered several times over by the profits made during the early years of the manufacture of cinchona febrifuge, and by the savings effected by the substitution in Government hospitals and dispensaries of that drug for quinine, (see Government Resolution, Financial Department, Miscellaneous, dated 26th March 1888). The factory has never had a capital account, as the total expenditure of each year on machinery, as well as on working expenses, has been calculated in the cost price of each year's outturn. Government are therefore in possession of a plantation and factory, the whole cost of which has years ago been refunded to them. Mr. Gammie, who is in charge of the factory, is continuous in his efforts to improve the method of manufacture and to cheapen its cost; and it is hoped that the good effects in these respects of the alterations in the machinery made during the past year may become apparent during the current year.

10. Sale of quinine at post-offices.—The chief event of the year has been the organization of the system by which quinine, made up in doses of five grains, is offered for sale at most of the post-offices within the Province of Bengal. Each dose is made up in a neat closed paper envelope, and is sold for one pice. Each packet carries the royal arms as a guarantee of genuineness, together with brief instructions in the vernacular. To encourage the post-office officials to push the sale of these packets, a small commission is allowed, and considerable facility is offered for replenishing of stocks by post-masters; the parcel-rates for transmission, however, bear rather heavily on the scheme, and I trust some means of lightening them may soon be found. When the scheme was suggested last year, it very soon became obvious that one of the first conditions of success would be to find some means of making up the packets by which adulteration and loss from pilfering and careless weighment might be reduced to a minimum. It was therefore decided by Government to make this matter over to the Jail Department. The quinine is therefore made over from the factory to that department in bulk, and by prison labour it is subdivided into pice packets, 1,400 of which go to each avoirdupois pound. The Jail Department distributes these packets to the post-masters and collects the proceeds of the sales at the various post-offices. A dose of pure quinine is by this means put within the reach of any person within the province who has a pice to buy it with. Thus at last, after thirty years of effort, has the end been attained which the Government set before itself when the growth of the medical cinchonas was begun in British India. That end was thus expressed in an early Government resolution on the subject:—"To put the only medicine that is of any use in the cure of the commonest and most fatal of Indian diseases within the reach of the poorest." Of the provinces usually supplied with quinine from the Mungpoo Factory, Bengal is the only one into which this pice-packet system has as yet been introduced. It is believed that, should the various provinces under the Government of India adopt the system, large demands will be made on the cinchona plantation, and extended planting operations may have to be undertaken. To meet such, Government have, in addition to the land reserved in the neighbourhood of Mungpoo, a reserve on the Bhootan frontier in Engo Valley, in which ground has not yet been broken.

11. Firewood Plantation.—About twenty acres were added to the firewood plantation during the year; and from the older parts of it a considerable number of small trees were taken for building purposes.

12. The sum of Rs. 2,174-10 collected during the year from settlers with the cinchona reserve for rents and grazing dues, was paid into the Darjeeling Treasury as land revenue from Government estates. This sum is, however, not taken credit for in the plantation accounts.

13. I was on furlough in England during seven months of the year under review; and during my absence, Mr. J. A. Gammie, Deputy Superintendent, acted for me. On my return he resumed his ordinary duties. Mr. G. A. Gammie was absent for four months on a botanical collecting tour in the interior of Sikkim, the results of which tour have been communicated to Government in a separate report: for three months Mr. G. Gammie also acted for Mr. Kennedy in charge of the Lloyd Botanic Garden, Darjeeling. The other assistants on the plantation and the clerks in the office worked during the whole year, and conducted their duties to the satisfaction both of Mr. J. Gammie and myself.

REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE SALT MARKET FOR THE FIRST QUARTER OF 1893-94.

No. 706B., dated Calcutta, the 17th August 1893.

From—T. INGLIS, ESQ., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L.P.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

SALT.

HON'BLE D. R. LYALL, C.S.I.

I AM directed by the Board of Revenue to submit the following report on the state of the salt market for the 1st quarter of 1893-94, comprising the months of April, May, and June 1893.

2. The quantity of salt of every description cleared during the quarter under report amounted to 24,33,242 maunds, against 24,22,398 maunds in the previous quarter, and 25,26,086 maunds in the corresponding quarter of the previous year; and the net amount of duty levied thereon was Rs. 56,96,847, against Rs. 56,82,664 in the previous quarter, and Rs. 59,46,708 in the corresponding quarter of the previous year. In all cases fractions are omitted.

3. The quantity of excise salt removed from the golas in Orissa during the quarter under review, and the quantity which remained in store at the close of the quarter, are shown in table I:—

Total ...	2,589 0	7 0
Balance at close of the quarter	32,741 0	243 0

4. The total sale of excise salt during the quarter under review amounted to 2,596 maunds, against 2,408 maunds in the previous quarter, and 17,566 maunds in the corresponding quarter of the previous year. The total amount of excise salt on which duty was paid during the quarter was 2,598 maunds. The large reduction in the sale of this salt since last year is not satisfactory as showing that the salt manufactured on the Chilka Lake is not popular, and further enquiry regarding the cause of the decrease will be made.

5. The subjoined table shows in detail the importations into the port of Calcutta and the total clearances of sea-imported salt during the quarter under review compared with the figures of the corresponding quarters of the previous two years, the ports being grouped in accordance with the classification adopted in last year's annual report:—

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inches of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 22nd August 1893.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 19TH OF AUGUST 1893.

DURING the past week pressure has been steadily above the normal, but by varying amounts, over the province, and the distribution has been much more uniform over the Bay than is usual at this season of the year. The result has been that rainfall has been generally light and scattered, and that the falls at most stations are much below the average. One unimportant interruption to the otherwise settled conditions occurred about the middle of the week, when a shallow depression which appears to have formed in Burma drifted slowly westwards across the north of the Bay, and about the end of the week crossed the Ganjam coast. The influence of this slight disturbance extended over a wide area so far as concerned the wind circulation, but except that showers were somewhat more frequent and heavy in Orissa, Chota Nagpur and some of the south-western districts of Bengal, there was little other change, while over the north of the Bay light northerly and afterwards easterly winds prevailed.

During the two first days of the week pressure was lowest near the Himalayas, and westerly winds were general over the whole province, but on Tuesday, the 15th, a large rise of pressure occurred in the northern districts and a slow fall over the Bay. This led to easterly winds in the eastern districts, and as similar changes, though not so large, continued on the following day, a light cyclonic circulation existed round the low pressure area which was then over the north of the Bay. During the last three days there was little change in the general weather. The sky was moderately cloudy in places, but as a rule there was sunshine with occasional thunderstorms and local rainfall.

Pressure was above the normal except on Monday, the 14th, when lowest readings were in the northern districts, and there was defect of about ·07 inch. The rise on the 15th was more than ·1 inch in these parts, and from that time excess varied between ·05 inch and ·1 inch; but on Saturday, the last day of the week, it exceeded ·1 inch in all districts except Orissa and Chota Nagpur. The distribution was then very uniform, and as isobars lay almost north and south, light easterly winds prevailed. Means for the week are above the normal at all stations, generally by about ·05 inch.

Temperature.—As there has been more sunshine than usual during the week, day temperatures have been above the normal over the greater part of the province. From the 13th to the 16th mean temperature differed very little from the normal, or was slightly below, the cooler weather being in the northern districts, especially in North Bengal and Assam. During the latter half of the week there was excess, practically everywhere, up to about 4° in some places. The means for the larger divisions for the whole week are above the normal, except in North Bengal, where there is defect of about half a degree, and in Assam where defect is nearly 2° Excess is under 1° in East Bengal, Chota Nagpur and North Bihar, and between 1° and 1·5° in Orissa, South-West Bengal and South Bihar.

Rainfall.—As stated above, rainfall has been scattered and frequently light. In North Bengal almost general rain fell in the early part of the week, but during the latter half scattered showers fell there as over the rest of the province. The days when rainfall was most general were Sunday, the 13th, Wednesday, the 16th, and Saturday, the 19th. On all of these days the rain was due in most cases to local thunderstorms which were fairly numerous, and not to prevalence of ordinary monsoon conditions. The average falls for the large divisions vary from 2·4 inches in Bihar to 3·84 inches in East Bengal. These averages are all relatively low.

Defect in North Bengal is 1 inch; in East Bengal and North Bihar between 1 and 1·5 inches; in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and Chota Nagpur between 1·5 and 2 inches, and in South Bihar rather more than 2 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 19th of August 1893:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

2. Constitution of the Police force.—At the close of the year the sanctioned strength of the police force, excluding the Railway Police, was 74 superior officers, and 22,713 subordinate officers and men, being a net increase of seven head constables and 24 town chaukidars, and a net decrease of 107 constables The strength of the Railway Police at the close of the year was two superior officers and 601 subordinate officers and men, against two superior officers and 621 subordinate officers and men at the close of the preceding year.

3. Expenditure of the Department.—The police budget grant for the year was Rs. 43,97,000, and the actual expenditure under each of the different heads, as compared with that of the preceding year, was as follows:—

Serial number.	Heads of Charges.	Actual expenditure for 1891-92.	Actual expenditure for 1892-93.	Increase.	Decrease.
1	2	3	4	5	6
		Rs	Rs	Rs.	Rs.
1	Inspecting agency	1,23,387	1,36,737	13,350	...
2	Pay of District and Assistant Superintendents ...	4,60,133	4,47,145	.....	12,988
3	Pay of executive police and establishment, with good conduct pay and batta allowance	28,33,148	28,67,294	34,146	.....
4	Travelling allowance	92,038	93,303	1,265	...
5	Fixed boat establishment	56,983	55,946	.. .	1,037
6	Special, regular and contract contingencies	5,14,882	5,65,368	50,486	.....
7	Government contribution to the Municipal and Railway Police	1,45,622	1,37,922	.....	7,700
	Total ...	42,26,193	43,03,715	99,247	21,725
	Net increase ...			77,522

There was thus a saving of Rs. 93,285 on the estimate for the year, but an increase of Rs. 77,522 in the actual expenditure over the figures for 1891. This is accounted for mainly by the increased provision for clothing on account of maintenance and free kits, the issue of new breech-loading carbines, and the increase in the pay of constables from Rs. 6 to Rs. 7 per mensem in the districts of Bengal Proper.

4. Working of the Town Police.—The Inspector-General of Police again brings to notice the exceptional difficulties under which the Town Police have to work, and the general unpopularity of town duty. Among other measures that have been taken to increase the efficiency of the force beats have been enlarged, so that two men may do duty on each beat instead of one, the number of rounds officers has been increased, truncheons and bulls-eye lanterns have been supplied to the men, and maps have been prepared showing the limits of beats as well as the streets and lanes included in them. In some towns in the Patna Division a self-checking system of patrols has been introduced, which enables the officer in charge to ascertain whether the rounds visited any particular lane or street during the preceding night. The experiment is reported to have worked well on the whole, especially in Patna City, where 39 burglars or thieves were arrested flagrante delicto by the police on going their rounds. Since the close of the year a proposal to place the police-stations in the Patna City in telephonic communication with each other has been sanctioned by Government. These are all useful reforms. In accordance with the policy recommended by the Lieutenant-Governor in the Resolution on last year's Report, steps are being taken to substitute chaukidars on an adequate salary for constables in towns where the population is peaceful, and where lawlessness arising from religious animosities or other causes is not apprehended. In the municipalities of the Burdwan and Backergunge districts, and in Puri and Jessore, the town police, consisting of a mixed force of constables and chaukidars, are reported to have worked well; on the other hand the working of the force in Khulna was unsatisfactory, and the pay of the chaukidars is said to be insufficient to attract good men. The same complaint of insufficiency of pay is made in Rangpur, Sirajganj, Faridpur, Mymensingh, and Bhagalpur. In Dacca and Narainganj, and in the towns of the Chittagong Division, as well as in Darjeeling and Kurseong, chaukidars are not employed, and the town police are said to have worked well. With the exception of Gaya and Darbhanga, the work of the police in the towns of the Patna Division was satisfactory, but the Inspector-General notices that the town police force in Champaran is numerically insufficient, and that its members are underpaid, and he promises to give the matter his personal attention. On the whole, although much still remains to be done, the Lieutenant-Governor sees no reason to be dissatisfied with the progress made during the year in improving the working of the town police.

5. Street-lighting.—Some progress has been made this year in this respect, and 505 new lamps have been added in the whole province. There are still no lights in the towns of Khulna and Malda, and in four of the municipalities of the Midnapore district. The Inspector-General reports that, in accordance with the suggestion contained in last year's Resolution, a considerable number of small municipalities which are unable to afford street lamps, have either provided or agreed to provide oil for the lanterns of the watch and ward police.

6. Rural Police.—From Statement E appended to the Report, it appears that there are the following chaukidars in the province:—

Under Act VI (B.C.) of 1870	96,787
Under Regulation XX of 1817	47,959
Number of chakran chaukidars, including ghât police ...	24,335
Chaukidars entertained under Sonthal rules in Sonthal Parganas	2,709
Chaukidars in Burdwan paid by villagers	282
Total ...	172,072

The number of chaukidars in Bengal in 1891 was 171,547, of whom 92,100 were under Act VI. By the amending Act I (B.C.) of 1892, which came into force at the close of the year, the definition of village permits the extension of the Act to villages with less than 60 houses, while the minimum rate of the chaukidar's pay has been reduced to Rs. 2. Magistrates are now therefore in a position to take measures for the more complete extension of the provisions of Act VI, and to reduce the number of regulation and chakran chaukidars. The Lieutenant-Governor notices that some progress has been made in this direction, and that efforts have been made to weed out men of disreputable castes or antecedents, and to substitute for them men of better social status. In all districts the arrangements for holding chaukidari parades and eliciting information from chaukidars have been systematised, and District and Assistant Superintendents are reported to have given more attention to this important branch of their work than in former years.

7. In paragraph 9 of last year's Resolution, the Lieutenant-Governor expressed a hope that local officers would be more liberal to chaukidars in the matter of rewards and less indiscriminate in punishments. In the latter respect there has been practically no change, and the Inspector-General draws attention to the want of discretion sometimes shown in prosecuting chaukidars under the Indian Penal Code for such slight offences as absence from parade, &c., for which departmental notice would have sufficed. This is very unsatisfactory, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires that the Inspector-General will admonish officers who are found to offend in this way. There has been a slight increase in the number of chaukidars rewarded, but the figures show that there is still room for improvement. During the year 1,444 chaukidars, or less than 1 per cent. of the force, were rewarded with Rs. 7,644, against 957 rewarded with Rs. 5,505 in 1891. In this respect Bengal compares unfavourably with the North-Western Provinces, in which, in 1891, out of 97,455 chaukidars 10,180 were rewarded with Rs. 22,183. Under the amended law a District Chaukidari Reward Fund has been created, which will enable district officers to adequately reward good work done by the village police.

8. The Inspector-General notices the great disproportion in the number of chaukidars in the Burdwan Division, as compared with other divisions of the Province. Thus, although the population in the Burdwan, Rajshahi, and Presidency Divisions is practically the same, the former maintains 41,703 chaukidars, against less than 17,000 in each of the others. There is but little doubt that the village watch in the Burdwan Division urgently needs reorganizing, and that the numbers are unmanageably large and out of all proportion to its requirements. In Jessore, Tippera, Mymensingh, Faridpur, Chittagong and other districts, and especially those of the Patna Division, the rate of pay is reported to be too small to attract good men, and the chaukidars have in consequence to be recruited from the lower classes of society. No doubt we should get better men for higher pay, but even without an increase of pay a good deal may be done to improve the condition of the chaukidar, by assuring to him the punctual payment of his salary and by taking care that Police constables and higher officers do not abuse their powers by employing him on menial work and other duties not contemplated by law. The Officiating Lieutenant-Governor notices that in the district of Backergunge not only is the village watch said to be the best organized, the most efficient, and the most regularly paid in the Province, but it includes a considerable number of men of good social status. In fact, so popular has the post become, and so keen is the competition for it, that only literate men are now appointed. Such a result reflects credit on Mr. Savage, the District Magistrate, and there is no reason why a similar success should not be attained in many other districts of the Province. The Officiating Lieutenant-Governor is glad to receive the Inspector-General's assurance that the police are beginning to realise that they must not employ chaukidars in their private concerns, or exact from them tasks of a degrading character. The instructions of Government on the subject have been widely circulated, and if the facts as reported from Jessore are correct and common to other districts, it will apparently be necessary to enforce against members of panchayets and influential villagers also the prohibition against employing the chaukidars in their private concerns.

9. Additional Police.—In the Madhubani sub-division of the Darbhanga district, a force of one Sub-Inspector, two head-constables and 20 constables was appointed for one year to maintain peace in certain villages which were in a disturbed state. Additional police have also been appointed in the Dacca and Khulna districts, while the force previously deputed to Backergunge was maintained throughout the year. The additional force of 2 head-constables and 20 constables deputed to mahal Ultagina in the Monghyr district was withdrawn on the 1st September, but had again to be replaced by 1 head-constable and 10 constables, as the place was still in an unsettled and dangerous state. The number of special police rose from 298 in 1891 to 594 in 1892, and of these 248 were employed in the Darbhanga district, and 113 in Backergunge. The number retained for 12 months in these two districts was 71 and 18 respectively.

10. Military Police.—The three bodies of Military Police have rendered useful service to Government during the year. In November a force consisting of 1 subadar, 1 jamadar, 7 havildars, and 75 sepoys from the Dumka Special Reserve was sent to Keonjhur, and a party of the Bhagalpur Military Police, consisting of 1 jamadar, 2 havildars and 30 sepoys, was detailed for similar duty towards the close of the year. In April 1892 a detachment of the Dacca Military Police, consisting of 1 subadar, 8 havildars, and 65 sepoys, was sent to Demagri for a short time on garrison duty. Since the close of the year a scheme for the reconstitution of the Military Police has been sanctioned by Government, and three companies, each consisting of 100 officers and men, will eventually be substituted for the present force.

11. Casualties.—There was a further satisfactory decrease in the number of casualties, and in the percentage of such casualties to the total strength. The following table gives an analysis of the figures for the last three years:—

		1890.	1891	1892.
1.	Retirement on pension or gratuity	464 or 1·9 per cent.	452 or 1·9 per cent.	420 or 1·8 per cent
2.	Resignation	972 „ 4·1 „	760 „ 3·2 „	722 „ 3·1 „
3.	Dismissal	621 „ 2·6 „	588 „ 2·5 „	586 „ 2·5 „
4.	Discharge	180 „ ·7 „	225 „ 9 „	126 „ ·5 „
5.	Desertion	70 „ ·3 „	40 „ ·2 „	51 „ ·2 „
6.	Death	488 „ 2·1 „	517 „ 2·2 „	551 „ 2·4 „
	Total ...	2,798 or 11·7 „	2,582 or 10·9 „	2,455 or 10·5 „

12. Torture by the Police.—The charges of torture by the police were fortunately of no great importance and are few in number. Out of 32 charges only 8 were held to be true, 14 were shown to be false, 7 were dismissed under section 203, Criminal Procedure Code, and 1 under section 253, while 2 were pending at the close of the year. Of the 8 true cases, 6 were against Sub-Inspectors and head constables, but not one of these resulted in the conviction of the accused. In the first of the other two cases, 2 constables were sentenced to six months' imprisonment each for illegal confinement, and in the remaining case from Saran, 2 constables were sentenced to one year's imprisonment each for causing hurt to a villager who had been placed in their charge, and who eventually died from rupture of his spleen. In three out of the 14 cases reported as false, prosecutions under section 211 were instituted, and in one a conviction was obtained.

13. Extortion.—Out of the 92 cases of extortion brought against the police, 22 were entered as true, 21 were declared false, 4 were compounded, and 2 were pending at the close of the year. The remainder were dismissed under section 203, or under sections 253 and 258, Criminal Procedure Code. In 1891 there were only 44 cases enquired into, of which 11 were declared true, 11 false, and 14 were dismissed as not proved. In accordance with the orders of Government, the Inspector-General has given details of all these charges, whether true or false. Dinajpur again heads the list with 42 cases, of which 35 were dismissed under section 203, or sections 253 and 258, Criminal Procedure Code, 4 were compounded and 2 were declared false. Not a single case ended in conviction. The Inspector-General thinks that many of these charges were brought simply with the object of paralysing and retarding police work: whether this is true or not, it is very necessary that every case should be thoroughly enquired into and sifted to the bottom.

14. The number of punishments inflicted on officers and men of the police force during the past three years is shown in the following table:—

Year.	Judicial conviction under Penal Code.			Act V.			Departmental.
	Number.	Percentage of officers.	Percentage of men.	Number.	Percentage of officers.	Percentage of men.	Number.	Percentage of officers.	Percentage of men.
1890	336	1·1	1·5	60	·2	·7	4,828	46·0	16·2
1891	260	·3	1·2	112	·3	·5	4,234	39·2	14·3
1892	245	·7	1·0	120	·1	·5	4,223	41·0	14·0

The Officiating Lieutenant-Governor, while glad to observe this decrease in the number of punishments, which seems to point to an improvement in the general conduct of the force, still thinks that there is room for further improvement. The percentage of departmental punishment is still high, and he trusts that the character of the men recruited into the force will in time lead to its decrease. Out of six prosecutions for embezzlement of Government money or misappropriation of property, in two the accused were judicially punished, and four ended in acquittal, but in three of these, departmental punishments were inflicted. In another case a writer-constable was punished departmentally for misappropriating a process-fee of Re. 1, there not being sufficient evidence for a prosecution. The number of men wearing one or more good-conduct stripes at the close of the year was 8,305 against 8,059 at the close of 1891. Good-conduct allowances amounting to Rs. 18,609-3-6 were disbursed as against Rs. 21,072 in 1891. Special money rewards were paid to 1,034 officers and men for good work done in police cases.

15. Escapes.—The number of escapes of prisoners from police custody fell from 198 in 1891 to 159, and of these 103 were recaptured. There was a remarkable decrease in the number of escapes from the custody of chaukidars, there having been only 4 such cases against 28 in 1891. The explanation given by the Inspector-General is that the repeated failures in prosecutions instituted against chaukidars for permitting escapes has made officers cautious in utilizing them for the custody of prisoners.

16. Inspections.—The head-quarters of every district of Bengal and of thirty sub-divisions were inspected during the year either by the Inspector-General himself, or by one of the Deputy Inspectors-General. Mr. Henry was on tour for four months and 17 days, exclusive of 18 days spent under orders of Government in the North-Western Provinces. Mr. Giles was Deputy Inspector-General throughout the year, and spent 223 days on tour. Mr. Daly was on leave during the greater part of the year, and was only 46 days on tour. Mr. Pratt officiated for him for about seven months, and Mr. Wilcox for three months. These officers were 43 and 38 days on tour respectively. In five districts only, viz., in Cuttack, Patna, Lohardaga, Rajshahi and the 24-Parganas, the amount of inspection work done by District Superintendents of Police was below the required standard. In Lohardaga the District Superintendent of Police suffered from ill-health, and in Cuttack the police-boat, which affords the only means of reaching certain stations, was for some months under repairs. No explanations are forthcoming from the other districts named.

17. Crime.—In reviewing the figures for the year under this head, the Inspector-General notices the extent to which Bengal is under-policed as compared with other provinces. Thus in Bengal, excluding Calcutta and the Chittagong Hill Tracts, the proportion of police to population in 1891 was one policeman to 3,013 persons, as against one to 1,663 in Madras, one to 1,414 in the North-Western Provinces, one to 1,219 in the Central Provinces, and one to 982 in Bombay. These comparisons, however, are less instructive than the comparison of the strength of the police force with the number of cognizable crimes which Mr. Henry makes. The strength of the police force is adjusted not only with reference to the total population, but also to the numbers of the criminal classes. From this point of view the Bengal Police is stronger than the North-Western Provinces and Madras Police, though weaker than the police of the Central Provinces.

The incidence of crime in Bengal, arranged by divisions, is given in the following table:—

Divisions.	Police.	Population.	Cases of cognizable crime, vide columns 4 and 6 of Statement A, Part I. Minus cases refused under 157, C. P. C., and cases under serial No. 57 in that statement. As desired in the Resolution on last year's report, the Inspector-General has excluded from the above statement offences against sanitary laws, as well as cases in which police enquiry was refused under section 157, Criminal Procedure Code.

18. Police tests.—In accordance with the instructions contained in last year's Resolution, the Inspector-General has employed the following three tests only in comparing the working of the police in the different provinces:—

(*a*1) Percentage of cases investigated by the police to cases reported.

(*a*4) Percentage of police cases ending in conviction to cases decided.

(*b*3) Percentage of persons convicted in police cases to persons sent up for trial.

In the table furnished, the figures of crime under classes I—V, and classes I—VI of Statement A, taken together, are shown separately in each case. According to test (*a*4), which is the most important, the percentage in Bengal for 1892 in classes I to V taken together was only 70 against 83 in Madras in 1891, 82 in the Central Provinces, 81 in the North-Western Provinces, and 80 in Bombay. In his report for 1891 the Inspector-General expressed his opinion that the unsatisfactory results in Bengal, as compared with other provinces, were due to the general inefficiency of the village-police, the large area of the police stations, the insufficiency of the investigating staff, and especially to the want of a prosecuting agency. These complaints are admitted to be just, and measures have been taken to afford a remedy. A special Committee was appointed in 1892 to enquire into the whole subject, and the elaborate proposals they submitted for the reorganization of the Police force having been accepted by this Government, are now under the consideration of the Government of India. The experiment of employing Court Sub-Inspectors as prosecutors in Magistrates' Courts has been extended to all districts during the year, and it is confidently expected that the result will prove to be very beneficial. The steps taken by the Legislative and by the Executive Government to improve the status of the village police have already been referred to in this Resolution.

19. Reported crime of the Province.—The following table shows the total number of cognizable and non-cognizable cases reported during the last two years:—

	1891.	1892.	Increase.
Cognizable	128,472	146,185	17,713
Non-cognizable ...	119,072	121,624	2,552
Total ...	247,544	267,809	20,265

The increase in cognizable crime is distributed over all the divisions, but it is noticeably large in the Patna Division, where the number of cognizable cases reported rose from 32,946 in 1891 to 40,035. Prosecutions for public and local nuisances rose from 34,158 in 1891 to 41,288 in 1892, and there was an increase of 9,866 in the number of cognizable cases against property, the chief cause of which was doubtless the prevalence of agricultural distress and the high prices of food. The increase may also be accounted for by the freer use made by the police of the discretion allowed to them to refrain from holding enquiries, which has probably led to fuller reporting, now that the public realise that information given in cases of petty theft or burglary does not necessarily involve a police investigation. It may also be due to some extent, as the Inspector-General suggests, to the better reporting which it is hoped has been secured by the measures adopted to elicit information from chaukidars on parade days. The net increase for the province under cognizable crime, as compared with 1891, is over 13 per cent., and under non-cognizable crime a little over 2 per cent. The variation under the latter head is small and calls for no remark.

20. False cases.—The number of cases declared to be false was 6,253 against 6,631 in 1891, and the percentage to cases reported was 4·2 as compared with 5·8, 5·4 and 5·1 respectively in the three preceding years. The large increase in the number of prosecutions for public and local nuisances, referred to in the preceding paragraph, and the fact that the number of cases in which enquiry was refused, and which are entered as true, has increased by 11,000, vitiates, however, the comparison by percentages. The percentage of prosecutions under section 211, Indian Penal Code, to cases declared false was only 11·9 against 15·4 in 1891, and the percentage of convictions fell from 37·1 to 33·1. The number of cases in which compensation was awarded to the accused person under section 560, Criminal Procedure Code, has fallen from 916 to 805.

21. Reported cases not enquired into.—The number of cases in which enquiry was refused by the police under section 157, Criminal Procedure Code, rose from 7,008 in 1891 to 18,536, and of these over 95 per cent. come under the heads of House-breaking and Theft. The percentage of refusals in cases of house-breaking has risen from 13·4 to 38·2, and of theft from 10·3 to 17·5. In a few instances the increase is attributed to a misunderstanding of the orders of Government, but these orders were fully explained in last year's Resolution, and there can be no excuse for a similar misunderstanding in the future. The fact that in only 478 cases enquiry was ordered by the Magistrate after investigation had been declined by the police would seem to indicate that the discretion exercised by the police in refusing enquiry was generally justified by the facts of the case. The Officiating Lieutenant-Governor fears, however, that in many cases the discretion of the police has been abused. In the Patna Division less than 50 per cent. of burglary cases were investigated, and this percentage fell below 30 in Darbhanga, although 40 per cent. of the cases in this district were accompanied by loss of property. In the Champaran district 50 per cent. of the true cases of burglary are reported to have been accompanied by loss of property, but in the neighbouring district of Saran out of 1,239 true cases property is said to have been taken in 258 only, or about 20 per cent. In Monghyr only 476 out of the 1,824 cases of burglary were enquired into. In Dinajpur out of 1,372 cases of theft, only 593 were investigated. These figures are very surprising and giving rise as they do to the impression that reports of occurrences are frequently manipulated at police-stations in order that enquiries may be refused, establish the necessity of more careful supervision and constant inspection by District Superintendents in order to prevent abuse of this section by subordinate police officers.

22. Results of sessions cases.—The number of cases tried before the Court of Sessions rose from 1,253 in 1891 to 1,326, and of these 900 ended in conviction and 426 in acquittal. The number of persons tried rose from 2,685 to 3,016, of whom 1,668 were convicted and 1,348 were acquitted. There was a falling off in the percentage of convictions in cases from 68·3 to 67·8, but the percentage of persons convicted rose from 54·4 to 55·3. Dinajpur for a second time shows the lowest convictions of any district in the province, the percentage of convictions being only 31·0. In Gaya only 20 persons were convicted against 93 acquitted. Such results are not to be attributed to fortuitous circumstances, or to the personal characteristics of Judge or jury, and can only be explained by the faulty investigation of cases by the police and by the want of care on the part of Magistrates in not thoroughly sifting the evidence before committing the cases for trial—causes which it should be in the power of the local officers to remove.

23. Offences against the State and public tranquillity, Class I.—There was an increase in the number of offences in this class from 2,765 to 2,817. Cases of counterfeit coining rose from 113 to 162, but with the exception of those which occurred in the Dacca Division, they were for the most part unimportant. In Rajshahi one man was sentenced to three years' imprisonment for forging Government currency notes, and in a case in Jessore an accused, in whose possession instruments for the manufacture of counterfeit coin were found, was sentenced to 10 years' transportation. In the only important case that occurred in the Patna Division, the accused was awarded seven years' imprisonment. In the Dacca Division the police are reported to have done excellent work in several cases of importance, notably in a case in Faridpur, where two defendants were sentenced to seven years' imprisonment each, and again in Backergunge, where Sub-Inspector Lolit Kumar Nundi succeeded in breaking up a dangerous confederacy of coiners, and secured the conviction of three, although one was subsequently acquitted by the High Court on the ground of an irregularity in the trial. There was a falling off of five in the number of true cases of rioting as compared with last year. The Dacca Division again heads the list with 466 cases, and it is followed by the Presidency with 335, but it is satisfactory to notice that there has been a decrease of 52 in the former division as compared with 1891. That the great majority of the cases sent up for trial were trivial in their nature is, however, shown by the fact that out of 11,018 persons actually tried for rioting, only 305 appeared before the Court of Sessions. In the Burdwan Division every district shows an increase over last year's figures, but none of the cases were of special importance. There is little fluctuation in the figures under this heading in the Presidency and Rajshahi Divisions, and the cases were for the most part unimportant. In the Dacca Division Backergunge returns the smallest number of rioting cases for any year since 1888, the decrease of 40 cases as compared with last year's figures being probably due to the preventive measures taken, 3,254 persons having been bound down under section 106 or section 107, Criminal Procedure Code. In Faridpur the number of persons bound down to keep the peace was 2,114, and the number of true cases of rioting fell from 134 to 116. Dacca is the only district in the Division which shows an increase over last year's figures, the number of cases having risen from 81 to 111, while the number of persons bound down to keep the peace was 1,102. In the Tippera district, in the Chittagong Division, there was a satisfactory decrease of 45 in the number of riot cases, due, in the Commissioner's opinion, to the greater energy shown in prosecuting persons under sections 106 and 107, Criminal Procedure Code. In the Patna Division fluctuations have been slight. As directed in last year's Resolution, the Inspector-General has given details of cases in which Europeans were concerned, and of these the most important is a case in which the Assistant Manager of the Cheylaha outwork of the Motihari Factory was set upon by a number of villagers and severely beaten. Eight persons were convicted in this case and sentenced to terms of imprisonment, and additional police were quartered on the village. The Inspector-General notices a bad case that occurred in the Bhagalpur district, in which the police had applied in good time to have the parties bound down to keep the peace, but owing to some delay in putting the report before the Magistrate, and in communicating the latter's orders thereon, the riot was committed before any preventive measures could be taken, and one man lost his life. The cases from the Orissa and Chota Nagpur Divisions call for no remark.

24. Class II.—Serious offences against the person.—Cases of this class fell from 4,824 in 1891 to 4,666, the chief fluctuations being a decrease of 94 under "Criminal force to public servants," and of 76 under "Hurt by dangerous weapons." The number of persons sent up for trial was 7,154, of whom 1,259 were tried before the Sessions Court, and the percentage of convictions to persons tried was 45·6 against 46·2 in 1891. There were 351 murders reported against 319 in 1890 and 360 in 1891. The percentage of convictions in murder cases fell from 28·6 to 25·3, but in persons it was 20·7, or practically the same as last year. There were 8 cases of murder by dacoits, and 15 by robbers, against 8 and 16 respectively in 1891. Murders by poison increased by 6 cases, the number being 21, of which 15 were sent up for trial, and in 3 of these only were convictions obtained. Under "Other murders" the Dacca Division heads the list with 86 cases, or over 25 per cent. of the provincial total, and of these no less than 39 occurred in the Backergunge district. The action of the Magistrate in withholding gun licenses is reported to have had a beneficial effect in the Patuakhali sub-division, the number of murders having fallen from 13, most of which were caused by guns, to 2. There was a decrease of 1 in "drugging" cases, the number for the year being 31, of which only 8 ended in conviction.

25. Class III.—Serious offences against property.—The number of cases of this class has risen from 28,288 in 1891 to 33,325. The chief increase occurred under the head "Lurking house trespass or house-breaking," the number of cases of which rose from 26,373 to 31,166, the reason given being the agricultural depression and the consequent rise in the price of food. There was a further remarkable increase of 107 cases of dacoity, the total number of true cases for the year being the largest on record for the last 20 years. The number of true cases in each division in the last six years is shown in the following table:—

	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1892.

The increase is most marked in the Patna and Bhagalpur Divisions, and is due in the former to the 42 cases reported from the Gaya district, and in the latter to the 24 cases from Purnea. The Inspector-General has discussed in his report the probable causes of the recrudescence of this serious offence, and he is of opinion that the great majority of cases are the work of local bad characters, who are more than usually active in seasons of scarcity. He enumerates the remedial measures which have been adopted by him during the year, which include the improvement of the beat system in various thanas, the organization of chaukidari patrols, the encouragement of villagers to assist chaukidars, the issue of a hue and cry circular, the more effective supervision of notorious criminals, the deputing of skilled officers (as in Jessore) to assist in investigating cases, the more liberal grant of rewards to private persons, police officers, and chaukidars, and the remodelling of the Criminal Department of the Inspector-General's office. These measures, the Inspector-General believes, will prove effectual in checking the commission of this serious crime, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that this belief may be fulfilled. It is at any rate some satisfaction to know that the police have met with more than ordinary success in prosecuting cases before the courts, the number of persons convicted during the year being 345 against 195 in 1891, and the percentage of persons convicted to those tried having risen from 21·0 in 1890 and 31·8 in 1891 to 35·1 in 1892. In one important case from the 24-Parganas a formidable gang of dacoits was broken up, a result largely due to Sub-Inspector Mir Jahan Ali, who was commended by the Judge, and received a special reward. In Gaya the outbreak of dacoity was more serious than in any other district in the Province, the number of cases having risen from 14 to 42, and it is to be feared that the outbreak was partly due to preventible causes. Although in the opinion of the District Magistrate these cases were the work of local bad characters, with which the district is said to swarm, yet only 39 persons were successfully prosecuted under the bad livelihood sections in 1891 and 55 in 1890. The want of success on the part of the police in dealing with the outbreak is very marked, and out of 76 persons sent up in 12 out of the 42 cases reported, only 9 were convicted. With such chances in their favour, and looking to the way they have been neglected, it is not surprising that local criminals should feel emboldened to commit crime. The Officiating Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction that orders have recently been issued requiring Inspectors to themselves supervise the investigation of dacoity and other grave cases on the spot, and he hopes that by this means more prompt and thorough investigation of such cases will be secured, and that better results will be obtained as regards detection and successful prosecution in court. His Honour believes that an Inspector who does his share of investigation work will pick up information concerning the subordinate police and the criminal classes, which no amount of scrutiny of registers will give to him. Such local investigation on the part of superior officers is, moreover, the surest means of preventing extortion or other malpractices on the part of inferior police officers. In Sir Antony MacDonnell's opinion it is also very important that District Superintendents and their Assistants should occasionally proceed to the spot without an hour's avoidable delay, and themselves personally conduct the local enquiry. All the advantages to be derived from an Inspector's local investigation are likely to result in an even greater degree when the head of the district police himself takes action, and the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor desires that it may be more distinctly understood by all District Superintendents than it is at present that their duties are not confined to inspection and office work and general supervision only, but that they are expected to take a certain share in the actual investigation and detection of important crime.

26. The number of cases of robbery rose from 172 in 1891 to 197. There were 31 cases of drugging under section 328, Indian Penal Code, but only one of robbery by poison under section 394. In this connection the Inspector-General draws attention to the Resolution of the Government of India of the 20th February 1880, in which the opinion is expressed that such cases should be dealt with under the more serious section, whenever possible. The solitary case under section 394, Indian Penal Code, occurred in the Burdwan Division, and is of some importance, a party of travellers to Juggernath having been drugged and robbed of Rs. 377 by one Govind Brahman, who, however, managed to escape detection. Cases of mischief by fire rose from 423 to 502, and in these 146 persons were sent up for trial, of whom only 26 were convicted.

27. Class IV.—Minor offences against the person.—The number of cases under this class rose from 2,220 to 2,268, and of these 2,202 were cases of wrongful restraint. Judicial results show a slight improvement, the percentage of persons convicted to persons tried being 30·1 against 26·1 in 1891.

28. Class V.—Minor offences against property.—The number of true cases under this class rose from 39,841 in 1891 to 44,870, and if burglaries, which are generally discussed under this head, are included, there was a total increase of 9,763 over last year's figures. Thefts increased by 4,386 and burglaries by 4,793, and although this may be primarily attributed to the pressure following on the high prices of food prevalent throughout the province, it is doubtless to some extent due to the change of practice in not enquiring into petty thefts and attempts at burglary, all of which are now shown as true. For this reason a comparison of judicial results by cases is no test, but as the proportion of persons convicted of offences under this class (including burglary) has risen from 53·1 to 55·8, it may be assumed that greater discrimination was shown by the police in sending up persons for trial. In the Gaya district there was a remarkable increase of 1,228 cases under class V and of 946 cases of lurking house-trespass and house-breaking. None of the cases call for special remark.

29. Class VI.—All other cases.—Under this class there was a net increase of 8,083 cases, which is chiefly accounted for by an increase of 7,129 in prosecutions for nuisances. Cases under the Salt and Customs Laws and under the Arms Act increased by 529 and 55 respectively, and there was also an increase of 755 under "special laws." Prosecutions under the Excise laws fell from 2,866 to 2,747, and of these 2,497 ended in conviction. Although the outbreak of crime was the heaviest that has occurred for many years, there was a decrease of 268 prosecutions for bad livelihood, but on the other hand the number of persons convicted rose from 1,739 to 1,779. The number of cases tried locally fell from 919 to 843. The Inspector-General thinks that more of these prosecutions might with advantage be taken up by Magistrates on the spot, especially in districts in which communication is good. Owing to the necessity of prompt disposal or to pressure of work, or to other causes, this is not always possible, and the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor leaves the question to the discretion of Magistrates, merely drawing attention to the advantages to be derived in such cases from an efficient local enquiry. In Faridpur and Backergunge a large number of bad livelihood cases were tried in the villages of the accused and with marked success. The Officiating Lieutenant-Governor regrets to notice that, although the importance of disposing of these cases promptly has frequently been insisted upon in former years, the returns show that in many districts great delay has been allowed to occur. Thus in Tippera one case lasted 582 days from the date of issue of process, one in Jessore lasted 479 days, one in Dacca 366 days, one in Shahabad 362 days, and one in Khulna 309 days, while several are shown as having lasted over 100 days. No explanation of the delay in these cases has been given, but the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor wishes to impress upon all Magistrates the necessity of seeing that these prosecutions are promptly disposed of, as delay only leads to failure of justice, to the intimidation of witnesses, and to making them reluctant to give evidence. The number of persons shown in the registers as under surveillance at the close of the year was 45,154, but as 11,459 of these were either in jail or untraced, the actual number with which the police had to deal was 33,695.

30. Railway Police work.—The number of cognizable and non-cognizable cases reported during the year was 3,813 against 3,493 in 1891. There was an increase of 355 in cognizable and a small decrease in non-cognizable cases. Out of 3,470 persons sent up for trial, 2,970, or 85·5 per cent., were convicted. None of the cases call for special notice. Including 15 suicides, there were 273 accidents, resulting in the death of 173 persons.

31. Non-cognizable crime.—Non-cognizable offences increased by 2,553, as will be seen from the subjoined table:—

	Number of cases.		Increase.	Decrease.
	1891.	1892.
Class I ...	8,929	8,994	65	...
„ II ...	23	20	...	3
„ III ...	922	823	...	99
„ IV ...	59,083	57,264	...	1,819
„ V ...	9,609	10,015	406	...
„ VI ...	11,779	13,585	1,806	...
Special laws ...	28,726	30,923	2,197	...
Total ...	119,071	121,624	4,474	1,921
		Net increase ...	2,553

The increase in class VI is due to the increase of 1,527 in cases of security for keeping the peace on conviction under section 106, Criminal Procedure Code, the number having risen from 1,738 to 3,265. Process was issued in 74·3 per cent. of all non-cognizable cases, and of the persons summoned 81·1 per cent. appeared before the Court.

32. Remands.—The percentage of remands in police cases sent up for trial is shown in the following table:—

	Percentage of A forms disposed of at first hearing.	Percentage of A forms remanded once.	Percentage of A forms remanded twice.	Percentage of A forms remanded thrice.	Percentage of A forms remanded four times.	Percentage of A forms remanded five times.	Percentage of A forms remanded six times.	Percentage of A forms remanded more than six times.	Pending.

1891 (a)	30·9	22·3	15·2	10·2	6·9	4·5	2·5	4·9	2·6
1892 (b)	37·8	24·5	15·2	9·0	5·1	2·7	1·5	1·7	2·1

(a) Including Chittagong Hill Tracts.
(b) Excluding ditto ditto.

The Officiating Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the improvement noticed in last year's report, which is the result of Sir Charles Elliott's stringent and most salutary orders on the subject, has been maintained during the year under review and is common to all divisions. Nothing can tend more to the efficient administration of justice, than the prompt disposal of cases, and nothing can be more injurious and oppressive to witnesses and all concerned than unnecessary remands. There was a satisfactory increase from 17,956 to 22,111 in the number of cases decided at the first two hearings, while the number of cases remanded six times or more has fallen from 2,528 to 1,147.

33. Reconvictions.—The number of persons against whom previous convictions were proved rose from 3,580 to 4,562, being an increase of 27 per cent. Special attention has been paid to this subject, as statistics show that the past history of many old offenders escapes notice. The register of convictions is now kept in English, and the Inspector-General is devising an improved system of indexing names, which, it is hoped, will facilitate search.

34. Anthropometry.—Further progress has been made during the year in perfecting the anthropometric system which has now been placed on a sound working basis. By improvements effected in the instruments used for measuring, which have been rendered automatic, greater accuracy has been secured; the rules of working have also been revised, a number of officers have been instructed, the system of search for cards has been perfected, and over 6,000 cards containing the measurements and all details of the previous history of the most dangerous criminals in the Province have been classified. Mr. Henry has devoted himself to perfecting the anthropometric scheme with marked zeal and ability. It is true that so far it has not been possible to put the system to any practical test, as it is still only in its infancy, but it promises to be of the greatest value in the future.

35. Criminal Tribes.—The most important criminal tribe in Bengal is that of the Maghya Domes in Bihar, who are now settled in various places in the Saran and Champaran districts under the supervision of Government officers. The settlements are said to be in an unsatisfactory state, attributable, according to the Inspector-General, to the system on which they are worked. Nevertheless, there can be no doubt that a very considerable degree of police supervision is now exercised over the Domes, and that their depredations are restrained to an extent which would be impossible if these settlements did not exist. In deference to the opinion of the local officers, a project to concentrate the Domes in one settlement in the Champaran district was abandoned, but Sir William Hudson's proposal to send a few of these men as pioneers to Burma, with a view to the eventual formation of a Dome colony there, has been sanctioned by Government as an experimental measure.

36. Character of Officers.—Mr. Henry has brought to the special notice of Government the names of the following officers for their good work during the year:—

Mr. Henry also acknowledges the valuable assistance he received from the Deputy Inspectors-General, and especially from Mr. Giles, as well as from Mr. Knyvett, who acted as his Personal Assistant for the last eight months of the year. To Mr. Henry himself the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due for his able and efficient administration of the Department and for the complete and thorough report now submitted.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall column are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inches of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 29th August 1893.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 26TH OF AUGUST 1893.

THE weather during the week just past has been influenced chiefly by a small depression, which appeared in the early part of the week to be crossing Burma from the east. It caused considerable changes of pressure at the stations on the Burma coast, and gave some indication of becoming an important disturbance. But after crossing the east coast of the Bay there was no increase of intensity, and it slowly drifted westward towards Ganjam, which it crossed between the 22nd and 23rd. It led to a fairly complete cyclonic circulation, but there was nothing approaching to rough weather, even on the west coast after it had passed inland. One peculiarity in connection with it was the trough of low pressure which remained along its track across the north of the Bay, a low-pressure area which appeared to have a centre not far from the Orissa coast for some days. The depth was very small, but it served to keep up the cyclonic circulation in the north of the Bay, and over the province for days after the larger depression was shown over the central parts of the country.

The conditions attending the depression during the present week are in many respects similar to those reported as being caused by a slight depression in the previous week. The most important is the comparative absence of rainfall, or speaking more generally, the failure of the depression to lead to disturbed conditions which would have been accompanied by increased precipitation. Under ordinary circumstances a depression such as that which recently crossed the Bay would have developed considerably while over the sea and, have been accompanied by squally weather and heavy rainfall, especially near its centre, but in this case the rainfall was not even general, and on an average, for the districts most under its influence (Orissa, South-West Bengal and Chota Nagpur), it was much under the average. The inference to be drawn from the experience of the past two weeks is that present circumstances are very unfavourable for rainfall, or in other words that the monsoon from the Bay is much weaker than usual. As these conditions when once established, to whatever causes they may be due, are found to remain very persistent, it appears likely that an absence of rainfall will remain a prominent feature in the near future, perhaps for some weeks.

Before the approach of the depression, that is, during the first two days of the week, light southerly winds were blowing in all districts, and settled weather prevailed, the light showers which occurred in places being of little account. After the depression was in the north of the Bay, northerly and afterwards easterly winds became general, and rainfall increased both in amount and extent. The falls were almost general on Wednesday and Thursday, when the centre of lowest pressure was crossing Ganjam and the south of Orissa, but during the latter half of the week there was again only partial rainfall. The light easterly winds continued, temperature was steadily above the normal, and pressure at inland stations underwent only small oscillations, such as are characteristic of settled weather.

Pressure.—The pressure arrangement, which has prevailed with very little modification throughout the week, is as follows:—readings have been above the normal in the northern districts and at times over the whole province, while over the Bay there has been a defect, which increased to rather more than a tenth of an inch while the depression was passing. There was a general brisk or moderate fall during the first two days of the week, followed generally by a slow rise or irregular changes during the remaining days. The mean difference from the normal varies from excess of ·03 inch in the northern districts to defect of ·04 inch in Orissa.

Temperature has been steadily above the normal both by day and night except at a few places where the air was temporarily cooled by local storms. The means for the week are therefore above the normal in all the larger divisions, excess varying from half a degree in Assam to nearly 2° in South-West Bengal.

Rainfall.—As stated above, only local showers, generally light, fell except for two days in the middle of the week, when rainfall was fairly general. The average falls are below the normal in all districts. In South Bihar and Orissa defect is about ·06 inch; in North Bengal 1 inch; in Chota Nagpur and North Bihar between 1 and 1·5 inches; and in Lower Bengal between 1·5 and 2 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 26th of August 1893:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.
